ORRICK DIED IN CITY JAIL

He Was Old and Homeless and There Was No Place Else to Take Him.

RECEIVED THE BEST OF CARE

But He Was Past Medical Aid and His Soul Took Flight Last Night.

WAS BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

No better argument in favor of a hospital in this city could be advanced than the fact that poor old homeless and helpless Tommy Orrick died last night in the city jail simply because there was nowhere else to take him when he became ill yesterday morning.

Orrick has for several years been a well known character about the city, but lately has been homeless, ill and penniless and has been eking out a hand to mouth existence by doing odd chores about the saloons. Yesterday morning Sam Whittenberger gave him his breakfast and advised him to go to the county infirmary. He promised to go and walked into the saloon of Erbstein, where he remained for a short time before going out in the alley.

Shortly after he reached the alley he dropped to the ground and Erbstein and Whittenberger carried him into the wine room of the saloon and a physician was summoned. It did not take the physician long to determine that Orrick's days were numbered and the patrol was called and he was taken to the city hall and made as comfortable as possible in cell No. 1.

The township physician, Dr. Shay, was called and Orrick received the best of medical attention, the township trustees taking care of him and a nurse being with him all the time. He died last night between 6 and 7 o'clock and his death was due to apoplexy. He was buried this afternoon in Spring Grove cemetery.

Orrick was aged 72 years, was born in West Virginia and was raised in Steubenville. He served during the war of the rebellion under Alex McCook in the First Ohio volunteer infantry. Before the war he was steward on the steamboat Arctic, which plied between Pittsburg and New Orleans. In his earlier days when he was prosperous he was one of the best known and well liked men in Steubenville, and while he was old and had no one to care for him, at the time of his death, many people will remember Tom Orrick in his palmy days as their friend and comrade.

THEY DIDN'T FIT.

Edwin Kinney Entered Suit to Recover the Amount He Paid for a Pair of Trousers.

An action was filed in Justice McLane's court yesterday by Edwin Kinney, of West Market street, against C. Livingston.

Kinney purchased a pair of pants at the store and upon trying them on afterward found they did not fit. He returned them to Livingston, but could not get his money back. Hence the action.

The justice issued a summons requiring the clothier to appear in court Saturday at 1 o'clock, at which time the case will be heard.

BROKE HIS ARM.

THE RIDE OF EARL STRAUSS WAS EXPENSIVE.

Boarded a Freight Car at East End and Hit a Switch Lock When He Got Off.

Earl Strauss is suffering with a broken arm the result of a ride on a freight train. Strauss, in company with several other young men, boarded a freight at East End for the purpose of riding to this city. When Thompson's pottery was reached the train was running at a rapid rate of speed, but all the young men except Strauss alighted in safety. He was thrown against a switch lock, breaking his left arm above the elbow.

THREE DEAD MEN

Were Named Yesterday as Trustees of Neville Institute—How the Mistake Occurred.

Yesterday the court reporter gave the names of George Thompson, George Anderson and Milton Ralston as members of the trustees of Neville institute. The gentlemen have been dead several years and the mistake was made by the clerk in the office of the probate judge getting an old list.

The list of trustees is as follows:
W. C. Thompson, W. A. Andrews,
H. J. Abrams, J. H. Smith, jr., W. M. Calhoun and T. H. Fisher. They will probably meet next week to organize.

ADMITTED TO PROBATE.

The Will of the Late Nicholas Geon Was Filed at Lisbon This Morning.

Lisbon, August 2.—(Special.)—The will of the late Nicholas Geon, of East Liverpool, was admitted to probate this morning and Elizabeth Geon was appointed executor with $16,000 bond. Thomas Plunkett, Thomas Collins and John Ryan were chosen to appraise the estate.

The will of Eliza Dibble, late of Lisbon, was filed for probate and the application will be heard on August 7. The entire estate is willed to her aunts, Miss Mary Dibble and Mrs. R. B. Pritchard.

THE DEATH OF THOMAS LLOYD

Deceased Was One of the Most Prominent Residents of the City.

SERVED DURING THE REBELLION

Had Been an Odd Fellow For Fifty Years and Held Responsible Official Positions.

FUNERAL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

In the death of Thomas Lloyd East Liverpool has lost one of her most prominent and best known citizens. He was born in Wellsburg, W. Va., and had he lived until next Sunday would have been 72 years of age.

Mr. Lloyd has been a resident of this city for 20 years, coming here in 1880 from Fairview, W. Va., and has been closely identified with the progress and advancement of the city until a short time ago, when he was attacked with heart disease, which resulted in his death yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Lloyd was a member of the First West Virginia volunteer infantry during the war of the rebellion, serving as first lieutenant until the death of the captain, when he assumed command of the company, and remained in that position until the close of the war, although through some irregularity of the war department he was never commissioned as captain.

Mr. Lloyd was connected with the local branches of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics, having been honored with the highest positions in the gift of the various organization of which he was a member. He joined Iris Lodge, I. O. O. F., Wellsville, in 1850.

Deceased leaves eight children to mourn his death, his wife having died in 1892. They are: G. W. Lloyd, of Punxsutawney, Pa.; W. C. S. Lloyd, New Kensington; Mrs. M. Wells, Charleroi, Pa.; T. A. Lloyd, Wellsville; H. D. Lloyd, Washington, Pa.; Ed. M., of Freeport, Pa., and Mary E. and Nellie, who reside here, and were with the deceased during his last illness.

He was township trustee at the time of his death and had served in that capacity for a number of years. He also held the position of wharfmaster until his recent illness. As an official Mr. Lloyd was of the best and filled the positions given him with honor to himself and a credit to his constituents.

The funeral will be in charge of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, assisted by Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics. Services will be conducted at the home Friday at 2 p. m.

The remains may be viewed at the home, 259 Fourth street, this evening between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock, and tomorrow from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Difference is the Result.

"Cleanliness is akin to godliness." We were forcibly reminded of the quotation this morning as we noted one of our main thoroughfares "before and after." Thank you, Brother Bryan. We shall be glad to see her out often, Alex.

COUNCIL

COUNCIL FIXED DATES FOR COM-PLETING IMPROVEMENTS.

Contractors Will Forfeit $25 Per Day
If They Don't Finish Up
On Time.

After awarding the contracts for paving the streets yesterday afternoon council decided that the contractors must forfeit $25 a day if they did not complete the contracts on time. Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue must be finished by December 1, Robinson street must be finished by September 15 and Kossuth and Pleasant streets must be finished October 1.

It was decided to pave Fourth street to the flint mill, and Rural lane from Jackson street to the east line of the Seanor property. The property owners have signed waivers and asked that the paving be done. A resolution to improve Trentvale street was carried.

There was some talk today that Ryan & Rinehart intended to get out an injunction against the McLaughlins, claiming that their bond was not proper and that their bid was in 12 minutes late.

GRANTED A PENSION.

GOOD FORTUNE OF A FORMER COMPANY E MAN.

Receives Notice That Uncle Sam Will Pay Him the Sum of
$8 Per Month.

Squire Rose today was notified that Harry Farmer, of this city, had been granted a pension of $8 per month, with back pay from January 31, 1899.

Farmer served during the Spanish-American war as a member of Company E, Eighth Ohio volunteer infantry, and accompanied the regiment to Cuba, where he contracted the disease for which he has been granted the pension.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

Harry France Didn't Like the City Jail
And Left It in a Hurry.

Harry France, who was arrested in East End today on a charge of drunk and disorderly, made a claim that he was ill when he arrived at the city jail and he was not locked up. He recovered in a remarkably short time and took French leave, but Chief Thompson recaptured him and he is now in jail safe and sound.

MEHAN DIDN'T WANT TO CASH IN

Said He Was Saving His Money to Bring His Wife Here From Ireland.

HE HAD $40 IN CHANGE

When He Arrived at City Hall
but When He Left He Had Less.

SPECIAL OFFICERS ON TODAY

James Mehan was the only offender yesterday, and he was taken in by Officer Woods and the patrol.

Jimmy said he had saved $45 to bring his wife from Ireland and didn't propose to give up any part of it as a fine. Marshal Thompson had taken his money, $40, and Mehan forbade the authorities taking any part of it, so James was sent back to jail. Acting Mayor McLane promised him a trip to the works if he did not thaw out, but he had changed his mind this morning and paid up.

Mehan said the mayor might throw off a portion of his fine, as he was a cousin of Billy Mehan, of Wellsville, and had only thrown a few bricks, cussed a little and knocked some beer kegs over. He really didn't think he should have been arrested at all. The mayor was firm, however, and after paying his fine he left the balance of his money at city hall for safe keeping.

These men have been assigned to duty with the regular force, and will endeavor to keep the colored population of Wylie avenue and vicinity within bounds.

J. N. ROSE

WILL FILL VACANCY IN TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES.

The Law Makes Provision for Vacancies Which May Occur on the Board.

Owing to the death of Thomas Lloyd there occurs a vacancy on the board of township trustees.

Inquiries at the office of the trustees developed the fact that the law provides that a vacancy of this character shall be filled by the senior justice of the peace, and Squire J. N. Rose will therefore fill out the unexpired term.

CHANGE OF DATE.

Thomas Lloyd was a member of the First West Virginia volunteer infantry during the war of the rebellion, serving as first lieutenant until the death of the captain, when he assumed command of the company, and remained in that position until the close of the war, although through some irregularity of the war department he was never commissioned as captain.

Mr. Lloyd was connected with the local branches of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics, having been honored with the highest positions in the gift of the various organization of which he was a member. He joined Iris Lodge, I. O. O. F., Wellsville, in 1850.

Deceased leaves eight children to mourn his death, his wife having died in 1892. They are: G. W. Lloyd, of Punxsutawney, Pa.; W. C. S. Lloyd, New Kensington; Mrs. M. Wells, Charleroi, Pa.; T. A. Lloyd, Wellsville; H. D. Lloyd, Washington, Pa.; Ed. M., of Freeport, Pa., and Mary E. and Nellie, who reside here, and were with the deceased during his last illness.

He was township trustee at the time of his death and had served in that capacity for a number of years. He also held the position of wharfmaster until his recent illness. As an official Mr. Lloyd was of the best and filled the positions given him with honor to himself and a credit to his constituents.

The funeral will be in charge of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, assisted by Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics. Services will be conducted at the home Friday at 2 p. m.

The remains may be viewed at the home, 259 Fourth street, this evening between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock, and tomorrow from 10 to 11 o'clock.

OUR STREET SWEEPER.

It Was Out Today, And Oh, What a Difference is the Result.

"Cleanliness is akin to godliness." We were forcibly reminded of the quotation this morning as we noted one of our main thoroughfares "before and after." Thank you, Brother Bryan. We shall be glad to see her out often, Alex.

COUNCIL

COUNCIL FIXED DATES FOR COM-PLETING IMPROVEMENTS.

Contractors Will Forfeit $25 Per Day
If They Don't Finish Up
On Time.

After awarding the contracts for paving the streets yesterday afternoon council decided that the contractors must forfeit $25 a day if they did not complete the contracts on time. Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue must be finished by December 1, Robinson street must be finished by September 15 and Kossuth and Pleasant streets must be finished October 1.

It was decided to pave Fourth street to the flint mill, and Rural lane from Jackson street to the east line of the Seanor property. The property owners have signed waivers and asked that the paving be done. A resolution to improve Trentvale street was carried.

There was some talk today that Ryan & Rinehart intended to get out an injunction against the McLaughlins, claiming that their bond was not proper and that their bid was in 12 minutes late.

GRANTED A PENSION.

GOOD FORTUNE OF A FORMER
COMPANY E MAN.

Receives Notice That Uncle Sam Will Pay Him the Sum of
$8 Per Month.

Squire Rose today was notified that Harry Farmer, of this city, had been granted a pension of $8 per month, with back pay from January 31, 1899.

Farmer served during the Spanish-American war as a member of Company E, Eighth Ohio volunteer infantry, and accompanied the regiment to Cuba, where he contracted the disease for which he has been granted the pension.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

And Left It in a Hurry.

Harry France, who was arrested in East End today on a charge of drunk and disorderly, made a claim that he was ill when he arrived at the city jail and he was not locked up. He recovered in a remarkably short time and took French leave, but Chief Thompson recaptured him and he is now in jail safe and sound.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—John Hancock returned from Pittsburg last night.

—David Stanley is in Negley attending a picnic today.

—Mrs. J. A. Goode is spending several weeks at Bedford Springs.

—Mrs. John H. Brown returned home yesterday from a visit at Wheeling.

—Mrs. Edward Baxter left this morning for Akron, where she will visit.

—Mrs. Henry Brunt and Mrs. George Brunt went to Pittsburg this morning.

—J. N. Rose has returned home after a week's vacation at Alliance and Cleveland.

—Walter Stuckrath, of Pittsburg, is in the city visiting Ed Stuckrath, of Lincoln avenue.

MEHAN DIDN'T WANT TO CASH IN

Said He Was Saving His Money to Bring His Wife Here From Ireland.

HE HAD $40 IN CHANGE

When He Arrived at City Hall
but When He Left He Had Less.

SPECIAL OFFICERS ON TODAY

James Mehan was the only offender yesterday, and he was taken in by Officer Woods and the patrol.

Jimmy said he had saved $45 to bring his wife from Ireland and didn't propose to give up any part of it as a fine. Marshal Thompson had taken his money, $40, and Mehan forbade the authorities taking any part of it, so James was sent back to jail. Acting Mayor McLane promised him a trip to the works if he did not thaw out, but he had changed his mind this morning and paid up.

Mehan said the mayor might throw off a portion of his fine, as he was a cousin of Billy Mehan, of Wellsville, and had only thrown a few bricks, cussed a little and knocked some beer kegs over. He really didn't think he should have been arrested at all. The mayor was firm, however, and after paying his fine he left the balance of his money at city hall for safe keeping.

These men have been assigned to duty with the regular force, and will endeavor to keep the colored population of Wylie avenue and vicinity within bounds.

J. N. ROSE

WILL FILL VACANCY IN TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES.

The Law Makes Provision for Vacancies Which May Occur on the Board.

Owing to the death of Thomas Lloyd there occurs a vacancy on the board of township trustees.

Inquiries at the office of the trustees developed the fact that the law provides that a vacancy of this character shall be filled by the senior justice of the peace, and Squire J. N. Rose will therefore fill out the unexpired term.

CHANGE OF DATE.

The Famous Colored Folks Will Be Here on August 15 in Place of the 16th.

Rev. Carson, pastor of the First A. M. E. church of East Liverpool, today notified the News Review that the famous tenor, Geo. T. Simpson; the noted elocutionist, Hallie Z. Brown, and the brilliant pianist and organist, Wm. A. Calhoun, will appear at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Wednesday night, August 15, in place of Thursday night, August 16, as previously announced. Don't fail to hear these world-famous artists.

AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.

The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-titled, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.

We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sideways we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

The Dark Side and the Bright.

In the following illustrations it will be noticed that the photographer has twice caught me while I happened to be holding a famine child in my arms. These pictures, if captioned with due regard for the respective babes would read: The dark and the bright sides of the India famine. For while the child lying gasping in my arms was doomed, the other little one, with the pretty, bright face was saved. One was a famine victim, the other a famine survivor. The one died soon after I laid her gently back on the ground which served for a cot; the other is still living, one of the fortunate orphans supported by the generous readers of this paper—doubtless a happy child who will grow up in the Christian faith to learn how a great paternal government had cared for millions of India's people in time of direst need, how she was rescued from starvation and death by the motherly Pundita Ramabai, and how she owes her very life and enlightenment and happiness to the Christian people of America who contributed money for her upbringing.

A Most Pathetic Incident.

Let me close this paper with a reference to the other illustration herewith, which shows a group of blind women—blindness caused in each case by acute starvation—representing mothers who have lost their children either by death or in the course of that aimless wandering common to a famine-stricken people. These poor, sightless orbs remind me of an incident attending a visit to a poor house. A girl of 13 or 14 prostrated herself, wailing and chattering, at the feet of the native official who was showing me through the camp.

"What does that poor child want?" was asked.

"She wants to leave the camp," replied the fat and sleek Hindu, with a grin. "She has strayed away from her mother, and she says she yearns to meet her once again on earth. But what can I do? If I allow her to leave here she will wander about the desert and starve to death."

Later in the day that poor girl took things in her own hands and crawled out under the matting which served as a fence to enclose the camp. Outside there, at the entrance gate she espied a group of women who were waiting to be admitted to the poor house—the place of last resort. One of these women, the one whose form was most emaciated, worn nearest of all to a skeleton, was stone blind. She was calling and repeating over and over again, in a faint voice, a certain name. The girl who had crawled out under the straw fence recognized the name as her own, but she did not immediately recognize the woman who called her name thus in such pitiable tones. After a closer inspection, however, she suddenly uttered a great cry of joy and flew to the blind and tottering woman and caught her in her own young but emaciated arms. "Mother, mother!" she sobbed.

And the silent hours of that night saw mother and daughter file with others into the poor house. Who can tell whether they will ever emerge again alive?

We have special reference to the work done on the Tanyard run sewer. It was done, the portion we refer to, 30 feet across an alleyway, city property, at the command of our solons. In the interim between the order and the completion of the work designated, the price of brick advanced one hundred per cent. The gentleman doing the work sent in his bill on the basis of this advance, apparently a just and fair proposition, and council turned the same down in cold blood, and will not now even listen to an explanation. The outlook now is that our legislative body will not only cause the city to pay this bill, but a nice little bill of added costs. ## AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.

The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-templed, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.

We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sideways we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

The Dark Side and the Bright.

In the following illustrations it will be noticed that the photographer has twice caught me while I happened to be holding a famine child in my arms. These pictures, if captioned with due regard for the respective babes would read: The dark and the bright sides of the India famine. For while the child lying gasping in my arms was doomed, the other little one, with the pretty, bright face was saved. One was a famine victim, the other a famine survivor. The one died soon after I laid her gently back on the ground which served for a cot; the other is still living, one of the fortunate orphans supported by the generous readers of this paper—doubtless a happy child who will grow up in the Christian faith to learn how a great paternal government had cared for millions of India's people in time of direst need, how she was rescued from starvation and death by the motherly Pundita Ramabai, and how she owes her very life and enlightenment and happiness to the Christian people of America who contributed money for her upbringing.

A Most Pathetic Incident.

Let me close this paper with a reference to the other illustration herewith, which shows a group of blind women—blindness caused in each case by acute starvation—representing mothers who have lost their children either by death or in the course of that aimless wandering common to a famine-stricken people. These poor, sightless orbs remind me of an incident attending a visit to a poor house. A girl of 13 or 14 prostrated herself, wailing and chattering, at the feet of the native official who was showing me through the camp.

"What does that poor child want?" was asked.

"She wants to leave the camp," replied the fat and sleek Hindu, with a grin. "She has strayed away from her mother, and she says she yearns to meet her once again on earth. But what can I do? If I allow her to leave here she will wander about the desert and starve to death."

Later in the day that poor girl took things in her own hands and crawled out under the matting which served as a fence to enclose the camp. Outside there, at the entrance gate she espied a group of women who were waiting to be admitted to the poor house—the place of last resort. One of these women, the one whose form was most emaciated, worn nearest of all to a skeleton, was stone blind. She was calling and repeating over and over again, in a faint voice, a certain name. The girl who had crawled out under the straw fence recognized the name as her own, but she did not immediately recognize the woman who called her name thus in such pitiable tones. After a closer inspection, however, she suddenly uttered a great cry of joy and flew to the blind and tottering woman and caught her in her own young but emaciated arms. "Mother, mother!" she sobbed.

"My child—my little dear at last!" moaned the poor mother. "Now I can die in peace."

And the silent hours of that night saw mother and daughter file with others into the poor house. Who can tell whether they will ever emerge again alive?

Read the experience given below. It may save you many hours of future trouble.

Mr. Charles Smith, of 198 Fourth street, letter carrier, says: "I contracted cold which settled in my kidneys and caused me such severe pains across the small of my back that I could scarcely get around my trip. ## PLAY FAIR.

That is the Way Our City Legislators Should Act on Every Occasion.

[Communicated.]

We have special reference to the work done on the Tanyard run sewer. It was done, the portion we refer to, 30 feet across an alleyway, city property, at the command of our solons. In the interim between the order and the completion of the work designated, the price of brick advanced one hundred per cent. The gentleman doing the work sent in his bill on the basis of this advance, apparently a just and fair proposition, and council turned the same down in cold blood, and will not now even listen to an explanation. The outlook now is that our legislative body will not only cause the city to pay this bill, but a nice little bill of added costs. Certainly, if this statement be true, wisdom and common sense should control.

TRADES COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

The Attendance Was Small but Some Business Was Trans-
acted by the Council

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE

Was Discussed and a Liberal Donation Voted to Be Sent to the Strikers.

NEW DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Trades council met last night in regular session and transacted some business, although the attendance was small.

New delegates were seated from
the painters' and decorators' union in the person of W. S. Sallade and E. M.
Crass; from kilnmen's local No. 9,
Claude Smith, and the plumbers' sent
Charles Zange.

Labor day committee reported progress, and under the head of reports of delegates George Hale, of the street railway men's union, reported that the St. Louis strike was still on. The delegate stated that the St. Louis Transit company some time ago had agreed to settle with the men, granting all their demands, but no sooner
had the strike been declared off and
other union organizations been notified of the fact, than the company
refused to deal with the men under any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states
that the transit company, being aware that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than ever and would win.

After the report had been made the council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli
Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West
Thirty-fifth street and more than 200
men and women were taken prisoners.
It was one of the biggest raids ever
made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and
the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in whose name the Tivoli's license stands,
and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them
if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit
Made to Him by Governor Nash
and Others

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President Mc-Kinley, accompanied by Secretary Cor-
telyou, departed for Washing in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman
Dick headed a delegation of 100 state
officials, congressmen and candidates
who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station
with a carriage and took them directly to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social.
President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking
or introduction. Indeed introductions were unnecessary, for he knew nearly
every one of the visitors personally.
The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors
then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections
are being held in this state today. Hon.
M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought
and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state.
The Aycock ticket will be elected and
the amendment be adopted by the large-
est majorities ever given in this state
since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part of the Democrats toward the negro.
We simply want him to know, and in-end he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use
him to ride into office, would let him alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question
in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Cassar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Ousen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker
from Texas, tried to address a crowd
of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order. Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J.
Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tramger, of Columbus;
Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county;
and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be it Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled,
That we heartily reaffirm the platform of principles adopted last month at Kansas
City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson,
and we unite in saying to the Kansas City convention, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and blessings of government in this republic
cannot reasonably object to bearing their
just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly-regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted cession to Great Britain of about 2,000
square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land,
if any, has lately been given away to unworthy imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all
of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican administration responsible for the cruel
war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of gallant soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure and untold murder,
misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands
of this administration.

ALLIANCE, OHIO.

eral I. R. Sherry; Judge Allen Smalley and Hon. H. H. McFadden, Democratic candidate for secretary of state. Last evening, at the Lyceum theater, ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, addressed a fair-sized audience in reply to the address of Governor Theodore Roosevelt, recently delivered at St. Paul. Local discord has interfered with the success of the meeting somewhat.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—
Sensational Evidence by Golden's
Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former Secretary of State Caleb Powers concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination.

Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony the defense hopes to contradict, caused something of a sensation on cross-examination by admitting that he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000. It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

GERMANY WOULD HASTEN.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows
Any Blame for Delay of the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the procrastination of the powers in the selection of a commander for the allied forces on their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be desired."

Bids Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers, three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each, and the other three not more than $4,200,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel, with penalties of $500 per day for each day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day. For deficiency of speed not below 20 knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000 for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

A wedding ring should fit the finger. If it is too large, it is a sign of shallowness of purpose; if too tight, it suggests that the union pinches some how. A perfect fitting ring is symbolic of a perfect harmonious union.

TRADES COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

The Attendance Was Small but
Some Business Was Trans-
acted by the Council

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE

Was Discussed and a Liberal Donation Voted to Be Sent to the Strikers.

NEW DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Trades council met last night in regular session and transacted some business, although the attendance was small.

New delegates were seated from
the painters' and decorators' union in
the person of W. S. Sallade and E. M.
Crass; from kilnmen's local No. 9,
Claude Smith, and the plumbers' sent
Charles Zange.

Labor day committee reported progress, and under the head of reports of delegates George Hale, of the street
railway men's union, reported that the St. Louis strike was still on. The delegate stated that the St. Louis Transit company some time ago had
agreed to settle with the men, granting all their demands, but no sooner
had the strike been declared off and
other union organizations been notified of the fact, than the company
refused to deal with the men under any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states
that the transit company, being aware
that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than
ever and would win.

After the report had been made the
council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli
Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West
Thirty-fifth street and more than 200
men and women were taken prisoners.
It was one of the biggest raids ever
made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and
the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a
body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living
at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in
whose name the Tivoli's license stands,
and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them
if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit
Made to Him by Governor Nash
and Others.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President Mc-Kinley, accompanied by Secretary Cor-
telyou, departed for Washington in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman
Dick headed a delegation of 100 state
officials, congressmen and candidates
who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station
with a carriage and took them directly
to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social.
President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking
or introduction. Indeed introductions
were unnecessary, for he knew nearly
every one of the visitors personally.
The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors
then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by
an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections
are being held in this state today. Hon.
M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last
night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought
and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state.
The Aycock ticket will be elected and
the amendment be adopted by the largest majorities ever given in this state
since the war, and we will have a
large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part
of the Democrats toward the negro.
We simply want him to know, and in-
end he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use
him to ride into office, would let him
alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question
in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Cas-
sar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which
several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Olsen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally
of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker
from Texas, tried to address a crowd
of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order.
Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J.
Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic
clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiegert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tramger, of Columbus;
Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county;
and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be It Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled,
That we heartily reaffirm the platform of
principles adopted last month at Kansas
City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national
ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson,
and we unite in saying to the Kansas City
convention, "Well done, good and faithful
servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and
blessings of government in this republic
cannot reasonably object to bearing their
just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly
regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted
cession to Great Britain of about 2,000
square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land,
if any, has lately been given away to favored imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general
government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all
of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican
administration responsible for the cruel
war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of galat soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure, and untold murder,
misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos since the greedy hands of these filibuster statesmen have left

Chicago and other western points tomorrow.

Ed Cole left Tuesday night for Beer Falls to join his company of Pennsylvania militia, which will leave today to go in camp at Mt. Gretna two weeks.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections are being held in this state today. Hon. M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state. The Aycock ticket will be elected and the amendment be adopted by the largest majorities ever given in this state since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part of the Democrats toward the negro. We simply want him to know, and intend he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use him to ride into office, would let him alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Caesar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Ouse, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker from Texas, tried to address a crowd of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order. Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden. Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J. Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tramger, of Columbus; Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county; and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be it Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled, That we heartily reaffirm the platform of principles adopted last month at Kansas City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national tied headed by Bryan and Stevenson, and we unite in saying to the Kansas City convention, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and blessings of government in this republic cannot reasonably object to bearing their just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted cession to Great Britain of about 2,000 square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land, if any, has lately been given away to favored imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican administration responsible for the cruel war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of gallant soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure, and untold murder, misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands of the administration.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—Sensational Evidence by Golden's Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former Secretary of State Caleb Powers concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination. Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony the defense hopes to contradict, caused something of a sensation on cross-examination by admitting that he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000. It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

GERMANY WOULD HASTEN.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows Any Blame for Delay of the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the procrastination of the powers in the selection of a commander for the allied forces on their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be desired."

Eids Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers, three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each, and the other three not more than $4,200,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel, with penalties of $300 per day for each day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day. For deficiency of speed not below 20 knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000 for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

A wedding ring should fit the finger. If it is too large, it is a sign of shallowness of purpose; if too tight, it suggests that the union pinches somehow. A perfect fitting ring is symbolic of a perfect harmonious union.

ANARCHY.

The home of anarchy is in hades, and edicts of assassination are issued from that point.

NEW PAPER.

Rumor has it that a first-class daily paper will materialize in the city of Canton, Ohio, in a short time. The project is said to be backed by ample means, with clever and brainy journalists in control, men of honor, position and principle.

OHIO.

Ohio will roll up a good majority for McKinley Republicanism, prosperity and patriotism.

BRYAN'S HOME.

And now it is asserted that McKinley will carry Bryan's own state. That would be the unkindest cut of all.

TO THE FRONT.

Improvement seems to be the order of the day in East Liverpool. Paving and macadamizing will be pushed to the limit and contractors will be kept busy.

PENNSYLVANIA.

It is anticipated that the Republican majority in Pennsylvania this fall will be so great that the Democratic leaders will agree to make the matter unanimous.

DO YOU?

Do you patronize the saloon. Don't answer hastily. You might make a mistake in a hasty decision. Consider the matter carefully and then answer and then act.

GOD HELP THEM.

Read Louis Klopsch's articles about India. The situation is an awful one. God will help them. And he will use human instrumentalities. Do you desire to be an instrument in the Master's hands for the accomplishment of His purposes? Now is your golden opportunity.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS.

The man who takes advantage of his position in council to advance his personal interest at the expense of his constituency is unfit for any office at the hands of the people, and simply takes rank with the man who slyly inserts his hand in your pocket and captures your wallet.

BE CAREFUL.

The very best citizens and most astute and brainy business men of East Liverpool should be in our city council. The era of improvement demands it. East Liverpool is destined to grow and expand. Every property holder and taxpayer is interested. Get on your thinking cap. Seek your men for the legislative body and insist that they shall serve.

THE RED CROSS.

If it be true that China has refused to recognize the Red Cross society, and that her officials purpose cutting loose from all rules which govern civilized warfare, then the Flowery Kingdom deserves all the bad fortune which may follow the invasion of her dominion by the allied forces, and the onward march of civilization and progress will result in stamping China as a back number.

VERY ROSEY.

Very rosy is the outlook for an overwhelming Republican success in the coming presidential contest. This is not merely visionary nor yet guess work, but is the result of a careful canvass of the situation by the best posted men politically in the country. The outlook is that Mr. Billie Jennings Bryan will disappear from political history immediately after the fall election returns have been bulletined.

COMRADE THOMAS LLOYD.

Comrade Thomas Lloyd has answered the last roll call on this earth and has reported to the Great Commander. God grant that he may have an inheritance in the land of the blessed, in "the house not made with hands." Those who knew Thomas Lloyd best, and who associated with him in camp and bivouac, state that he was a tried and true comrade and a gallant soldier. We had the honor of being associated with him in General Lyon Post of the G. A. R., and ever found him genial, courteous and companionable. East Liverpool has lost a good citizen. God comfort his loved ones.

OUR HOME MERCHANTS.

If you are anxious that East Liverpool shall bloom and blossom like the rose, then do your part in patronizing your home merchants and business men. We have splendid business houses of every character, with goods inferior to none and prices fair and reasonable. Patronize home merchants.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

When a man (?) subscribes a certain sum for church purposes, and then deliberately and premeditatedly fails to honor his signature, simply because he knows the head of that earthly church is a messenger of peace and will not resort to law to enforce the claim, the subscriber is just a little bit meaner than the boss of all evil expects him to be. Respectfully referred to the fellow who calls himself a newspaper man and a journalist.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

This connection with East End will make a delightful drive when the avenue is improved and a first-class roadway is constructed. Bike riders will also have cause for rejoicing, as they can then take a spin to our handsome suburb in safety, and take in the beauty of a rapid rush over Columbian park race course. The view from upper Pennsylvania avenue is a superb one, and delights every visitor to our city. Push Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.

The Saloon is Bearing a Rich Fruitage of Sin, Crime and Shame.

The other evening there was seen a sad sight on Franklin street—a poor, miserable drunken woman, seated in the gutter and making maudlin speeches for the edification of passers by.

Last night there came to East Liverpool on the 7:08 train from Pittsburg, a respectably dressed woman of about 45 or 50 years of age. She was so drunk that the conductor was compelled; on several occasions, to awaken her and keep her in presentable condition, so that she might alight when reaching East Liverpool. Her whisky laden breath poisoned the atmosphere, disgusting sober and decent passengers. When the conductor would arouse her, she would curse herself roundly for being such a fool. When last seen she was making her way in the direction of the freight depot. Truly, East Liverpool is reaping a rare harvest from the seed planted in the open saloon.

COSY CASCADE PARK.

Here Speaks a Gentleman Who Has Taken in This Delightful Spot.

"Have I visited Cascade Park? Indeed I have. It is a delightful place, beautifully located and with first-class accommodations. The dancing platform is a daisy, the water the very best and the surroundings all that can be desired. Visitors receive the most courteous attention. I note that a grand jubilee is to be held there on Tuesday, August 14, and I intend taking the trip in, accompanied by a number of my friends and acquaintances. I understand that East Liverpool will be well represented, as an excursion train will be run, and the round trip will be quite reasonable."

TWO TIGHT CORNERS.

EXCITING CHAPTERS IN THE LIFE OF A POLICE CAPTAIN.

A Hard Struggle For Life With a Stalwart Murderer and a Narrow Escape From Death at the Hands of an Armed Maniac.

"Yes, we have to deal with some queer people and some dangerous people," said a police captain. "and I must say, but not boastfully, that we now and then have to use judgment that is at once quick and reliable. I remember several years ago we had a highwayman in the station house who had shot a man and robbed him. He was a dangerous criminal and a mighty powerful man, and he was in a good position to go down for life or be executed, for his victim was at the point of death. One night he asked that I be sent to his cell. I had arrested him and had tried to get a confession from him, but all my efforts had been vain. He had taken a violent dislike to me, and he had laughed at all my endeavors. The deduction I made when I heard he wished to see me was that he had changed his mind and intended to confess, so I went to the cellroom and talked with him.

"'Captain,' said he in a confiding way, 'I want you to come in here and sit down. This secret is making a wreck of me, and I want to tell you everything.'

"He seemed quite penitent, and without any hesitation I opened the cell door and sat down on the bench beside him.

"'Is Mr. — going to die?' was his first question.

"'The doctor says he cannot live,' I replied.

"'Then the chances for my going to the chair are better than good?' asked he.

"I replied that they were. The prisoner lapsed apparently into deep meditation, and while the spell was upon him he paced up and down the cell. Suddenly he slammed the door of the cell, placed himself before me and said in a rather fearsome voice:

"'I've finished one, and if I do two I can get nothing worse than the chair.'

"Saying which, he leaped at me, leading out a powerful blow as he did so. I was, of course, up and ready for him and had a billy in my hand. He had nothing but his big fists, feet and teeth, any of which he was ready and anxious to use, but he was twice a match for me even up. I don't know how I did it. If he had got the best of me just for a second, I would have been pounded to death; there is no doubt of that. I rapped him on the head time and time again with my billy, felt his blood flying over me, heard him snarl and also felt the imprint of his powerful fists. It took me five minutes to lay him out, and I must say that I never spent five busier minutes in my life. Oh, he's in prison now. He's doing 20 years.

"I remember another little experience I had that is not easy to forget. I was sitting in my private office one afternoon when a well built, stylishly clad young man entered, bowed pleasantly and sat down on the edge of the sofa.

"'I never was down in this part of the city before,' he said, 'and, being here, I thought I'd stop in and visit with you.'

"'That's right,' I rejoined. 'I'm always glad to receive callers.'

"I looked closely at the man. I couldn't place him at all. It seemed that I had seen him some place too. He was about 30 years old, was stalwart and had an attractive face that bore slight traces of dissipation.

"'Beg pardon, my friend,' said I, 'but I don't just place you. I know we've met, but where?'

"'No, we haven't met before. I never saw you before today in my life. I'm from Baltimore. I've heard of you a lot of times.'

The dialogue lagged for a few moments, and in that time I scrutinized the stranger. He mystified me in a small degree, and I was interested in him. He broke the silence:

"Say, captain, I've got something very important to see you about. I'll just close this door, and it's just as well that no one knows what we do or say. Now, I wish first to impress you with the importance of this meeting. It is the most momentous occasion of my life, and on its success or failure depends my future. Captain (the stranger leaned over and whispered in my ear), I'm going to cut your throat!"

"I was sitting with my profile to the stranger, and he was leaning toward me. Casting my eyes sidewise, I saw that he held an opened razor in his right hand. I did not move immediately.

"'So you're going to cut my throat?' I said, quietly turning part way around.

"'Yes, captain. I have been commanded by God to do so. I'm sorry, but it must be done. Get ready.'

"'That's all right, my friend. I'm perfectly willing you shall carry out your mission; but, to tell the truth, I hate to get blood all over my furniture here. It wouldn't be nice to dirty up the office, would it? Suppose we go in the back room?'

"'That'll do. Come on,' rejoined the maniac quickly.

"I got up. The maniac's back was toward me. With one bound I had my arms about his waist and his arms pinned to his side. I then called for help, and two officers rushed into my office. It took four big men to put that maniac in a cell. He's in an asylum now."—Buffalo Express.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM.

This Man Knew a Steamboat When He Saw One.

The agent of one of the ocean steamship lines, says the Chicago Tribune, told the following story of a St. Louis man who got into New York the day after the maiden arrival of a great liner:

After gazing at the vessel from the pier the St. Louisan said to the man at the gangplank:

"'Purty good sized steamboat.'

"'She's a liner, ocean liner,' was the lofty reply.

"'She's purty high up, ain't she?'

"'Ocean liners have to be. But when she is under way she doesn't look so high.'

"'Her chimneys ain't very high, though.'

"'You mean her funnels. No; they never make them high for liners.'

"'Hinges on 'em?'

"'Never heard of hinges on a funnel.'

"'How does she get under the bridge?'

"'What bridge?'

"'Why, any bridge. Steamboats out our way have hinges on their chimneys, and when they come to the bridges over the river they lower the chimneys, and she scoots under like she was greased.'

The man at the gangplank observed the St. Louis man with lofty indifference.

"'She ain't got any wheelhouses on her sides nor none at her stern,' remarked the St. Louis man after he had made further inspection.

"'Liners have propellers,' said the man at the gangplank, and his nose turned up visibly.

"'Well, I'll bet she can't run. It takes two wheels and a bow like an arrow-head and a scant hold to give a steamboat speed, sonny, and don't you forget it. If this steamboat was to get into the Mississippi, she'd go hard aground first clip.'

"'I have told you this is not a steamboat.'

"'Shucks! You can't gimme that. I saw a picter of her in one of our newspapers before I left home, and the printin under it said 'steamboat.' Do you think a St. Louis editor don't know a steamboat when he sees one? You're not on to your job yet.'

AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.

The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-templed, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.

We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sidewise we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

The Dark Side and the Bright.

In the following illustrations it will be noticed that the photographer has twice caught me while I happened to be holding a famine child in my arms. These pictures, if captioned with due regard for the respective babes would read: The dark and the bright sides of the India famine. For while the child lying gasping in my arms was doomed, the other little one, with the pretty, bright face was saved. One was a famine victim, the other a famine survivor. The one died soon after I laid her gently back on the ground which served for a cot; the other is still living, one of the fortunate orphans supported by the generous readers of this paper—doubtless a happy child who will grow up in the Christian faith to learn how a great paternal government had cared for millions of India's people in time of direst need, how she was rescued from starvation and death by the motherly Pundita Ramabai, and how she owes her very life and enlightenment and happiness to the Christian people of America who contributed money for her upbringing.

A Most Pathetic Incident.

Let me close this paper with a reference to the other illustration herewith, which shows a group of blind women—blindness caused in each case by acute starvation—representing mothers who have lost their children either by death or in the course of that aimless wandering common to a famine-stricken people. These poor, sightless orbs remind me of an incident attending a visit to a poor house. A girl of 13 or 14 prostrated herself, wailing and chattering, at the feet of the native official who was showing me through the camp.

"What does that poor child want?" was asked.

"She wants to leave the camp," replied the fat and sleek Hindu, with a grin. "She has strayed away from her mother, and she says she yearns to meet her once again on earth. But what can I do? If I allow her to leave here she will wander about the desert and starve to death."

Later in the day that poor girl took things in her own hands and crawled out under the matting which served as a fence to enclose the camp. Outside there, at the entrance gate she espied a group of women who were waiting to be admitted to the poor house—the place of last resort. One of these women, the one whose form was most emaciated, worn nearest of all to a skeleton, was stone blind. She was calling and repeating over and over again, in a faint voice, a certain name. The girl who had crawled out under the straw fence recognized the name as her own, but she did not immediately recognize the woman who called her name thus in such pitiable tones. After a closer inspection, however, she suddenly uttered a great cry of joy and flew to the blind and tottering woman and caught her in her own young but emaciated arms. "Mother, mother!" she sobbed.

And the silent hours of that night saw mother and daughter file with others into the poor house. Who can tell whether they will ever emerge again alive?

[Communicated.]

We have special reference to the work done on the Tanyard run sewer. It was done, the portion we refer to, 30 feet across an alleyway, city property, at the command of our solons. In the interim between the order and the completion of the work designated, the price of brick advanced one hundred per cent. The gentleman doing the work sent in his bill on the basis of this advance, apparently a just and fair proposition, and council turned the same down in cold blood, and will not now even listen to an explanation. The outlook now is that our legislative body will not only cause the city to pay this bill, but a nice little bill of added costs. Certainly, if this statement be true, wisdom and common sense should control.

AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.

The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-templed, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.

We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sideways we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

THE JIGGERMEN HAVE DECIDED

That They Will Not Be Shoved
Back Into the Brotherhood
of Operative Potters.

STATE OF AFFAIRS AT TRENTON

President Hughes and Secretary
Duffy Refusing to Talk on the Probability of

ENFORCING SCALE IN TRENTON

The Trenton True American of yesterday has the following to say of the pottery situation in that city:

"The resolution adopted at the meeting of the Manufacturing Potters' association held Monday afternoon, giving the executive board of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters permission to measure kilns in the local plant, providing they can give assurance that the wage scale adopted at the Pittsburgh conference shall be put in effect here, has had the effect of a bomb shell on the plans of the executive committee.

"It was their intention, first to settle the differences existing between the kilnmen and the manufacturers, before taking up the scale problem.

"The clause set forth in the resolution respecting the installation of the new scale here is looked upon as an almost impossible task.

"In order to do this it will be necessary for the Brotherhood to get the belligerent jiggermen into line, and as they have broken away from the union and formed a branch of their own, it seems that the task set out by the manufacturers is almost an impossible one.

"It is said that if the executive board could only prevail upon the potters to accept the scale it would make a uniform rate of wages for all.

"The board has as yet done nothing toward taking any action on the subject.

"President Hughes when seen by a True American reported yesterday afternoon declined to talk on the subject. He said: 'I have nothing whatever to say regarding the action of the manufacturers, and I will not express my views until the executive board has a meeting.

"No official call has yet been issued, but I think a meeting will probably be held some time tomorrow, when we will know better how we stand.'

"Secretary Duffy was also seen, but he, too, declined to talk on the subject.

"Messrs. Hughes and Duffy spent yesterday visiting a number of the potteries about the city.

"The jiggermen are as determined as ever not to accept the new scale, and they say that nothing can induce them to go back into the ranks of the Brotherhood.

"One prominent member of the jiggermen was seen yesterday afternoon, and he was very emphatic in his denunciation of the action of the manufacturers in trying to enforce the new scale on the local jiggermen.

"He said: 'When we accepted the scale adopted by the Pittsburgh conference we did it with all fairness, and as we believed it would greatly improve the pottery condition in this city.

"The prices set forth in the new scale looked very bright on paper, but when we put the scale into operation we found that instead of bettering our condition it only made it worse.

"According to the price list in the new scale we cup makers would receive a reduction of 27 1-3 per cent, and the plate and saucer makers would be reduced from 12 1/2 to 17 per cent on plain edged ware.

"The turners are the only hands which would receive an increase and they would only receive from one-half to three-quarter per cent on the dozen.

"The potters in the west were very much surprised when they heard of this reduction, as it had greatly increased the wages there.

"The cause of this reduction can only be attributed to our facilities which are inferior to theirs.

"If we had their facilities then it would improve our condition, as it did theirs.

"As soon as we found out that the new price list was not benefiting us we discarded it.

"When we made known this fact to the Brotherhood, instead of investigating the matter, they denounced us and upheld the potters in the west.

"We withdrew from the Brotherhood and set up an independent organization of our own, and it is my belief that under no condition will the members return.

"The resolution of the manufacturers compelling the executive board to enforce the scale on the local jiggermen is absurd.

"We are not going to accept a scale that is not to our benefit.

"The manufacturers are the ones responsible for all the trouble.

"They know that their facilities here are inferior to those of the west, and should we accept the scale under those conditions the manufacturers would be the persons to benefit by it.

"As soon as the Trenton manufacturers install in their plants facilities equal to those in the west they will experience no difficulty in having us accept the new scale."

A Large Picnic.

Judging from the crowd at Rock Springs today the Green Street Baptist church of Pittsburgh must have a very large congregation. A train of five sections, 52 coaches, brought colored excursionists to Rock Springs, and judging from their remarks and appearance when getting off the train, they are all in for a good time.

No More Mud Hole.

People who have been complaining about the mud hole at the end of the bridge will be glad to know that it is being filled up.

He is Improving.

W. M. Jackson, who has been ill with muscular rheumatism for some time, is improving.

Cafe Noir.

LAMB KIDNEYS EN BROCHETTE.—Cut half a dozen kidneys lengthwise through the center, remove the white veins and fat and wash in plenty of cold water. Place in boiling water and let stand five minutes. Cut one pound of bacon into slices and shape like the kidneys. Wipe the kidneys, place one on the skewer, then a piece of bacon, then kidney, and so on, allowing three pieces of bacon and two pieces of kidney to each skewer. Baste with butter and broil over a clear fire about five minutes. Dust with salt and pepper and serve on the skewers.

TRAINING WATCHDOGS.

Although it is generally believed that watchdogs are "to the manner born," it seems that a certain amount of training helps very much to turn out a really good one. This system of training has developed into a regular business in Berlin, where one Herr Straus has an academy from which watchdogs are turned out by the hundred every year.

His system is educational and is applied to almost every kind of dog. He first teaches the animal obedience by training it to perform certain "tricks" at command and then trains it to distinguish between a visitor and a burglar and what part of a man's body should be attacked to render the man helpless.

Outside of the gate the trainer places a dummy representing the burglar, and to the latch is attached a string. By means of the string the gate is opened slowly, until the head of the dummy becomes visible, when the dog is taught to fly at its throat. Herr Straus is very particular about this. He makes his dogs attack the throat or the upper part of the body always. Sometimes a real man well padded takes the place of the dummy, and of course he is well paid for his services.

All dogs, it seems, may be made good watchdogs, but the St. Bernards and the Russian wolfhounds are the best where property of great value is to be guarded. For dogs not so fierce as they are a different system of training is used. They soon learn to guard anything committed to their care, but are not so quick to attack an intruder as the fiercer dogs are.—Philadelphia Times.

IN THE STORM.

My child, your hero may not be,
In truth, a hero all the time;
Remember, it must chance that he
Shall still have rugged steep to climb.
Don't place him on too high a plane
In fancy; then he will not fall
In your esteem and may attain
To something noble after all.

My boy, don't think your sweetheart bears
A halo on her golden hair;
A crown of purity she wears,
And you must help to keep it there.
But she will have her trying moods
And be not always kind and sweet;
These are life's nervy interludes—
Sad pitfalls for unwary feet.

You both are far from perfect yet,
And quarrels will, unhappily, come;
Both may be wrong; so don't forget,
In anger's blind delirium,
That sweet concessions each must make
And tender promises renew
Or else a loving heart may break
And sorrow come to dwell with you.

TRICK OF A WOMAN SHARPER

She Found a Lace Handkerchief and Quickly Turned It Into Cash.

"I lost a $3 lace handkerchief today, but I learned one of the tricks of the light fingered people in Chicago," remarked a North Side woman as she came back from a shopping excursion. "Was it worth $3?" asked her husband.

"Hardly, but it's interesting. I bought a lace handkerchief, and as I walked to the car I stopped to buy a newspaper. I had my purse in my hand and a number of things, of course, and I laid the parcel containing the handkerchief and the check for it down on the corner of a fruit stand near by. After I got to the car I thought of my package. I hurried back, and the package wasn't there.

"Zatta litt' pape?"

"Yes."

"Other lady took it."

"I wanted that handkerchief especially to give to a friend for a birthday present. I went to the store again and picked out another handkerchief.

"I am sorry the first one didn't suit you," the clerk said.

"Why, I lost it!" I replied in astonishment.

"You don't say so!" said the clerk. "Why, about ten minutes ago a nice looking woman came in here with that handkerchief, and we took it back and refunded the money. She said that you were her niece and that you were out shopping together. You decided the handkerchief was not just what you wanted, and she came back to return it. We gave her a ticket for the $3, and she cashed it."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

QUEER EFFECTS OF WHIMS.

Men Who Could Dress Well on Money Wasted For Cigars.

"It's a curious thing how some people will sacrifice themselves to their whims," said a man who prides himself upon his study of human nature. "I don't mean wealthy people, for they can usually afford to do as they like. I am speaking now of people in moderate or less than moderate circumstances. I have in mind a young man whose tastes run to expensive neckwear. He wouldn't think of wearing a tie that costs less than $2, and he has stacks of them. Now, he can't afford this luxury, so he has to stint himself by wearing $3 shoes and $15 ready made suits. He doesn't realize the incongruity of his attire and is perfectly happy if his tie is all right.

"Another chap I know doesn't pay the slightest attention to his personal appearance and is usually rather frayed looking. That's because he spends his money on expensive cigarettes. He smokes only the highest priced imported Egyptian brand, and they cost him 4 cents apiece. He is a fiend and smokes probably 40 a day. You could not hire him to smoke a domestic cigarette which costs half a cent, yet if he did, he could afford to dress himself as he should. I could cite numerous instances of this tendency to one extravagance which have come under my personal observation. I can only explain it as a lack of mental balance."—Philadelphia Record.

Benny's Status.

"Papa," said Benny Bloobumper, "I saw two bad boys flipping cents, and after awhile they went away, and when they had gone I found a penny."

"Did you play yourself, Benny?" asked Mr. Bloobumper.

"No, papa."

"Then you were an in-a-cent bystander."—Harper's Bazar.

TRADES COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

The Attendance Was Small but
Some Business Was Trans-
acted by the Council

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE

Was Discussed and a Liberal Donation Voted to Be Sent to the Strikers.

NEW DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Trades council met last night in regular session and transacted some business, although the attendance was
small.

New delegates were seated from
the painters and decorators' union in
the person of W. S. Sallade and E. M.
Crass; from kilnmen's local No. 9,
Claude Smith, and the plumbers' sent
Charles Zange.

Labor day committee reported progress, and under the head of reports of delegates George Hale, of the street
railway men's union, reported that the St. Louis strike was still on. The delegate stated that the St. Louis Transit company some time ago had
agreed to settle with the men, granting all their demands, but no sooner
had the strike been declared off and
other union organizations been notified of the fact, than the company
refused to deal with the men under any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states
that the transit company, being aware
that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than
ever and would win.

After the report had been made the
council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

Dear Sir—We are sending you new stories and cuts fresh from the India famine field. They have been brought to us by the Christian Herald representative, Mr. Willets, who accompanied Dr. Klopsch on his recent trip through that stricken land. Your readers can rely upon this report, which describes, so far as it is possible to do so by words and pictures, the awful condition of suffering of those starving people.

When you have finished using the cuts you have had, will you kindly return the mto us?

May God speed your good work.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli
Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West
Thirty-fifth street and more than 200
men and women were taken prisoners.
It was one of the biggest raids ever
made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and
the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a
body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living
at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in
whose name the Tivoli's license stands,
and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them
if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit
Made to Him by Governor Nash
and Others.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President Mc-Kinley, accompanied by Secretary Cor-
telyou, departed for Washington in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman
Dick headed a delegation of 100 state
officials, congressmen and candidates
who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station
with a carriage and took them directly
to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social.
President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking
or introduction. Indeed introductions
were unnecessary, for he knew nearly
every one of the visitors personally.
The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors
then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by
an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

JESTER IS CLEARED.

Declared Not Guilty of the Murder of Gilbert Gates.

New London, Mo., Aug. 2.—Alex. Jester, the octogenarian, who has been on trial here for the past four weeks on the charge of killing Gilbert Yates,
brother of John W. Gates, the wire magnate, in 1871, was acquitted.
Three ballots were taken.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections
are being held in this state today. Hon.
M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last
night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought
and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state.
The Aycock ticket will be elected and
the amendment be adopted by the largest majorities ever given in this state
since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part
of the Democrats toward the negro.
We simply want him to know, and indeed he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use
him to ride into office, would let him
alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question
in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Cas-
sar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which
several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Olsen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally
of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker
from Texas, tried to address a crowd
of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order.
Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J.
Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic
clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tranger, of Columbus;
Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county;
and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:
Be It Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled,
That we heartily reaffirm the platform of
principles adopted last month at Kansas
City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.
That we hail with delight our national
ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson,
and we unite in saying to the Kansas City
convention, "Well done, good and faithful
servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and
blessings of government in this republic
cannot reasonably object to bearing their
just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly-
regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted
cession to Great Britain of about 2,000
square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land,
if any, has lately been given away to unscrupulous imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general
government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-
cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all
of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican
administration responsible for the cruel
war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of
galat soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure and untold murder,
misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands
of this administration.

evening, at the Lyceum theater, ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, addressed a fair-sized audience in reply to the address of Governor Theodore Roosevelt, recently delivered at St. Paul. Local discord has interfered with the success of the meeting
somewhat.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—
Sensational Evidence by Golden's
Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former
Secretary of State Caleb Powers
concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination.

Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony
the defense hopes to contradict,
caused something of a sensation on cross-examination by admitting that he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000.
It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

GERMANY WOULD HASTEN.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows
Any Blame for Delay of
the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the procrastination of the powers in the selection of a commander for the allied forces on their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect
willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be desired."

Eids Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers,
three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each,
and the other three not more than $4-200,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel,
with penalties of $500 per day for each day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day.
For deficiency of speed not below 20
knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000
for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

refused to deal with the men under
any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states
that the transit company, being aware
that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than
ever and would win.

After the report had been made the
council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

TO OUR READERS.

The Following Letter Explains Itself—
Do You Desire to Invest.

Editor of the News Review, East Liverpool, O.

Dear Sir—We are sending you new stories and cuts fresh from the India
famine field. They have been brought to us by the Christian Herald representative, Mr. Willetts, who accompanied Dr. Klopsch on his recent trip through that stricken land. Your readers can rely upon this report, which describes, so far as it is possible to do so by words and pictures, the awful
condition of suffering of those starving people.

When you have finished using the cuts you have had, will you kindly return the mto us?

May God speed your good work.

E. BRACE FREER.

Assistant Manager the Christian Herald India Famine Relief Work.

In the name of Him "who hath loved and given himself for us," readers of the News Review and humanity lovers in general, make an investment along the line of sweet charity and help the starving ones. You will have your full reward.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli
Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West
Thirty-fifth street and more than 200
men and women were taken prisoners.
It was one of the biggest raids ever
made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and
the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a
body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living
at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in
whose name the Tivoli's license stands,
and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them
if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit
Made to Him by Governor Nash
and Others.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President Mc-Kinley, accompanied by Secretary Cor-
telyou, departed for Washing in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman
Dick headed a delegation of 100 state
officials, congressmen and candidates
who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station
with a carriage and took them directly
to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social.
President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking
or introduction. Indeed introductions
were unnecessary, for he knew nearly
every one of the visitors personally.
The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors
then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by
an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

JESTER IS CLEARED.

Declared Not Guilty of the Murder of Gilbert Gates.

New London, Mo., Aug. 2.—Alex. Jester, the octogenarian, who has been on trial here for the past four weeks on
the charge of killing Gilbert Yates,
brother of John W. Gates, the wire
magnate, in 1871, was acquitted.
Three ballots were taken.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections
are being held in this state today. Hon.
M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last
night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought
and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state.
The Aycock ticket will be elected and
the amendment be adopted by the large-
est majorities ever given in this state
since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part
of the Democrats toward the negro.
We simply want him to know, and in-
end he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use
him to ride into office, would let him
alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question
in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Cas-
sar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which
several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Olsen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally
of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker
from Texas, tried to address a crowd
of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered
at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order. Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J.
Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic
clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tramger, of Columbus;
Hon. Reuben Turner, of Eire county;
and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be it Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled,
That we heartily reaffirm the platform of
principles adopted last month at Kansas
City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national
ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson,
and we unite in saying to the Kansas City
convention, "Well done, good and faithful
servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and
blessings of government in this republic
cannot reasonably object to bearing their
just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly
regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted
cession to Great Britain of about 2,000
square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land,
if any, has lately been given away to
unscrupulous imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general
government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-
cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all
of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican
administration responsible for the cruel war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of gallant soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure and untold murder,
misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands
of this administration.

candidate for secretary of state. Last evening, at the Lyceum theater, ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, addressed a fair-sized audience in reply to the address
of Governor Theodore Roosevelt recently delivered at St. Paul. Local discord has interfered with the success of the meeting
somewhat.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—
Sensational Evidence by Golden's
Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former
Secretary of State Caleb Powers
concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor
Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination.

Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony
the defense hopes to contradict,
caused something of a sensation on
cross-examination by admitting that
he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000.
It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

GERMANY WOULD HASTEN.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows
Any Blame for Delay of
the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member
of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the pro-
crastination of the powers in the selection
of a commander for the allied forces on
their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany
has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect
willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with
great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be
desired."

Eds Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary
of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers,
three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each,
and the other three not more than $4-200,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel,
with penalties of $500 per day for each
day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day.
For deficiency of speed not below 20
knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000
for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

A wedding ring should fit the finger
if it is too large, it is a sign of shallowness of purpose; if too tight, it suggests that the union pinches somehow. A perfect fitting ring is symbolic of a perfect, harmonious union.

ANARCHY.

The home of anarchy is in hades, and edicts of assassination are issued from that point.

NEW PAPER.

Rumor has it that a first-class daily paper will materialize in the city of Canton, Ohio, in a short time. The project is said to be backed by ample means, with clever and brainy journalists in control, men of honor, position and principle.

OHIO.

Ohio will roll up a good majority for McKinley Republicanism, prosperity and patriotism.

BRYAN'S HOME.

And now it is asserted that McKinley will carry Bryan's own state. That would be the unkindest cut of all.

TO THE FRONT.

Improvement seems to be the order of the day in East Liverpool. Paving and macadamizing will be pushed to the limit and contractors will be kept busy.

PENNSYLVANIA.

It is anticipated that the Republican majority in Pennsylvania this fall will be so great that the Democratic leaders will agree to make the matter unanimous.

DO YOU?

Do you patronize the saloon. Don't answer hastily. You might make a mistake in a hasty decision. Consider the matter carefully and then answer and then act.

GOD HELP THEM.

Read Louis Klopsch's articles about India. The situation is an awful one. God will help them. And he will use human instrumentalities. Do you desire to be an instrument in the Master's hands for the accomplishment of His purposes? Now is your golden opportunity.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS.

The man who takes advantage of his position in council to advance his personal interest at the expense of his constituency is unfit for any office at the hands of the people, and simply takes rank with the man who slyly inserts his hand in your pocket and captures your wallet.

BE CAREFUL.

The very best citizens and most astute and brainy business men of East Liverpool should be in our city council. The era of improvement demands it. East Liverpool is destined to grow and expand. Every property holder and taxpayer is interested. Get on your thinking cap. Seek your men for the legislative body and insist that they shall serve.

THE RED CROSS.

If it be true that China has refused to recognize the Red Cross society, and that her officials purpose cutting loose from all rules which govern civilized warfare, then the Flowery Kingdom deserves all the bad fortune which may follow the invasion of her dominion by the allied forces, and the onward march of civilization and progress will result in stamping China as a back number.

VERY ROSEY.

Very rosy is the outlook for an overwhelming Republican success in the coming presidential contest. This is not merely visionary nor yet guess work, but is the result of a careful canvass of the situation by the best posted men politically in the country. The outlook is that Mr. Billie Jennings Bryan will disappear from political history immediately after the fall election returns have been bulletined.

COMRADE THOMAS LLOYD.

Comrade Thomas Lloyd has answered the last roll call on this earth and has reported to the Great Commander. God grant that he may have an inheritance in the land of the blessed, in "the house not made with hands." Those who knew Thomas Lloyd best, and who associated with him in camp and bivouac, state that he was a tried and true comrade and a gallant soldier. We had the honor of being associated with him in General Lyon Post of the G. A. R., and ever found him genial, courteous and companionable. East Liverpool has lost a good citizen. God comfort his loved ones.

OUR HOME MERCHANTS.

If you are anxious that East Liverpool shall bloom and blossom like the rose, then do your part in patronizing your home merchants and business men. We have splendid business houses of every character, with goods inferior to none and prices fair and reasonable. Patronize home merchants.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

When a man (?) subscribes a certain sum for church purposes, and then deliberately and premeditatedly fails to honor his signature, simply because he knows the head of that earthly church is a messenger of peace and will not resort to law to enforce the claim, the subscriber is just a little bit meaner than the boss of all evil expects him to be. Respectfully referred to the fellow who calls himself a newspaper man and a journalist.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

This connection with East End will make a delightful drive when the avenue is improved and a first-class roadway is constructed. Bike riders will also have cause for rejoicing, as they can then take a spin to our handsome suburb in safety, and take in the beauty of a rapid rush over Columbian park race course. The view from upper Pennsylvania avenue is a superb one, and delights every visitor to our city. Push Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.

The Saloon is Bearing a Rich Fruitage of Sin, Crime and Shame.

The other evening there was seen a sad sight on Franklin street—a poor, miserable drunken woman, seated in the gutter and making maudlin speeches for the edification of passers by.

Last night there came to East Liverpool on the 7:08 train from Pittsburgh, a respectably dressed woman of about 45 or 50 years of age. She was so drunk that the conductor was compelled; on several occasions, to awaken her and keep her in presentable condition, so that she might alight when reaching East Liverpool. Her whisky laden breath poisoned the atmosphere, disgusting sober and decent passengers. When the conductor would arouse her, she would curse herself roundly for being such a fool. When last seen she was making her way in the direction of the freight depot. Truly, East Liverpool is reaping a rare harvest from the seed planted in the open saloon.

COSY CASCADE PARK.

Here Speaks a Gentleman Who Has Taken in This Delightful Spot.

"Have I visited Cascade Park? Indeed I have. It is a delightful place, beautifully located and with first-class accommodations. The dancing platform is a daisy, the water the very best and the surroundings all that can be desired. Visitors receive the most courteous attention. I note that a grand jubilee is to be held there on Tuesday, August 14, and I intend taking the trip in, accompanied by a number of my friends and acquaintances. I understand that East Liverpool will be well represented, as an excursion train will be run, and the round trip will be quite reasonable."

TWO TIGHT CORNERS.

EXCITING CHAPTERS IN THE LIFE OF A POLICE CAPTAIN.

A Hard Struggle For Life With a Stalwart Murderer and a Narrow Escape From Death at the Hands of an Armed Maniac.

"Yes, we have to deal with some queer people and some dangerous people," said a police captain, "and I must say, but not boastfully, that we now and then have to use judgment that is at once quick and reliable. I remember several years ago we had a highwayman in the station house who had shot a man and robbed him. He was a dangerous criminal and a mighty powerful man, and he was in a good position to go down for life or be executed, for his victim was at the point of death. One night he asked that I be sent to his cell. I had arrested him and had tried to get a confession from him, but all my efforts had been vain. He had taken a violent dislike to me, and he had laughed at all my endeavors. The deduction I made when I heard he wished to see me was that he had changed his mind and intended to confess, so I went to the cellroom and talked with him.

"'Captain,' said he in a confiding way, 'I want you to come in here and sit down. This secret is making a wreck of me, and I want to tell you everything.'

"He seemed quite penitent, and without any hesitation I opened the cell door and sat down on the bench beside him.

"'Is Mr. — going to die?' was his first question.

"'The doctor says he cannot live,' I replied.

"'Then the chances for my going to the chair are better than good?' asked he.

"I replied that they were. The prisoner lapsed apparently into deep meditation, and while the spell was upon him he paced up and down the cell. Suddenly he slammed the door of the cell, placed himself before me and said in a rather fearsome voice:

"'I've finished one, and if I do two I can get nothing worse than the chair.'

"Saying which, he leaped at me, leading out a powerful blow as he did so I was, of course, up and ready for him and had a billy in my hand. He had nothing but his big fists, feet and teeth, any of which he was ready and anxious to use, but he was twice a match for me even up. I don't know how I did it. If he had got the best of me just for a second, I would have been pounded to death; there is no doubt of that. I rapped him on the head time and time again with my billy, felt his blood flying over me, heard him snarl and also felt the imprint of his powerful fists. It took me five minutes to lay him out, and I must say that I never spent five busier minutes in my life. Oh, he's in prison now. He's doing 20 years.

"I remember another little experience I had that is not easy to forget. I was sitting in my private office one afternoon when a well built, stylishly clad young man entered, bowed pleasantly and sat down on the edge of the sofa.

"'I never was down in this part of the city before,' he said, 'and, being here, I thought I'd stop in and visit with you.'

"'That's right,' I rejoined. 'I'm always glad to receive callers.'

"I looked closely at the man. I couldn't place him at all. It seemed that I had seen him some place too. He was about 30 years old, was stalwart and had an attractive face that bore the marks of dissipation.

"'Be my friend,' said I, 'but I can't just place you. I know you've got to be somewhere, but where?'

"'No, we haven't met before. I never saw you before today in my life,' he said. 'I've heard of you a lot of late.'

"His dialogue lagged for a few moments, and in that time I scrutinized him. He mystified me in a degree, and I was interested in him. He broke the silence:

"'Say, captain, I've got something very important to see you about. I'll just close this door, and it's just as well that no one knows what we do or say. Now, I wish first to impress you with the importance of this meeting. It is the most momentous occasion of my life, and on its success or failure depends my future. Captain (the stranger leaned over and whispered in my ear), I'm going to cut your throat!'

stranger, and he was leaning toward me. Casting my eyes sidewise, I saw that he held an opened razor in his right hand. I did not move immediately.

"'So you're going to cut my throat?' I said, quietly turning part way around.

"'Yes, captain. I have been commanded by God to do so. I'm sorry, but it must be done. Get ready.'

"'That's all right, my friend. I'm perfectly willing you shall carry out your mission; but, to tell the truth, I hate to get blood all over my furniture here. It wouldn't be nice to dirty up the office, would it? Suppose we go in the back room?'

"'That'll do. Come on,' rejoined the maniac quickly.

"I got up. The maniac's back was toward me. With one bound I had my arms about his waist and his arms pinned to his side. I then called for help, and two officers rushed into my office. It took four big men to put that maniac in a cell. He's in an asylum now."—Buffalo Express.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM.

This Man Knew a Steamboat When He Saw One.

The agent of one of the ocean steamship lines, says the Chicago Tribune, told the following story of a St. Louis man who got into New York the day after the maiden arrival of a great liner:

After gazing at the vessel from the pier the St. Louisan said to the man at the gangplank:

"'Purty good sized steamboat.'

"'She's a liner, ocean liner,' was the lofty reply.

"'She's purty high up, ain't she?'

"'Her chimneys ain't very high, though.'

"'You mean her funnels. No; they never make them high for liners.'

"'Hinges on 'em?'

"'Never heard of hinges on a funnel.'

"'How does she get under the bridge?'

"'What bridge?'

"'Why, any bridge. Steamboats out our way have hinges on their chimneys, and when they come to the bridges over the river they lower the chimneys, and she scoots under like she was greased.'

The man at the gangplank observed the St. Louis man with lofty indifference.

"'She ain't got any wheelhouses on her sides nor none at her stern,' remarked the St. Louis man after he had made further inspection.

"'Liners have propellers,' said the man at the gangplank, and his nose turned up visibly.

"'Well, I'll bet she can't run. It takes two wheels and a bow like an arrow-head and a scant hold to give a steamboat speed, sonny, and don't you forget it. If this steamboat was to get into the Mississippi, she'd go hard aground first clip.'

"'I have told you this is not a steamboat.'

"'Shucks! You can't gimme that. I saw a plecter of her in one of our newspapers before I left home, and the printin under it said 'steamboat.' Do you think a St. Louis editor don't know a steamboat when he sees one? You're not on to your job yet.'

ANARCHY.

The home of anarchy is in hades, and edicts of assassination are issued from that point.

NEW PAPER.

Rumor has it that a first-class daily paper will materialize in the city of Canton, Ohio, in a short time. The project is said to be backed by ample means, with clever and brainy journalists in control, men of honor, position and principle.

OHIO.

Ohio will roll up a good majority for McKinley/ Republicanism, prosperity and patriotism.

BRYAN'S HOME.

And now it is asserted that McKinley will carry Bryan's own state. That would be the unkindest cut of all.

TO THE FRONT.

Improvement seems to be the order of the day in East Liverpool. Paving and macadamizing will be pushed to the limit and contractors will be kept busy.

PENNSYLVANIA.

It is anticipated that the Republican majority in Pennsylvania this fall will be so great that the Democratic leaders will agree to make the matter unanimous.

DO YOU?

Do you patronize the saloon. Don't answer hastily. You might make a mistake in a hasty decision. Consider the matter carefully and then answer and then act.

GOD HELP THEM.

Read Louis Klopsch's articles about India. The situation is an awful one. God will help them. And he will use human instrumentalities. Do you desire to be an instrument in the Master's hands for the accomplishment of His purposes? Now is your golden opportunity.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS.

The man who takes advantage of his position in council to advance his personal interest at the expense of his constituency is unfit for any office at the hands of the people, and simply takes rank with the man who slyly inserts his hand in your pocket and captures your wallet.

BE CAREFUL.

The very best citizens and most astute and brainy business men of East Liverpool should be in our city council. The era of improvement demands it. East Liverpool is destined to grow and expand. Every property holder and taxpayer is interested. Get on your thinking cap. Seek your men for the legislative body and insist that they shall serve.

THE RED CROSS.

If it be true that China has refused to recognize the Red Cross society, and that her officials purpose cutting loose from all rules which govern civilized warfare, then the Flowery Kingdom deserves all the bad fortune which may follow the invasion of her dominion by the allied forces, and the onward march of civilization and progress will result in stamping China as a back number.

VERY ROSEY.

Very rosy is the outlook for an overwhelming Republican success in the coming presidential contest. This is not merely visionary nor yet guess work, but is the result of a careful canvass of the situation by the best posted men politically in the country. The outlook is that Mr. Billie Jennings Bryan will disappear from political history immediately after the fall election returns have been bulletined.

COMRADE THOMAS LLOYD.

Comrade Thomas Lloyd has answered the last roll call on this earth and has reported to the Great Commander. God grant that he may have an inheritance in the land of the blessed, in "the house not made with hands." Those who knew Thomas Lloyd best, and who associated with him in camp and bivouac, state that he was a tried and true comrade and a gallant soldier. We had the honor of being associated with him in General Lyon Post of the G. A. R., and ever found him genial, courteous and companionable. East Liverpool has lost a good citizen. God comfort his loved ones.

OUR HOME MERCHANTS.

If you are anxious that East Liverpool shall bloom and blossom like the rose, then do your part in patronizing your home merchants and business men. We have splendid business houses of every character, with goods inferior to none and prices fair and reasonable. Patronize home merchants.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

When a man (?) subscribes a certain sum for church purposes, and then deliberately and premeditatedly fails to honor his signature, simply because he knows the head of that earthly church is a messenger of peace and will not resort to law to enforce the claim, the subscriber is just a little bit meaner than the boss of all evil expects him to be. Respectfully referred to the fellow who calls himself a newspaper man and a journalist.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

This connection with East End will make a delightful drive when the avenue is improved and a first-class roadway is constructed. Bike riders will also have cause for rejoicing, as they can then take a spin to our handsome suburb in safety, and take in the beauty of a rapid rush over Columbian park race course. The view from upper Pennsylvania avenue is a superb one, and delights every visitor to our city. Push Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.

The Saloon is Bearing a Rich Fruitage of Sin, Crime and Shame.

The other evening there was seen a sad sight on Franklin street—a poor, miserable drunken woman, seated in the gutter and making maudlin speeches for the edification of passers by.

Last night there came to East Liverpool on the 7:08 train from Pittsburgh, a respectfully dressed woman of about 45 or 50 years of age. She was so drunk that the conductor was compelled, on several occasions, to awaken her and keep her in presentable condition, so that she might alight when reaching East Liverpool. Her whisky laden breath poisoned the atmosphere, disgusting sober and decent passengers. When the conductor would arouse her, she would curse herself roundly for being such a fool. When last seen she was making her way in the direction of the freight depot. Truly, East Liverpool is reaping a rare harvest from the seed planted in the open saloon.

COSY CASCADE PARK.

Here Speaks a Gentleman Who Has Taken in This Delightful Spot.

"Have I visited Cascade Park? Indeed I have. It is a delightful place, beautifully located and with first-class accommodations. The dancing platform is a daisy, the water the very best and the surroundings all that can be desired. Visitors receive the most courteous attention. I note that a grand jubilee is to be held there on Tuesday, August 14, and I intend taking the trip in, accompanied by a number of my friends and acquaintances. I understand that East Liverpool will be well represented, as an excursion train will be run, and the round trip will be quite reasonable."

TWO TIGHT CORNERS.

EXCITING CHAPTERS IN THE LIFE OF A POLICE CAPTAIN.

A Hard Struggle For Life With a Stalwart Murderer and a Narrow Escape From Death at the Hands of an Armed Maniac.

"Yes, we have to deal with some queer people and some dangerous people," said a police captain, "and I must say, but not boastfully, that we now and then have to use judgment that is at once quick and reliable. I remember several years ago we had a highwayman in the station house who had shot a man and robbed him. # OHIO IN CONGRESS FROM 1803 TO 1901.

WILLIAM MEDILL.

William Medill was born in the state of Delaware about the year 1800, and located and began the practice of the law at Lancaster, Ohio, in 1832, and was soon recognized as one of the Democratic leaders of the state. He died at Lancaster in 1865. He represented Fairfield county in the lower house of the legislature from 1835 to 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Ninth district, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan and Hocking counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the same district in 1840. For a number of years he was Indian agent at Washington, and introduced many humane reforms into that department.

He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1857 and largely shaped the second constitution. He was chosen lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, along with Reuben Wood, governor, at the October election, 1851, and in July, 1853, when Governor Wood resigned to become consul to Valparaiso, Chili, became acting governor. In 1853 he was elected governor over Nelson Barrere, Whig, by a vote of 147,663 to 132,523, and in 1855 was defeated for the same office by Salmon P. Chase, by a vote of 146,770 to 131,019. He was appointed first comptroller of the United States treasury in 1860 by President James Buchanan.

JOHN HASTINGS

Was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress in 1838 from the Seventeenth district, Columbiana county, and re-elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840 from the same district. He was an attorney and business man of prominence, and returned to the pursuits of private life after his services in congress. Born in 1788. Died in Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 29, 1854.

DAVID A. STARKWEATHER.

David A. Starkweather represented Stark county in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies, as a member of the senate in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth, beginning his legislative services in 1832, and ending them in 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Eighteenth district, comprising Stark and Wayne counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh from the same district in 1840. He was a Democrat, and a leading attorney at the Stark county bar, and enjoyed the confidence of the community to the fullest degree. He was a minister to Chili from 1854 to 1857. He was born in Connecticut in 1790, and died about 1864.

NATHANIEL GREENE PENDLETON

Nathaniel G. Pendleton was the son of a prominent Revolutionary officer on the staff of General Nathaniel Greene, and was named in honor of that distinguished Revolutionary hero. Unlike his distinguished son, George Hunt Pendleton, he was not given to politics. He served a single term in congress, being elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840, from the First district, Hamilton county. He was born in Savannah, Georgia, his father, Colonel Pendleton, being a Virginian, Aug. 24, 1793, and emigrated to Ohio when a young man, locating in Cincinnati, where he died June 15, 1861.

BENJAMIN S. COWEN.

Benjamin S. Cowen represented Belmont county in the lower house of the legislature from 1844 to 1847, having previously been elected in 1840 from the Eleventh district, Guernsey and Belmont counties, to the Twenty-seventh congress.

He was born in Washington county, New York, Sept. 27, 1792. He studied law and was admitted to the bar. He came to Ohio when a young man, and was for some years prosecuting attorney of Monroe county. Later he located at St. Clairsville, where he died Sept. 27, 1869. He was a Whig and afterward a Republican.

JOSHUA MATHIOT

Of Licking county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Twelfth district, embracing Licking and Muskingum counties. Mr. Mathiot had few, if any, political ambitions, and his election to congress was in the nature of a compliment to his sterling virtues as a citizen. He was among the early pioneer settlers of Licking county. He was born in Ohio in 1790, and died in Newark July 30, 1849.

JAMES MATTHEWS

Was a highly respected citizen of Coshocton county, who served his people acceptably in both branches of the legislature and in congress. He served two terms in the house from 1831 to 1833, and from 1837 to 1840; he served in the senate during the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth sessions of the general assembly. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Thirteenth district, containing the counties of Coshocton, Knox, Tuscarawas and Holmes. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth, in 1842, from the same district. He was one of the pioneers of Coshocton county, and did much toward promoting the interests of the community in which he resided. He was born in Ohio in 1800.

SHERLOCK J. ANDREWS

Of Cuyahoga county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Fifteenth district, comprising the counties of Cuyahoga, Lorain, Portage and Medina. He was born in Wallingford, Connecticut, Nov. 17, 1801, and graduated from Union college in 1821. In 1825 he migrated to Cleveland, where he rose to distinction in the legal profession. He was elected judge of the superior court of that city in 1848 by the legislature, and was elected judge of the court of common pleas, under the second constitution, in 1857, and continued to hold that office until 1873, and was noted for the force and clearness of his judicial decisions. He came within four votes of being elected United States senator in the heated contest of 1851, which finally terminated in the election of Benjamin F. Wade.

EZRA DEAN.

Ezra Dean of Wayne county, a leading lawyer in the northern part of the state, was elected president judge of the Eleventh circuit by the legislature in 1834, and served until 1841.

In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Eighth district, comprising Wayne and Stark counties. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the same district.

Judge Dean was born in Hillsdale, New York, April 9, 1795. He was a soldier in the War of 1812. He located at Wooster in 1822. He was one of the president judges of the court of common pleas under the first constitution. He died in Wooster Jan. 25, 1872. In his political affiliations he was a Democrat.

SAMUEL STOKELY

General Samuel Stokely, a citizen of Jefferson county, enjoying local prominence, represented the voters of that constituency in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh general assemblies as a member of the senate. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Nineteenth district, Jefferson and Harrison counties. He was a major general of militia, took part in the War of 1812, being one of the pioneer settlers in eastern Ohio. He was a lawyer of much prominence and had a wide practice, and to this he devoted his best energies.

ROBERT C. SCHENCK.

Robert Cumming Schenck was of Dutch descent. His father, Roeloff Martenese Schenck, a native of Holland, served on the staff of General Harrison, and died in 1821. Robert became the ward of General James Findlay and was graduated from the Miami university, at Oxford, in 1827, and remained as a tutor in that institution until 1830, when he was admitted to the bar and began the practice at Dayton. He was an ardent advocate of the doctrines and principles of the Whig party, and became a Republican when that party was organized.

He entered public life in 1841, when he became a member of the Ohio house of representatives and served two terms. In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Third district, composed of the counties of Montgomery, Warren, Clinton and Greene, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth in 1844, to the Thirtieth in 1846, and the Thirty-first in 1848, from the same district.

In 1851, upon the expiration of his fourth term in congress, President Millard Fillmore appointed him as minister to Brazil, where he represented the United States government to the satisfaction of both, and largely contributed to the negotiation of a treaty of peace and amity between the republics of Paraguay, Uruguay and Argentine. He returned to the United States in 1853, and for several years took but little part in politics.

At the outbreak of the Civil war he entered the service as a brigadier general, and served in the West Virginia campaign under Generals Rosecrans and McDowell. He commanded a division at the second battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded in the right arm, that member becoming useless during the rest of his life. Though dangerously wounded, he refused to be removed from the field until his sword, which had been lost when he fell, was found and restored to him, and he carried it from the field. He was invalided until December, 1862, when he was promoted to major general and took command of the Middle division of the Eighth corps, with headquarters at Baltimore. As a soldier he was courageous, brilliant and dashing.

In 1862 he was elected to the Thirty-seventh congress from the Third district, Montgomery, Preble, Butler and Warren counties, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth in 1864, the Fortieth in 1866, from the same district, and the Forty-first in 1868. In congress he was a conspicuous figure, and James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years in Congress," said of him:

"Robert C. Schenck was an invaluable addition to the house. He was at once placed at the head of the committee on military affairs, then of superlative importance, and subsequently made chairman of ways and means, succeeding Mr. Stevens in the undoubted leadership of the house. He was admirably fitted for the arduous and difficult duty. His perceptions were keen, his analysis was extraordinarily rapid, his power of expression remarkable. On his feet, as the phrase went, he had no equal in the house. In five minutes' discussion in committee of the whole he was an intellectual marvel. The compactness and clearness of his statement, the facts and arguments which he could marshal in that brief time were a constant surprise and delight to his hearers. No man in congress during the present generation has rivaled his singular power in this respect."

"He was able in every form of discussion, but his peculiar gift was in leading and controlling the committee of the whole."

In 1871 General Schenck was appointed by General Grant minister to Great Britain, in which capacity he served with distinction until 1876. It was during this period that he was appointed a member on behalf of the United States of the celebrated joint high commission, which assembled at Washington and effected a treaty providing for the Geneva conference, a measure which, by the substitution of arbitration for war in the settlement of a serious controversy between two powerful and warlike nations, marked an era in the development of the spirit of a true Christian civilization.

He took but little part in politics after his return from England, but devoted his attention to the practice of the law in Washington, D. C.

He was born in Franklin, Warren county, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1809, and died at Washington, D. C., March 23, 1890.

EMORY D. POTTER.

For more than half a century Emory D. Potter of Lucas county was one of the most prominent Democratic citizens and lawyers in the northwestern part of the state. In 1838 he was elected president judge of the Thirteenth circuit, and he held that office until he entered congress.

In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Fifth district, embracing the counties of Lucas, Mercer, Van Wert, Paulding, Williams, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Shelby and Hardin.

He did not seek a re-election, and in 1847 was sent as a representative to the Forty-sixth general assembly of Ohio. In 1848 he was elected to the Thirty-first congress from the Fifth district as above. In 1873 he was elected to the Ohio senate of the Sixty-first general assembly from the Thirty-third district, composed of Hancock, Wood, Lucas, Fulton, Henry and Putnam counties. During the last 30 years of his life he served on the various boards of trustees of the different public institutions of the state. He was born in Providence, Rhode Island, in 1804, and settled at Toledo early in the century.

HENRY ST. JOHN

Henry St. John of Seneca county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1842 from the Sixth district, composed of the counties of Seneca, Wood, Hancock, Crawford, Sandusky and Ottawa, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth congress from the same district.

JOSEPH J. McDOWELL.

General Joseph J. McDowell was born in North Carolina Nov. 13, 1800, and came to Ohio when a young man, locating at Hillsboro, in Highland county, where he entered upon the practice of the law. For nearly 40 years he was one of the prominent Democratic leaders in the state, whose counsel was eagerly sought by his political associates. He died in Hillsboro, Jan. 17, 1877.

His father, a Virginian, was an officer in the War of the Revolution, and the younger man imbibed the military spirit from him. He was active in the organization of the military forces of the state, saw service in the War of 1812, and became a major general in the state military establishment.

He represented Highland county in the house in the Thirty-first general assembly in 1832-1833, and in the senate in 1833-1834-1835. He was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the Seventh district, Highland, Clermont and Brown, and was re-elected from the same district in 1844 to the Twenty-ninth congress.

ENFORCING SCALE IN TRENTON

The Trenton True American of yesterday has the following to say of the pottery situation in that city:

"The resolution adopted at the meeting of the Manufacturing Potters' association held Monday afternoon, giving the executive board of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters permission to measure kilns in the local plant, providing they can give assurance that the wage scale adopted at the Pittsburgh conference shall be put in effect here, has had the effect of a bomb shell on the plans of the executive committee.

"It was their intention, first to settle the differences existing between the kilnmen and the manufacturers, before taking up the scale problem.

"The clause set forth in the resolution respecting the installation of the new scale here is looked upon as an almost impossible task.

"In order to do this it will be necessary for the Brotherhood to get the belligerent jiggermen into line, and as they have broken away from the union and formed a branch of their own, it seems that the task set out by the manufacturers is almost an impossible one.

"It is said that if the executive board could only prevail upon the potters to accept the scale it would make a uniform rate of wages for all.

"The board has as yet done nothing toward taking any action on the subject.

"President Hughes when seen by a True American reported yesterday afternoon declined to talk on the subject. He said: 'I have nothing whatever to say regarding the action of the manufacturers, and I will not express my views until the executive board has a meeting.

"No official call has yet been issued, but I think a meeting will probably be held some time tomorrow, when we will know better how we stand.'

"Secretary Duffy was also seen, but he, too, declined to talk on the subject.

"Messrs. Hughes and Duffy spent yesterday visiting a number of the potters about the city.

"The jiggermen are as determined as ever not to accept the new scale, and they say that nothing can induce them to go back into the ranks of the Brotherhood.

"One prominent member of the jiggermen was seen yesterday afternoon, and he was very emphatic in his denunciation of the action of the manufacturers in trying to enforce the new scale on the local jiggermen.

"He said: 'When we accepted the scale adopted by the Pittsburgh conference we did it with all fairness, and as we believed it would greatly improve the pottery condition in this city.

"The prices set forth in the new scale looked very bright on paper, but when we put the scale into operation we found that instead of bettering our condition it only made it worse.

"According to the price list in the new scale we cup makers would receive a reduction of 27 1-3 per cent, and the plate and saucer makers

would be reduced from 12 1/2 to 17 per cent on plain edged ware.

"The turners are the only hands which would receive an increase and they would only receive from one-half to three-quarter per cent on the dozen.

"The potters in the west were very much surprised when they heard of this reduction, as it had greatly increased the wages there.

"The cause of this reduction can only be attributed to our facilities which are inferior to theirs.

"If we had their facilities then it would improve our condition, as it did theirs.

"As soon as we found out that the new price list was not benefiting us we discarded it.

"When we made known this fact to the Brotherhood, instead of investigating the matter, they denounced us and upheld the potters in the west.

"We withdrew from the Brotherhood and set up an independent organization of our own, and it is my belief that under no condition will the members return.

"The resolution of the manufacturers compelling the executive board to enforce the scale on the local jiggermen is absurd.

"We are not going to accept a scale that is not to our benefit.

"The manufacturers are the ones responsible for all the trouble.

"They know that their facilities here are inferior to those of the west, and should we accept the scale under those conditions the manufacturers would be the persons to benefit by it.

"As soon as the Trenton manufacturers install in their plants facilities equal to those in the west they will experience no difficulty in having us accept the new scale."

LAMB KIDNEYS EN BROCHETTE.—Cut half a dozen kidneys lengthwise through the center, remove the white veins and fat and wash in plenty of cold water. Place in boiling water and let stand five minutes. Cut one pound of bacon into slices and shape like the kidneys. Wipe the kidneys, place one on the skewer, then a piece of bacon, then kidney, and so on, allowing three pieces of bacon and two pieces of kidney to each skewer. Baste with butter and broil over a clear fire about five minutes. Dust with salt and pepper and serve on the skewers.

TRAINING WATCHDOGS.

Although it is generally believed that watchdogs are "to the manner born," it seems that a certain amount of training helps very much to turn out a really good one. This system of training has developed into a regular business in Berlin, where one Herr Straus has an academy from which watchdogs are turned out by the hundred every year.

His system is educational and is applied to almost every kind of dog. He first teaches the animal obedience by training it to perform certain "tricks" at command and then trains it to distinguish between a visitor and a burglar and what part of a man's body should be attacked to render the man helpless.

Outside of the gate the trainer places a dummy representing the burglar, and to the latch is attached a string. By means of the string the gate is opened slowly, until the head of the dummy becomes visible, when the dog is taught to fly at its throat. Herr Straus is very particular about this. He makes his dogs attack the throat or the upper part of the body always. Sometimes a real man well padded takes the place of the dummy, and of course he is well paid for his services.

All dogs, it seems, may be made good watchdogs, but the St. Bernards and the Russian wolfhounds are the best where property of great value is to be guarded. For dogs not so fierce as they are a different system of training is used. They soon learn to guard anything committed to their care, but are not so quick to attack an intruder as the fiercer dogs are.—Philadelphia Times.

IN THE STORM.

My child, your hero may not be,
In truth, a hero all the time;
Remember, it must chance that he Shall still have rugged steps to climb.
Don't place him on too high a plane
In fancy; then he will not fall
In your esteem and may attain
To something noble after all.

My boy, don't think your sweetheart bears
A halo on her golden hair;
A crown of purity she wears,
And you must help to keep it there.
But she will have her trying moods
And be not always kind and sweet;
These are life's nerving interludes—
Sad pitfalls for unwary feet.

You both are far from perfect yet,
And quarrels will, unhappily, come;
Both may be wrong; so don't forget,
In anger's blind delirium,
That sweet concessions each must make
And tender promises renew
Or else a loving heart may break
And sorrow come to dwell with you.
—Pearson's Weekly.

TRICK OF A WOMAN SHARPER

She Found a Lace Handkerchief and Quickly Turned It Into Cash.

"I lost a $3 lace handkerchief today, but I learned one of the tricks of the light fingered people in Chicago," remarked a North Side woman as she came back from a shopping excursion.

"Was it worth $3?" asked her husband.

"Hardly, but it's interesting. I bought a lace handkerchief, and as I walked to the car I stopped to buy a newspaper. I had my purse in my hand and a number of things, of course, and I laid the parcel containing the handkerchief and the check for it down on the corner of a fruit stand near by. After I got to the car I thought of my package. I hurried back, and the package wasn't there.

"Where is the little package I left here?" I asked the Italian vender.

"Zatta litt' pape?"

"Yes."

"Other lady took it."

"I wanted that handkerchief especially to give to a friend for a birthday present. I went to the store again and picked out another handkerchief.

"I am sorry the first one didn't suit you," the clerk said.

"Why, I lost it!" I replied in astonishment.

"You don't say so!" said the clerk. "Why, about ten minutes ago a nice looking woman came in here with that handkerchief, and we took it back and refunded the money. She said that you were her niece and that you were out shopping together. You decided the handkerchief was not just what you wanted, and she came back to return it. We gave her a ticket for the $3, and she cashed it."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

QUEER EFFECTS OF WHIMS.

Men Who Could Dress Well on Money Wasted For Cigars.

"It's a curious thing how some people will sacrifice themselves to their whims," said a man who prides himself upon his study of human nature. "I don't mean wealthy people, for they can usually afford to do as they like. I am speaking now of people in moderate or less than moderate circumstances. I have in mind a young man whose tastes run to expensive neckwear. He wouldn't think of wearing a tie that costs less than $2, and he has stacks of them. Now, he can't afford this luxury, so he has to stint himself by wearing $3 shoes and $15 ready made suits. He doesn't realize the incongruity of his attire and is perfectly happy if his tie is all right.

"Another chap I know doesn't pay the slightest attention to his personal appearance and is usually rather frayed looking. That's because he spends his money on expensive cigarettes. He smokes only the highest priced imported Egyptian brand, and they cost him 4 cents apiece. He is a fiend and smokes probably 40 a day. You could not hire him to smoke a domestic cigarette which costs half a cent, yet if he did, he could afford to dress himself as he should. I could cite numerous instances of this tendency to one extravagance which have come under my personal observation. I can only explain it as a lack of mental balance."—Philadelphia Record.

Benny's Status.

"Papa," said Benny Bloombumper, "I saw two bad boys flipping cents, and after awhile they went away, and when they had gone I found a penny."

"Did you play yourself, Benny?" asked Mr. Bloombumper.

"No, papa."

"Then you were an in-a-cent bystander."—Harper's Bazar.

first of next week for Michigan with a view of benefiting his health.

SOUTH SIDE.

A Large Picnic.

Judging from the crowd at Rock Springs today the Green Street Baptist church of Pittsburgh must have a very large congregation. A train of five sections, 52 coaches, brought colored excursionists to Rock Springs, and judging from their remarks and appearance when getting off the train, they are all in for a good time.

No More Mud Hole.

People who have been complaining about the mud hole at the end of the bridge will be glad to know that it is being filled up.

He is Improving.

W. M. Jackson, who has been ill with muscular rheumatism for some time, is improving.

Personals.

Mrs. Spear, of West Liberty, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Lewis.

J. H. McMillan, of Franklin, is visiting Chester friends.

Mrs. Dan Cronin is very ill with malarial fever.

S. B. Bambric, instructor in the military school at Harford, Pa., and Mr. Baxter are spending their vacation visiting Southside friends.

MENU FOR THURSDAY.

Love hath a large mantle.—Proverb.

BREAKFAST.

Mandarin.
Lamb Kidneys en Brochette.
German Potatoes. Dandelion Salad.
Rice Cakes with Maple Syrup.
Horns. Muffins.
Coffee.

LUNCHEON.

Iced Chicken Broth in Cups.
Salmon Salad. English Brown Bread.
Almond Wafers.
Chocolate with Ice Cream.

DINNER.

Clear Beef Soup with Carrot Straws.
Roast of Lamb, Mint Sauce.
Orange Jelly. Hashed Lyonnaise Potatoes.
Squash. Baked Corn.
Stuffed Tomato Salad. Cheese Straws.
Strawberry Ice Cream. Cake.
Cafe Noir.

LAMB KIDNEYS EN BROCHETTE.—Cut half a dozen kidneys lengthwise through the center, remove the white veins and fat and wash in plenty of cold water. Place in boiling water and let stand five minutes. Cut one pound of bacon into slices and shape like the kidneys. Wipe the kidneys, place one on the skewer, then a piece of bacon, then kidney, and so on, allowing three pieces of bacon and two pieces of kidney to each skewer. Baste with butter and broil over a clear fire about five minutes. Dust with salt and pepper and serve on the skewers.

TRAINING WATCHDOGS.

Although it is generally believed that watchdogs are "to the manner born," it seems that a certain amount of training helps very much to turn out a really good one. This system of training has developed into a regular business in Berlin, where one Herr Straus has an academy from which watchdogs are turned out by the hundred every year.

His system is educational and is applied to almost every kind of dog. He first teaches the animal obedience by training it to perform certain "tricks" at command and then trains it to distinguish between a visitor and a burglar and what part of a man's body should be attacked to render the man helpless.

Outside of the gate the trainer places a dummy representing the burglar, and to the latch is attached a string. By means of the string the gate is opened slowly, until the head of the dummy becomes visible, when the dog is taught to fly at its throat. Herr Straus is very particular about this. He makes his dogs attack the throat or the upper part of the body always. Sometimes a real man well padded takes the place of the dummy, and of course he is well paid for his services.

All dogs, it seems, may be made good watchdogs, but the St. Bernards and the Russian wolfhounds are the best where property of great value is to be guarded. For dogs not so fierce as they are a different system of training is used. They soon learn to guard anything committed to their care, but are not so quick to attack an intruder as the fiercer dogs are.—Philadelphia Times.

IN THE STORM.

My child, your hero may not be,
In truth, a hero all the time;
Remember, it must chance that he
Shall still have rugged steep to climb.
Don't place him on too high a plane
In fancy; then he will not fall
In your esteem and may attain
To something noble after all.

My boy, don't think your sweetheart bears
A halo on her golden hair;
A crown of purity she wears,
And you must help to keep it there.
But she will have her trying moods
And be not always kind and sweet;
These are life's nerving interludes—
Sad pitfalls for unwary feet.

You both are far from perfect yet,
And quarrels will, unhappily, come;
Both may be wrong; so don't forget,
In anger's blind delirium,
That sweet concessions each must make
And tender promises renew
Or else a loving heart may break
And sorrow come to dwell with you.
—Pearson's Weekly.

TRICK OF A WOMAN SHARPER

She Found a Lace Handkerchief and Quickly Turned It Into Cash.

"I lost a $3 lace handkerchief today, but I learned one of the tricks of the light fingered people in Chicago," remarked a North Side woman as she came back from a shopping excursion. "Was it worth $3?" asked her husband.

"Hardly, but it's interesting. I bought a lace handkerchief, and as I walked to the car I stopped to buy a newspaper. I had my purse in my hand and a number of things, of course, and I laid the parcel containing the handkerchief and the check for it down on the corner of a fruit stand near by. After I got to the car I thought of my package. I hurried back, and the package wasn't there.

"Zatta litt' pape?"

"Yes."

"Other lady took it."

"I wanted that handkerchief especially to give to a friend for a birthday present. I went to the store again and picked out another handkerchief.

"I am sorry the first one didn't suit you," the clerk said.

"Why, I lost it!" I replied in astonishment.

"You don't say so!" said the clerk. "Why, about ten minutes ago a nice looking woman came in here with that handkerchief, and we took it back and refunded the money. She said that you were her niece and that you were out shopping together. You decided the handkerchief was not just what you wanted, and she came back to return it. We gave her a ticket for the $3, and she cashed it."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

QUEER EFFECTS OF WHIMS.

Men Who Could Dress Well on Money Wasted For Cigars.

"It's a curious thing how some people will sacrifice themselves to their whims," said a man who prides himself upon his study of human nature. "I don't mean wealthy people, for they can usually afford to do as they like. I am speaking now of people in moderate or less than moderate circumstances. I have in mind a young man whose tastes run to expensive neckwear. He wouldn't think of wearing a tie that costs less than $2, and he has stacks of them. Now, he can't afford this luxury, so he has to stint himself by wearing $3 shoes and $15 ready made suits. He doesn't realize the incongruity of his attire and is perfectly happy if his tie is all right.

"Another chap I know doesn't pay the slightest attention to his personal appearance and is usually rather frayed looking. That's because he spends his money on expensive cigarettes. He smokes only the highest priced imported Egyptian brand, and they cost him 4 cents apiece. He is a fiend and smokes probably 40 a day. You could not hire him to smoke a domestic cigarette which costs half a cent, yet if he did, he could afford to dress himself as he should. I could cite numerous instances of this tendency to one extravagance which have come under my personal observation. I can only explain it as a lack of mental balance."—Philadelphia Record.

Benny's Status.

"Papa," said Benny Bloobumper, "I saw two bad boys flipping cents, and after awhile they went away, and when they had gone I found a penny." "Did you play yourself, Benny?" asked Mr. Bloobumper. "No, papa." "Then you were an in-a-cent bystander."—Harper's Bazar.

Indian Compositions.

New "composition" stories are furnished by two young Indians whose efforts in this difficult line are reported by The Southern Workman.

The subject assigned to the first boy was the life of General Armstrong. Referring to the general's boyhood among the idolatrous, ancestor worshipping natives of the Hawaiian Islands, he wrote as follows:

"The people of the Sandwich Islands worshiped the idols of their aunts' sisters."

The second boy, a member of the same class, writing upon a different phase of the same subject, got the city of Washington confused with the man for whom the city was named. Referring to the retirement of General Armstrong from the service after the war, he said:

"When General Armstrong finished the war, he wrote to Washington and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him."

Remembered the One at Home.

A Lebanon man tells the following for a fact: One day a Linn county farmer bought a banana at his store, the first one he had ever eaten. After finishing it he threw the peel on the floor. After gazing at it a moment he picked it up and wrapped it in a piece of paper and remarked:

"Guess I'll take that home to my wife and let her see what a banana looks like. She never seed one."

And the man had an income of several thousand dollars a year.—Portland Oregonian.

A DAY IN WALL STREET.

Speculation Held Back By Doubts as To the Money Future, Etc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—There was little speculation Wednesday that conditions will change in the stock market for some time. The world of capital awaits the solution of the problem in China and the resulting requirements on the world's money markets; the ultimate fate of the crops in the United States, the settlement of the basis on which future business in the iron and steel industry is to be done, and the settling down of political conditions. The future of the money market is especially confusing and complex, and expert opinions differ widely as to the course to be expected. The imminence of European war loans prompts one set of prophets to argue a drain and resulting stringency, while another schools urges that the creation of credits and their prompt outlay will be a relief rather than a detriment to the business and financial world. The expected drain of gold from the United States is halting, and it is not expected now that gold will go out this week. Sterling exchange and London discounts failed to advance, and London exchange in Paris jumped a full centime. The bank of England also reduced its price for American eagles 1/4 penny. Whether this policy indicates a confidence on the part of the English institution that it will secure gold ultimately without offering special inducements remains to be seen. The benefit which the money market has had from the government deficit for July cannot be expected to continue in August. Even for July the $4,000,000 deficit was only about half that for July of last year. The redemption of the old 2 per cents, interest on which ceases on August 18, will be a feature of the month. But of the $19,000,000 of these outstanding, over $13,000,000 are on deposit in Washington to secure circulation and government deposits. In order to avoid a contraction in circulation and withdrawal of deposits in the banks, these bonds must therefore be replaced by other government bonds for deposit. The net result to the money market will therefore be small. The generally firm undertone of the stock market Wednesday was in sympathy with strength in special stocks. Tuesday's dividend action in Union Pacific and in the expectation of a dividend declaration today on Baltimore and Ohio helped these stocks. The early bears in sugar became skeptical of the alleged renewal of the trade war and covered their sales.

The Republic steel stocks and steel hoop declined on stories of pending labor troubles, but the other steel stocks were rather firm. Other stocks played unimportant parts in the trading.

The bond market continued dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $657,000.

U. S. ref 2s when issued declined 1/2 and the old 3s and 5s 1/4 on the last call.

TYPHOID AND PNEUMONIA.

Both Were Reported Prevalent At Cape Nome—Smallpox Was Under Control.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Special agent Dunham, in charge of the census of Alaska, in a letter received by Director Merriam, says regarding the conditions of Cape Nome:

"St. Michaels is still quarantined against Nome, and there is no travel between the two points. Six vessels are now in quarantine at Egg Island. The latest reports from Nome indicate that the smallpox is under control. Typhoid fever and pneumonia are prevalent and it is feared that many deaths will occur during the summer as a result of the epidemic."

Periodical Famines Expected.

Since the first great famine of which there are records devastated the land in 1770, when 10,000,000 perished in Bengal alone, India has scarcely passed a decade free from scarcity of grain in one district or another. The British government expects a drought about twice in every nine years, a famine once in every 11 or 12 years and a great famine about twice in a century.—Review of Reviews.

Tobacco.

Numerous observations prove that the use of tobacco is a potent cause of disease of the eye. Total blindness from degeneration of the optic nerve has been traced to this cause. Recent observations point to tobacco and alcohol as the great causes of color blindness, and this accounts for the fact that it is much more common in men than in women.—Health Culture.

CHINA IS GUILTY.

London Times Correspondent Reveals the Truth.

PEKIN LETTER DATED JULY 21.

Dr. Morrison said the cowardly Chinese Generals were lauded in Imperial Decrees—Casualties 56, Seven Americans Being Among Them.

London, Aug. 2.—Dr. George Ernest Morrison, the Pekin correspondent of the Times, has been heard from direct.
The Times this morning printed the following dispatch from him, dated July 21:

"There has been no cessation of hostilities here (Pekin) since July 18; but for fear of treachery there has been no relaxation of vigilance. The Chinese soldiers continue to strengthen the barricades around the besieged area and also the batteries on top of the imperial city wall, but in the meantime they have discontinued firing probably because they are short of ammunition.

"The main bodies of the imperial soldiers have left Pekin in order to meet the relief forces. Supplies are beginning to come in and the condition of the besieged is improving. The wounded are doing well. Our hospital arrangements are admirable and 150 cases have passed through the hospital.

"The Tsung-Li-Yamen forwarded to Sir Claude MacDonald a copy of a dispatch telegraphed by the emperor to Queen Victoria, attributing all deeds of violence to bandits and requiring her majesty's assistance to extricate
the Chinese government from its difficulties. The queen's reply is not stated, but the Chinese minister at Washington telegraphs that the United States government would gladly assist the Chinese authorities.

"This dispatch to the queen was sent to the Tsung-Li-Yamen:

"The force besieging the legation consists of the imperial troops under General Tung-Lu and General Tung-Fuh-Siang, whose gallantry is applauded in imperial decrees, although it has consisted in bombarding for one month defenseless women and children cooped up in the legation compound, using shell, shrapnel, round shot and expanding bullets."

"They posted proclamations assuring us of protection and the same night they made a general attack in the hope of surprising us.

"There is still no news of Pei Tang cathedral. The wounded number 138, including the American surgeon, Lippitt, severely wounded and Captain Myers, who is doing well. Seven Americans have been killed.

"All the ministers and members of the legations and members of their families are in good health. The general health of the community is excellent and we are contentedly awaiting relief."

After enumerating the casualties already reported and giving the total of deaths, including American, as 56, Mr.
Morrison proceeds as follows:

"Chinese undermined the French legation, which is now a ruin; but the French minister, M. Pichon, was not present, having fled for protection to the British legation on the first day of the siege.

"The greatest peril we suffered during the siege was from fire, the Chinese in their determination to destroy the British legation burning the adjoining Han-Lin-Yun (national college), one of the most sacred buildings in China, sacrificing the unique library."

CHINESE ARE TRYING TO SAVE THE CAPITAL.

It Sends a Message Showing Attempt to Save Ministers—Thus To Stop Advance.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The Chinese imperial government is putting forth
the most powerful efforts to secure, through negotiations, the abandonment of the international movement upon Pekin. The cablegrams received at the state department from Earl Li Hung Chang all tend to demonstrate his desire to secure the succor of the ministers at Pekin and their delivery at Tien Tsin if this can be safely effected.
Unquestionably a proper assurance of safe delivery of the ministers would have some effect upon the temper of the powers, and it is possible that the United States government would give ear to overtures in that direction were not the attempt made by the Chinese to impose conditions upon the delivery that are altogether objectionable.
Such, for instance, is a stipulation that the Chinese imperial authorities shall

BARONESS VON KETTELER.

be absolved in advance from the consequences of the attempt, and for liability for what has taken place in Pekin.
The first stipulation might be regarded as a direct invitation to the Boxers to murder the ministers on their way to the coast, and, therefore, our government will leave it to Mr. Conger himself whether or not he regards it as safe to leave Pekin, when the opportunity is held out.

Meanwhile there has been no change as to the military program, so far as our government is advised. The senior United States naval officer at Taku already is under most positive instructions to urge a forward movement, these having been sent by Secretary Long just after the receipt of the original Conger message and he was advised also of the intention of the government to add to his force.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Following is what the dispatch from Li Hung Chang, presented to Secretary Hay, contained. It was received by Minister Wu from the Chinese minister in London:

"Just received a telegram from Pao-Ting Fu of the 6th, moon 23rd, day (July 19) that the privy council had that day received an imperial edict as follows:

"We have received the memorial of Li Hung Chang and others imploring us to move to save and protect the ministers of the various nations. Now the ministers are all safe and well, and Li Hung Chang is directed to wire to

VICE ADMIRAL ALEXIEFF.

Yang Yu and others so that they may inform the respective secretaries for foreign affairs accordingly. Respect this."

"This telegram has been delayed in its transmission. The other day I and other viceroys sent a joint memorial, requesting that the different ministers be escorted out of Pekin or that they first be enabled to freely communicate by letter or wire with their respective governments. When an imperial answer is received I will again wire. Communicate this to Minister Yang at St.
Petersburg; Minister Yu at Paris, and Minister Wu at Washington for them to inform secretaries for foreign affairs."

MAY REACH PEKIN WITHIN A WEEK.

Advance Started Yesterday—McDonald Reports All Safe Upon
July 24.

Brussels, Aug. 2.—The Belgian charge d'affaires at Shanghai reported that the allies have begun their march on Pekin and expect to reach the Chinese capital in one week.

London, Aug. 2.—A news agency in a Shanghai dispatch announced that the allies began the advance on Pekin August 1.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The state department has received information which leads it to believe that the Russian vice admiral, Alexieff, has been chosen as commander-in-chief of the allied forces at Tien Tsin.

London Aug. 2.—A Che Foo dispatch says that the Russians occupied Shan-Hai-Kwan. The Chinese evacuated the place, offering no resistance. Shan Hai-Kwan is a few hundred miles south of Taku, near the coast terminus of the great Chinese wall. The place has been mentioned as a suitable starting place for an advance on Pekin in conjunction with a column from Tien Tsin.

London, Aug. 2.—There comes from the Belgian charge d'affaires at Shanghai an official statement that the allies are expected to reach Pekin in about a week, they being 18 miles from Tien Tsin yesterday.

Another letter has been received at Tien Tsin from the British minister,
Sir Claude MacDonald, dated July 24.
"We are surrounded by imperial troops," he writes, "who are firing on us continually. The enemy is enterprising but cowardly. We have provisions for about a fortnight and are eating our ponies."

"The Chinese government, if there be one, has done nothing whatever to help us. If the Chinese do not press the attack we can hold out for, say, 10 days. So no time should be lost, if a terrible massacre is to be avoided."

Death of a Missionary Reported.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 2.—Word was received here of the death at Macao, China, of Miss Agnes M. Cooney, a missionary of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. When the Boxers outbreak started she was at Kwei-Ping, in Kwang Si province, and left for Macao.

SHOT FOR A KING.

Attempt To Kill Alexandria of Servia.

ESCAPED WITHOUT A WOUND.

During a Demonstration of Welcome to King Victor Emanuel Two Strangers
Cried Out For Anarchy and Were Nearly Mobbed—Threats Against the Kaiser.

London, Aug. 2.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, writing yesterday, said:

"A rumor has reached here from Bel-gad that an attempt was made to assassinate King Alexander this afternoon while he was driving through the own. It is said he was shot at, but town. It is said he was shot at, but

Monza, Aug. 2.—King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena of Italy arrived here in company with the ministers, who met them at Rome.

In the midst of a touching demonstration of welcome to King Victor Emanuel two strangers cried "Viva l'Anarchia!" They were arrested and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the furious crowd.

An Elberfeld dispatch announces the arrest there of Giuseppe Bernhardt, accused of declaring that Emperor William's turn to be assassinated would come next. He denied the charge, but it is believed that he is an anarchist.

Rome, Aug. 2.—In the course of his examination Bressi did not deny that he had been designated to assassinate King Humbert. It is now believed here that the crime was arranged in Paterson, N. J.

A man named Salvatore Quintavelli, who returned from the United States with Bressi and accompanied him to an anarchist meeting in Paris, has been arrested at the Rio Marina, on the island of Elba. The police found on him letters and photographs of Anarchists. Anton Lanner, who accompanied Bressi from the United States, has been arrested at Ivrea. In consequence of these arrests the belief in the existence of a plot is increasing.

When Quintavelli was arrested at Porto Ferrajo, a large crowd tried to take him from the officers to lynch him. He was taken to prison with difficulty.

Bressi's brother, who is a lieutenant in the Italian army, stigmatizes the crime as the most cowardly act of the century. He had had no news of his brother for a long time, and thought he was still in the United States.

Parliament has been summoned to meet August 5. It is stated that Queen Margherita will arrive at Strela to live

ALEXANDER, KING OF SERVIA.

with her mother. The clergy of Monza and throughout Italy are holding memorial services to-day.

Great excitement is reported at Milan. The troops are in readiness at their barracks to prevent a disturbance. A score of prominent anarchists have been arrested. The police are active and other arrests are expected.

METHODISTS IN PEKIN.

A Message Received Indicating That Is Are There—Pao Ting Fu Missionaries Murdered.

New York, Aug. 2.—The Rev. Dr.
A. B. Leonard, of the Methodist Missionary society received the following cablegram from the Rev. Frederick Brown, at Che Foo:

"Family Gamewell, Walker, men, Hobart, King, Varity, David, George,
Mrs. Jewell, Edward, Miss Gloss, Terrell, Martins, Gilman Terry. 18 Peking. Men, Pyke, Martin, Edward, Self, Benn, Tien Tsin, others going home."

Dr. Leonard interprets this as meaning that 18 persons of the Methodist colony are in Peking. These include the families of F. D. Gamewell and W.
F. Walker, W. T. Hobart, H. E. King,
George W. Vorty, George R. Davis,
George D. B. Lowry, Mrs. Charlotte
Jewell, Mrs. Edward K. Lowry, Miss Anna D. Gloss, Miss Alice Terrell, the Misses Elizabeth and Emma Martin,
Miss Gertrude Gilman and Miss Edna G. Terry. He understands also that there are at Tien Tsin, James H. Pyke, Victor Martin, Edward K. Lowry and Frederick Brown and Miss Rachel B.
Benn. The following have started
home:

J. F. Hayner and wife, N. S. Hopkins and wife, Ida M. Stevenson, Frances O. Wilson, Ella J. Glover, Miranda Groucher and Mary E. Shockley.

A cablegram was received by Rev.
Dr. Arthur C. Brown, of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, from Rev. W. O. Elterich. It came from Che Foo and was as follows:

"People Peking holding out. Report Shanghai missionaries Pao Ting Fu massacred. Che Foo situation unchanged. Continued persecution Christians."

Miners Went Armed to Work.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 2.—Heavily armed and with each man a deputy sheriff, 800 miners went to work to-day in the Georges Creek region. The sheriff, with a posse, will remain on duty all night, for while there were but two disturbances to-day, the outlook for to-morrow is serious.

Nicaragua Canal Seized.

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 2.—The government of Nicaragua has taken possession of the property of the Maritime Canal Company and removed the company's cars, rails and property to the interior from Greytown under article 54 of the constitution.

OHIO IN CONGRESS FROM 1803 TO 1901.

WILLIAM MEDILL.

William Medill was born in the state of Delaware about the year 1800, and located and began the practice of the law at Lancaster, Ohio, in 1832, and was soon recognized as one of the Democratic leaders of the state. He died at Lancaster in 1865. He represented Fairfield county in the lower house of the legislature from 1835 to 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Ninth district, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan and Hocking counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the same district in 1840. For a number of years he was Indian agent at Washington, and introduced many humane reforms into that department.

He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1857 and largely shaped the second constitution. He was chosen lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, along with Reuben Wood, governor, at the October election, 1851, and in July, 1853, when Governor Wood resigned to become consul to Valparaiso, Chili, became acting governor. In 1853 he was elected governor over Nelson Barrere, Whig, by a vote of 147,663 to 132,523, and in 1855 was defeated for the same office by Salmon P. Chase, by a vote of 146,770 to 131,019. He was appointed first comptroller of the United States treasury in 1860 by President James Buchanan.

JOHN HASTINGS

Was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress in 1838 from the Seventeenth district, Columbiana county, and re-elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840 from the same district. He was an attorney and business man of prominence, and returned to the pursuits of private life after his services in congress. Born in 1788. Died in Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 29, 1854.

DAVID A. STARKWEATHER.

David A. Starkweather represented Stark county in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies, as a member of the senate in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth, beginning his legislative services in 1832, and ending them in 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Eighteenth district, comprising Stark and Wayne counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh from the same district in 1840. He was a Democrat, and a leading attorney at the Stark county bar, and enjoyed the confidence of the community to the fullest degree. He was a minister to Chili from 1834 to 1857. He was born in Connecticut in 1790, and died about 1864.

NATHANIEL GREENE PENDLETON

Nathaniel G. Pendleton was the son of a prominent Revolutionary officer on the staff of General Nathaniel Greene, and was named in honor of that distinguished Revolutionary hero. Unlike his distinguished son, George Hunt Pendleton, he was not given to politics. He served a single term in congress, being elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840, from the First district, Hamilton county. He was born in Savannah, Georgia, his father, Colonel Pendleton, being a Virginian, Aug. 24, 1793, and emigrated to Ohio when a young man, locating in Cincinnati, where he died June 15, 1861.

BENJAMIN S. COWEN.

Benjamin S. Cowen represented Belmont county in the lower house of the legislature from 1844 to 1847, having previously been elected in 1840 from the Eleventh district, Guernsey and Belmont counties, to the Twenty-seventh congress.

He was born in Washington county, New York, Sept. 27, 1792. He studied law and was admitted to the bar. He came to Ohio when a young man, and was for some years prosecuting attorney of Monroe county. Later he located at St. Clairsville, where he died Sept. 27, 1869. He was a Whig and afterward a Republican.

JOSHUA MATHIOT

Of Licking county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Twelfth district, embracing Licking and Muskingum counties. Mr. Mathiot had few, if any, political ambitions, and his election to congress was in the nature of a compliment to his sterling virtues as a citizen. He was among the early pioneer settlers of Licking county. He was born in Ohio in 1790, and died in Newark July 30, 1849.

JAMES MATTHEWS

Was a highly respected citizen of Coshocton county, who served his people acceptably in both branches of the legislature and in congress. He served two terms in the house from 1831 to 1833, and from 1837 to 1840; he served in the senate during the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth sessions of the general assembly. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Thirteenth district, containing the counties of Coshocton, Knox, Tuscarawas and Holmes. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth, in 1842, from the same district. He was one of the pioneers of Coshocton county, and did much toward promoting the interests of the community in which he resided. He was born in Ohio in 1800.

SHERLOCK J. ANDREWS

Of Cuyahoga county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Fifteenth district, comprising the counties of Cuyahoga, Lorain, Portage and Medina. He was born in Wallingford, Connecticut, Nov. 17, 1801, and graduated from Union college in 1821. In 1825 he migrated to Cleveland, where he rose to distinction in the legal profession. He was elected judge of the superior court of that city in 1848 by the legislature, and was elected judge of the court of common pleas, under the second constitution, in 1857, and continued to hold that office until 1873, and was noted for the force and clearness of his judicial decisions. He came within four votes of being elected United States senator in the heated contest of 1851, which finally terminated in the election of Benjamin F. Wade.

EZRA DEAN.

Ezra Dean of Wayne county, a leading lawyer in the northern part of the state, was elected president judge of the Eleventh circuit by the legislature in 1824, and served until 1841.

In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Eleventh district, comprising Wayne and Stark counties. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the same district.

Judge Dean was born in Hillsdale, New York, April 9, 1795. He was a soldier in the War of 1812. He located at Wooster in 1822. He was one of the president judges of the court of common pleas under the first constitution. He died in Wooster Jan. 25, 1872. In his political affiliations he was a Democrat.

SAMUEL STOKELY

General Samuel Stokely, a citizen of Jefferson county, enjoying local prominence, represented the voters of that constituency in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh general assemblies as a member of the senate. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Nineteenth district, Jefferson and Harrison counties. He was a major general of militia, took part in the War of 1812, being one of the pioneer settlers in eastern Ohio. He was a lawyer of much prominence and had a wide practice, and to this he devoted his best energies.

ROBERT C. SCHENCK.

Robert Cumming Schenck was of Dutch descent. His father, Roeloff Martenese Schenck, a native of Holland, served on the staff of General Harrison, and died in 1821. Robert became the ward of General James Findlay and was graduated from the Miami university, at Oxford, in 1827, and remained as a tutor in that institution until 1830, when he was admitted to the bar and began the practice at Dayton. He was an ardent advocate of the doctrines and principles of the Whig party, and became a Republican when that party was organized.

He entered public life in 1841, when he became a member of the Ohio house of representatives and served two terms. In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Third district, composed of the counties of Montgomery, Warren, Clinton and Greene, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth in 1844, to the Thirtieth in 1846, and the Thirty-first in 1848, from the same district.

In 1851, upon the expiration of his fourth term in congress, President Millard Fillmore appointed him as minister to Brazil, where he represented the United States government to the satisfaction of both, and largely contributed to the negotiation of a treaty of peace and amity between the republics of Paraguay, Uruguay and Argentine. He returned to the United States in 1853, and for several years took but little part in politics.

At the outbreak of the Civil war he entered the service as a brigadier general, and served in the West Virginia campaign under Generals Rosecrans and McDowell. He commanded a division at the second battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded in the right arm, that member becoming useless during the rest of his life. Though dangerously wounded, he refused to be removed from the field until his sword, which had been lost when he fell, was found and restored to him, and he carried it from the field. He was invalided until December, 1862, when he was promoted to major general and took command of the Middle division of the Eighth corps, with headquarters at Baltimore. As a soldier he was courageous, brilliant and dashing.

In 1862 he was elected to the Thirty-seventh congress from the Third district, Montgomery, Preble, Butler and Warren counties, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth in 1864, the Fortieth in 1866, from the same district, and the Forty-first in 1868. In congress he was a conspicuous figure, and James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years in Congress," said of him: "Robert C. Schenck was an invaluable addition to the house. He was at once placed at the head of the committee on military affairs, then of superlative importance, and subsequently made chairman of ways and means, succeeding Mr. Stevens in the undoubted leadership of the house. He was admirably fitted for the arduous and difficult duty. His perceptions were keen, his analysis was extraordinarily rapid, his power of expression remarkable. On his feet, as the phrase went, he had no equal in the house. In five minutes' discussion in committee of the whole he was an intellectual marvel. The compactness and clearness of his statement, the facts and arguments which he could marshal in that brief time were a constant surprise and delight to his hearers. No man in congress during the present generation has rivaled his singular power in this respect."

"He was able in every form of discussion, but his peculiar gift was in leading and controlling the committee of the whole."

In 1871 General Schenck was appointed by General Grant minister to Great Britain, in which capacity he served with distinction until 1876. It was during this period that he was appointed a member on behalf of the United States of the celebrated joint high commission, which assembled at Washington and effected a treaty providing for the Geneva conference, a measure which, by the substitution of arbitration for war in the settlement of a serious controversy between two powerful and warlike nations, marked an era in the development of the spirit of a true Christian civilization. He took but little part in politics after his return from England, but devoted his attention to the practice of the law in Washington, D. C.

He was born in Franklin, Warren county, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1809, and died at Washington, D. C., March 23, 1890.

EMORY D. POTTER.

For more than half a century Emory D. Potter of Lucas county was one of the most prominent Democratic citizens and lawyers in the northwestern part of the state. In 1838 he was elected president judge of the Thirteenth circuit, and he held that office until he entered congress.

In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Fifth district, embracing the counties of Lucas, Mercer, Van Wert, Paulding, Williams, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Shelby and Hardin.

He did not seek a re-election, and in 1847 was sent as a representative to the Fifty-sixth general assembly of Ohio. In 1848 he was elected to the Thirty-first congress from the Fifth district as above. In 1873 he was elected to the Ohio senate of the Sixty-first general assembly from the Thirty-third district, composed of Hancock, Wood, Lucas, Fulton, Henry and Putnam counties. During the last 30 years of his life he served on the various boards of trustees of the different public institutions of the state. He was born in Providence, Rhode Island, in 1804, and settled at Toledo early in the century.

HENRY ST. JOHN.

Henry St. John of Seneca county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1842 from the Sixth district, composed of the counties of Seneca, Wood, Hancock, Crawford, Sandusky and Ottawa, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth congress from the same district.

JOSEPH J. McDOWELL.

General Joseph J. McDowell was born in North Carolina Nov. 13, 1800, and came to Ohio when a young man, locating at Hillsboro, in Highland county, where he entered upon the practice of the law. For nearly 40 years he was one of the prominent Democratic leaders in the state, whose counsel was eagerly sought by his political associates. He died in Hillsboro, Jan. 17, 1877.

His father, a Virginian, was an officer in the War of the Revolution, and the younger man imbibed the military spirit from him. He was active in the organization of the military forces of the state, saw service in the War of 1812, and became a major general in the state military establishment.

He represented Highland county in the house in the Thirty-first general assembly in 1832-1833, and in the senate in 1833-1834-1835. He was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the Seventh district, Highland, Clermont and Brown, and was re-elected from the same district in 1844 to the Twenty-ninth congress.

OHIO IN CONGRESS FROM 1803 TO 1901.

WILLIAM MEDILL.

William Medill was born in the state of Delaware about the year 1800, and located and began the practice of the law at Lancaster, Ohio, in 1832, and was soon recognized as one of the Democratic leaders of the state. He died at Lancaster in 1865. He represented Fairfield county in the lower house of the legislature from 1835 to 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Ninth district, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan and Hocking counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the same district in 1840. For a number of years he was Indian agent at Washington, and introduced many humane reforms into that department.

He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1857 and largely shaped the second constitution. He was chosen lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, along with Reuben Wood, governor, at the October election, 1851, and in July, 1853, when Governor Wood resigned to become consul to Valparaiso, Chili, became acting governor. In 1853 he was elected governor over Nelson Barrere, Whig, by a vote of 147,663 to 132,523, and in 1855 was defeated for the same office by Salmon P. Chase, by a vote of 146,770 to 131,019. He was appointed first comptroller of the United States treasury in 1860 by President James Buchanan.

JOHN HASTINGS

Was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress in 1838 from the Seventeenth district, Columbiana county, and re-elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840 from the same district. He was an attorney and business man of prominence, and returned to the pursuits of private life after his services in congress. Born in 1788. Died in Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 29, 1854.

DAVID A. STARKWEATHER.

David A. Starkweather represented Stark county in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies, as a member of the senate in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth, beginning his legislative services in 1832, and ending them in 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Eighteenth district, comprising Stark and Wayne counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh from the same district in 1840. He was a Democrat, and a leading attorney at the Stark county bar, and enjoyed the confidence of the community to the fullest degree. He was a minister to Chili from 1854 to 1857. He was born in Connecticut in 1790, and died about 1864.

NATHANIEL GREENE PENDLETON

Nathaniel G. Pendleton was the son of a prominent Revolutionary officer on the staff of General Nathaniel Greene, and was named in honor of that distinguished Revolutionary hero. Unlike his distinguished son, George Hunt Pendleton, he was not given to politics. He served a single term in congress, being elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840, from the First district, Hamilton county. He was born in Savannah, Georgia, his father, Colonel Pendleton, being a Virginian, Aug. 24, 1793, and emigrated to Ohio when a young man, locating in Cincinnati, where he died June 15, 1861.

BENJAMIN S. COWEN.

Benjamin S. Cowen represented Belmont county in the lower house of the legislature from 1844 to 1847, having previously been elected in 1840 from the Eleventh district, Guernsey and Belmont counties, to the Twenty-seventh congress.

He was born in Washington county, New York, Sept. 27, 1792. He studied law and was admitted to the bar. He came to Ohio when a young man, and was for some years prosecuting attorney of Monroe county. Later he located at St. Clairsville, where he died Sept. 27, 1869. He was a Whig and afterward a Republican.

JOSHUA MATHIOT

Of Licking county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Twelfth district, embracing Licking and Muskingum counties. Mr. Mathiot had few, if any, political ambitions, and his election to congress was in the nature of a compliment to his sterling virtues as a citizen. He was among the early pioneer settlers of Licking county. He was born in Ohio in 1790, and died in Newark July 30, 1849.

JAMES MATTHEWS

Was a highly respected citizen of Coshocton county, who served his people acceptably in both branches of the legislature and in congress. He served two terms in the house from 1831 to 1833, and from 1837 to 1840; he served in the senate during the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth sessions of the general assembly. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Thirteenth district, containing the counties of Coshocton, Knox, Tuscarawas and Holmes. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth, in 1842, from the same district. He was one of the pioneers of Coshocton county, and did much toward promoting the interests of the community in which he resided. He was born in Ohio in 1800.

SHERLOCK J. ANDREWS

Of Cuyahoga county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Fifteenth district, comprising the counties of Cuyahoga, Lorain, Portage and Medina. He was born in Wallingford, Connecticut, Nov. 17, 1801, and graduated from Union college in 1821. In 1825 he migrated to Cleveland, where he rose to distinction in the legal profession. He was elected judge of the superior court of that city in 1848 by the legislature, and was elected judge of the court of common pleas, under the second constitution, in 1857, and continued to hold that office until 1873, and was noted for the force and clearness of his judicial decisions. He came within four votes of being elected United States senator in the heated contest of 1851, which finally terminated in the election of Benjamin F. Wade.

EZRA DEAN.

Ezra Dean of Wayne county, a leading lawyer in the northern part of the state, was elected president judge of the Eleventh circuit by the legislature in 1834, and served until 1841.

In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Eighteenth district, comprising Wayne and Stark counties. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the same district.

Judge Dean was born in Hillsdale, New York, April 9, 1795. He was a soldier in the War of 1812. He located at Wooster in 1822. He was one of the president judges of the court of common pleas under the first constitution. He died in Wooster Jan. 25, 1872. In his political affiliations he was a Democrat.

SAMUEL STOKELY

General Samuel Stokely, a citizen of Jefferson county, enjoying local prominence, represented the voters of that constituency in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh general assemblies as a member of the senate. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Nineteenth district, Jefferson and Harrison counties. He was a major general of militia, took part in the War of 1812, being one of the pioneer settlers in eastern Ohio. He was a lawyer of much prominence and had a wide practice, and to this he devoted his best energies.

ROBERT C. SCHENCK.

Robert Cumming Schenck was of Dutch descent. His father, Roeloff Martenese Schenck, a native of Holland, served on the staff of General Harrison, and died in 1821. Robert became the ward of General James Findlay and was graduated from the Miami university, at Oxford, in 1827, and remained as a tutor in that institution until 1830, when he was admitted to the bar and began the practice at Dayton. He was an ardent advocate of the doctrines and principles of the Whig party, and became a Republican when that party was organized.

He entered public life in 1841, when he became a member of the Ohio house of representatives and served two terms. In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Third district, composed of the counties of Montgomery, Warren, Clinton and Greene, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth in 1844, to the Thirtieth in 1846, and the Thirty-first in 1848, from the same district.

In 1851, upon the expiration of his fourth term in congress, President Millard Fillmore appointed him as minister to Brazil, where he represented the United States government to the satisfaction of both, and largely contributed to the negotiation of a treaty of peace and amity between the republics of Paraguay, Uruguay and Argentine. He returned to the United States in 1853, and for several years took but little part in politics.

At the outbreak of the Civil war he entered the service as a brigadier general, and served in the West Virginia campaign under Generals Rosecrans and McDowell. He commanded a division at the second battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded in the right arm, that member becoming useless during the rest of his life. Though dangerously wounded, he refused to be removed from the field until his sword, which had been lost when he fell, was found and restored to him, and he carried it from the field. He was invalided until December, 1862, when he was promoted to major general and took command of the Middle division of the Eighth corps, with headquarters at Baltimore. As a soldier he was courageous, brilliant and dashing.

In 1862 he was elected to the Thirty-seventh congress from the Third district, Montgomery, Preble, Butler and Warren counties, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth in 1864, the Fortieth in 1866, from the same district, and the Forty-first in 1868. In congress he was a conspicuous figure, and James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years in Congress," said of him:

"Robert C. Schenck was an invaluable addition to the house. He was at once placed at the head of the committee on military affairs, then of superlative importance, and subsequently made chairman of ways and means, succeeding Mr. Stevens in the undoubted leadership of the house. He was admirably fitted for the arduous and difficult duty. His perceptions were keen, his analysis was extraordinarily rapid, his power of expression remarkable. On his feet, as the phrase went, he had no equal in the house. In five minutes' discussion in committee of the whole he was an intellectual marvel. The compactness and clearness of his statement, the facts and arguments which he could marshal in that brief time were a constant surprise and delight to his hearers. No man in congress during the present generation has rivaled his singular power in this respect.

"He was able in every form of discussion, but his peculiar gift was in leading and controlling the committee of the whole."

In 1871 General Schenck was appointed by General Grant minister to Great Britain, in which capacity he served with distinction until 1876. It was during this period that he was appointed a member on behalf of the United States of the celebrated joint high commission, which assembled at Washington and effected a treaty providing for the Geneva conference, a measure which, by the substitution of arbitration for war in the settlement of a serious controversy between two powerful and warlike nations, marked an era in the development of the spirit of a true Christian civilization.

He took but little part in politics after his return from England, but devoted his attention to the practice of the law in Washington, D. C.

He was born in Franklin, Warren county, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1809, and died at Washington, D. C., March 23, 1890.

Indian Compositions.

New "composition" stories are furnished by two young Indians whose efforts in this difficult line are reported by The Southern Workman.

The subject assigned to the first boy was the life of General Armstrong. Referring to the general's boyhood among the idolatrous, ancestor worshipping natives of the Hawaiian Islands, he wrote as follows:

"The people of the Sandwich Islands worshiped the idols of their aunts' sisters."

The second boy, a member of the same class, writing upon a different phase of the same subject, got the city of Washington confused with the man for whom the city was named. Referring to the retirement of General Armstrong from the service after the war, he said:

"When General Armstrong finished the war, he wrote to Washington and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him."

Remembered the One at Home.

A Lebanon man tells the following for a fact: One day a Linn county farmer bought a banana at his store. The first one he had ever eaten. After finishing it he threw the peel on the floor. After gazing at it a moment he picked it up and wrapped it in a piece of paper and remarked:

"Guess I'll take that home to my wife and let her see what a banana looks like. She never seed one."

And the man had an income of several thousand dollars a year.—Portland Oregonian.

Speculation Held Back By Doubts as To the Money Future, Etc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—There was little speculation Wednesday that conditions will change in the stock market for some time. The world of capital awaits the solution of the problem in China and the resulting requirements on the world's money markets; the ultimate fate of the crops in the United States, the settlement of the basis on which future business in the iron and steel industry is to be done, and the settling down of political conditions. The future of the money market is especially confusing and complex, and expert opinions differ widely as to the course to be expected. The imminence of European war loans prompts one set of prophets to argue a drain and resulting stringency, while another school urges that the creation of credits and their prompt outlay will be a relief rather than a detriment to the business and financial world. The expected drain of gold from the United States is halting, and it is not expected now that gold will go out this week. Sterling exchange and London discounts failed to advance, and London exchange in Paris jumped a full centime. The bank of England also reduced its price for American eagles 1/4 penny. Whether this policy indicates a confidence on the part of the English institution that it will secure gold ultimately without offering special inducements remains to be seen. The benefit which the money market has had from the government deficit for July cannot be expected to continue in August. Even for July the $4,000,000 deficit was only about half that for July of last year. The redemption of the old 2 per cents, interest on which ceases on August 18, will be a feature of the month. But of the $19,000,000 of these outstanding, over $13,000,000 are on deposit in Washington to secure circulation and government deposits. In order to avoid a contraction in circulation and withdrawal of deposits in the banks, these bonds must therefore be replaced by other government bonds for deposit. The net result to the money market will therefore be small. The generally firm undertone of the stock market Wednesday was in sympathy with strength in special stocks. Tuesday's dividend action in Union Pacific and in the expectation of a dividend declaration today on Baltimore and Ohio helped these stocks. The early bears in

sugar became skeptical of the alleged renewal of the trade war and covered their sales.

The Republic steel stocks and steel hoop declined on stories of pending labor troubles, but the other steel stocks were rather firm. Other stocks played unimportant parts in the trading.

The bond market continued dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $657,000.

U. S. ref 2s when issued declined 1/2 and the old 3s and 5s 1/4 on the last call.

TYPHOID AND PNEUMONIA.

Both Were Reported Prevalent At Cape Nome—Smallpox Was Under Control.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Special agent Dunham, in charge of the census of Alaska, in a letter received by Director Merriam, says regarding the conditions of Cape Nome:

"St. Michaels is still quarantined against Nome, and there is no travel between the two points. Six vessels are now in quarantine at Egg Island. The latest reports from Nome indicate that the smallpox is under control. Typhoid fever and pneumonia are prevalent and it is feared that many deaths will occur during the summer as a result of the epidemic."

Periodical Famines Expected.

Since the first great famine of which there are records devastated the land in 1770, when 10,000,000 perished in Bengal alone, India has scarcely passed a decade free from scarcity of grain in one district or another. The British government expects a drought about twice in every nine years, a famine once in every 11 or 12 years and a great famine about twice in a century.—Review of Reviews.

Tobacco.

Numerous observations prove that the use of tobacco is a potent cause of disease of the eye. Total blindness from degeneration of the optic nerve has been traced to this cause. Recent observations point to tobacco and alcohol as the great causes of color blindness, and this accounts for the fact that it is much more common in men than in women.—Health Culture.

Indian Compositions.

New "composition" stories are furnished by two young Indians whose efforts in this difficult line are reported by The Southern Workman.

The subject assigned to the first boy was the life of General Armstrong. Referring to the general's boyhood among the idolatrous, ancestor worshipping natives of the Hawaiian Islands, he wrote as follows:

"The people of the Sandwich Islands worshiped the idols of their aunts' sisters."

The second boy, a member of the same class, writing upon a different phase of the same subject, got the city of Washington confused with the man for whom the city was named. Referring to the retirement of General Armstrong from the service after the war, he said:

"When General Armstrong finished the war, he wrote to Washington and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him."

Remembered the One at Home.

A Lebanon man tells the following for a fact: One day a Linn county farmer bought a banana at his store, the first one he had ever eaten. After finishing it he threw the peel on the floor. After gazing at it a moment he picked it up and wrapped it in a piece of paper and remarked:

"Guess I'll take that home to my wife and let her see what a banana looks like. She never seed one."

And the man had an income of several thousand dollars a year.—Portland Oregonian.

Speculation Held Back By Doubts as To the Money Future, Etc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—There was little speculation Wednesday that conditions will change in the stock market for some time. The world of capital awaits the solution of the problem in China and the resulting requirements on the world's money markets; the ultimate fate of the crops in the United States, the settlement of the basis on which future business in the iron and steel industry is to be done, and the settling down of political conditions. The future of the money market is especially confusing and complex, and expert opinions differ widely as to the course to be expected. The imminence of European war loans prompts one set of prophets to argue a drain and resulting stringency, while another schools urges that the creation of credits and their prompt outlay will be a relief rather than a detriment to the business and financial world. The expected drain of gold from the United States is halting, and it is not expected now that gold will go out this week. Sterling exchange and London discounts failed to advance, and London exchange in Paris jumped a full centime. The bank of England also reduced its price for American eagles 1/4 penny. Whether this policy indicates a confidence on the part of the English institution that it will secure gold ultimately without offering special inducements remains to be seen. The benefit which the money market has had from the government deficit for July cannot be expected to continue in August. Even for July the $4,000,000 deficit was only about half that for July of last year. The redemption of the old 2 per cents, interest on which ceases on August 18, will be a feature of the month. The net result to the money market will therefore be small. The generally firm undertone of the stock market Wednesday was in sympathy with strength in special stocks. Tuesday's dividend action in Union Pacific and in the expectation of a dividend declaration today on Baltimore and Ohio helped these stocks. The early bears in

sugar became skeptical of the alleged renewal of the trade war and covered their sales.

The Republic steel stocks and steel hoop declined on stories of pending labor troubles, but the other steel stocks were rather firm. Other stocks played unimportant parts in the trading.

The bond market continued dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $657,000.

U. S. ref 2s when issued declined 1/2 and the old 3s and 5s 1/4 on the last call.

THE EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16 EAR. NO. 46.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1900.

TWO CENTS

ORRICK DIED IN CITY JAIL

He Was Old and Homeless and There Was No Place Else to Take Him.

RECEIVED THE BEST OF CARE

But He Was Past Medical Aid and His Soul Took Flight Last Night.

WAS BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

No better argument in favor of a hospital in this city could be advanced than the fact that poor old homeless and helpless Tommy Orrick died last night in the city jail simply because there was nowhere else to take him when he became ill yesterday morning.

Orrick has for several years been a well known character about the city, but lately has been homeless, ill and penniless and has been eking out a hand to mouth existence by doing odd chores about the saloons. Yesterday morning Sam Whittenberger gave him his breakfast and advised him to go to the county infirmary. He promised to go and walked into the saloon of Erbstein, where he remained for a short time before going out in the alley.

Shortly after he reached the alley he dropped to the ground and Erbstein and Whittenberger carried him into the wine room of the saloon and a physician was summoned. It did not take the physician long to determine that Orrick's days were numbered and the patrol was called and he was taken to the city hall and made as comfortable as possible in cell No. 1.

The township physician, Dr. Shay, was called and Orrick received the best of medical attention, the township trustees taking care of him and a nurse being with him all the time. He died last night between 6 and 7 o'clock and his death was due to apoplexy. He was buried this afternoon in Spring Grove cemetery.

Orrick was aged 72 years, was born in West Virginia and was raised in Steubenville. He served during the war of the rebellion under Alex McCook in the First Ohio volunteer infantry. Before the war he was steward on the steamboat Arctic, which plied between Pittsburg and New Orleans. In his earlier days when he was prosperous he was one of the best known and well liked men in Steubenville, and while he was old and had no one to care for him, at the time of his death, many people will remember Tom Orrick in his palmy days as their friend and comrade.

THEY DIDN'T FIT.

Edwin Kinney Entered Suit to Recover the Amount He Paid for a Pair of Trousers.

An action was filed in Justice McLane's court yesterday by Edwin Kinney, of West Market street, against C. Livingston.

Kinney purchased a pair of pants at the store and upon trying them on afterward found they did not fit. He returned them to Livingston, but could not get his money back. Hence the action.

The justice issued a summons requiring the clothier to appear in court Saturday at 1 o'clock, at which time the case will be heard.

BROKE HIS ARM.

THE RIDE OF EARL STRAUSS WAS EXPENSIVE.

Boarded a Freight Car at East End and Hit a Switch Lock When He Got Off.

Earl Strauss is suffering with a broken arm the result of a ride on a freight train. Strauss, in company with several other young men, boarded a freight at East End for the purpose of riding to this city. When Thompson's pottery was reached the train was running at a rapid rate of speed, but all the young men except Strauss alighted in safety. He was thrown against a switch lock, breaking his left arm above the elbow.

THREE DEAD MEN

Were Named Yesterday as Trustees of Neville Institute—How the Mistake Occurred.

Yesterday the court reporter gave the names of George Thompson, George Anderson and Milton Ralston as members of the trustees of Neville institute. The gentlemen have been dead several years and the mistake was made by the clerk in the office of the probate judge getting an old list.

The list of trustees is as follows:

W. C. Thompson, W. A. Andrews, H. J. Abrams, J. H. Smith, jr., W. M. Calhoun and T. H. Fisher. They will probably meet next week to organize.

ADMITTED TO PROBATE.

The Will of the Late Nicholas Geon Was Filed at Lisbon This Morning.

Lisbon, August 2.—(Special.)—The will of the late Nicholas Geon, of East Liverpool, was admitted to probate this morning and Elizabeth Geon was appointed executor with $16,000 bond. Thomas Plunkett, Thomas Collins and John Ryan were chosen to appraise the estate.

The will of Eliza Dibble, late of Lisbon, was filed for probate and the application will be heard on August 7. The entire estate is willed to her aunts, Miss Mary Dibble and Mrs. R. B. Pritchard.

LITTLE DAUGHTER

Of Mr. and Mrs. James Logan Run a Splinter Into Her Foot Yesterday.

Yvette, the 3-year-old daughter of James Logan, of Sixth street, ran a splinter an inch long in her foot yesterday.

Dr. Hobbs was called and the child was chloroformed and the splinter removed. She will be unable to walk for several days.

ENTERTAINED.

Master Ralph Shea Yesterday Celebrated His Seventh Birthday.

Ralph Shea yesterday afternoon celebrated his seventh birthday at the home of his parents, Fourth street, at least 30 guests were present and the little folks enjoyed an unexceptionally pleasant afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

A Union Picnic.

The union Sunday schools of Toronto will picnic tomorrow at Rock Springs.

THE DEATH OF THOMAS LLOYD

Deceased Was One of the Most Prominent Residents of the City.

SERVED DURING THE REBELLION

Had Been an Odd Fellow For Fifty Years and Held Responsible Official Positions.

FUNERAL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

In the death of Thomas Lloyd East Liverpool has lost one of her most prominent and best known citizens. He was born in Wellsburg, W. Va., and had he lived until next Sunday would have been 72 years of age.

Mr. Lloyd has been a resident of this city for 20 years, coming here in 1880 from Fairview, W. Va., and has been closely identified with the progress and advancement of the city until a short time ago, when he was attacked with heart disease, which resulted in his death yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Lloyd was a member of the First West Virginia volunteer infantry during the war of the rebellion, serving as first lieutenant until the death of the captain, when he assumed command of the company, and remained in that position until the close of the war, although through some irregularity of the war department he was never commissioned as captain.

Mr. Lloyd was connected with the local branches of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics, having been honored with the highest positions in the gift of the various organization of which he was a member. He joined Iris Lodge, I. O. O. F., Wellsburg, in 1850.

Deceased leaves eight children to mourn his death, his wife having died in 1892. They are: G. W. Lloyd, of Punxsutawney, Pa.; W. C. S. Lloyd, New Kensington; Mrs. M. Wells, Charleroi, Pa.; T. A. Lloyd, Wellsburg; H. D. Lloyd, Washington, Pa.; Ed. M., of Freeport, Pa., and Mary E. and Nellie, who reside here, and were with the deceased during his last illness.

He was township trustee at the time of his death and had served in that capacity for a number of years. He also held the position of wharfmaster until his recent illness. As an official Mr. Lloyd was of the best and filled the positions given him with honor to himself and a credit to his constituents.

The funeral will be in charge of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, assisted by Patriarchs Militant, G. A. R. and American Mechanics. Services will be conducted at the home Friday at 2 p. m.

The remains may be viewed at the home, 259 Fourth street, this evening between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock, and tomorrow from 10 to 11 o'clock.

OUR STREET SWEEPER.

It Was Out Today, And Oh, What a Difference is the Result.

"Cleanliness is akin to godliness." We were forcibly reminded of the quotation this morning as we noted one of our main thoroughfares "before and after." Thank you, Brother Bryan. We shall be glad to see her out often, Alex.

COUNCIL

COUNCIL FIXED DATES FOR COMPLETING IMPROVEMENTS.

Contractors Will Forfeit $25 Per Day If They Don't Finish Up On Time.

After awarding the contracts for paving the streets yesterday afternoon council decided that the contractors must forfeit $25 a day if they did not complete the contracts on time. Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue must be finished by December 1, Robinson street must be finished by September 15 and Kossuth and Pleasant streets must be finished October 1.

It was decided to pave Fourth street to the flint mill, and Rural lane from Jackson street to the east line of the Seanor property. The property owners have signed waivers and asked that the paving be done. A resolution to improve Trentvale street was carried.

There was some talk today that Ryan & Rinehart intended to get out an injunction against the McLaughlins, claiming that their bond was not proper and that their bid was in 12 minutes late.

GRANTED A PENSION.

GOOD FORTUNE OF A FORMER COMPANY E MAN.

Receives Notice That Uncle Sam Will Pay Him the Sum of $8 Per Month.

Squire Rose today was notified that Harry Farmer, of this city, had been granted a pension of $8 per month, with back pay from January 31, 1899.

Farmer served during the Spanish-American war as a member of Company E, Eighth Ohio volunteer infantry, and accompanied the regiment to Cuba, where he contracted the disease for which he has been granted the pension.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

Harry France Didn't Like the City Jail And Left It in a Hurry.

Harry France, who was arrested in East End today on a charge of drunk and disorderly, made a claim that he was ill when he arrived at the city jail and he was not locked up. He recovered in a remarkably short time and took French leave, but Chief Thompson recaptured him and he is now in jail safe and sound.

—Mrs. J. A. Goode is spending several weeks at Bedford Springs.

—Mrs. John H. Brown returned home yesterday from a visit at Wheeling.

—Mrs. Edward Baxter left this morning for Akron, where she will visit.

—Mrs. Henry Brunt and Mrs. George Brunt went to Pittsburg this morning.

—J. N. Rose has returned home after a week's vacation at Alliance and Cleveland.

—Walter Stuckrath, of Pittsburg, is in the city visiting Ed Stuckrath, of Lincoln avenue.

MEHAN DIDN'T WANT TO CASH IN

Said He Was Saving His Money to Bring His Wife Here From Ireland.

HE HAD $40 IN CHANGE

When He Arrived at City Hall but When He Left He Had Less.

SPECIAL OFFICERS ON TODAY

James Mehan was the only offender yesterday, and he was taken in by Officer Woods and the patrol.

Jimmy said he had saved $45 to bring his wife from Ireland and didn't propose to give up any part of it as a fine. Marshal Thompson had taken his money, $40, and Mehan forbid the authorities taking any part of it, so James was sent back to jail. Acting Mayor McLane promised him a trip to the works if he did not thaw out, but he had changed his mind this morning and paid up.

Mehan said the mayor might throw off a portion of his fine, as he was a cousin of Billy Mehan, of Wellsburg, and had only thrown a few bricks, cussed a little and knocked some beer kegs over. He really didn't think he should have been arrested at all. The mayor was firm, however, and after paying his fine he left the balance of his money at city hall for safe keeping.

The following extra police are on duty today: Thomas Stafford, R. L. McKenty, Frank Salesberry, William Woolmaker, Joseph Kinney and John McMillan.

These men have been assigned to duty with the regular force, and will endeavor to keep the colored population of Wylie avenue and vicinity within bounds.

J. N. ROSE

WILL FILL VACANCY IN TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES.

The Law Makes Provision for Vacancies Which May Occur on the Board.

Owing to the death of Thomas Lloyd there occurs a vacancy on the board of township trustees.

Inquiries at the office of the trustees developed the fact that the law provides that a vacancy of this character shall be filled by the senior justice of the peace, and Squire J. N. Rose will therefore fill out the unexpired term.

CHANGE OF DATE.

The Famous Colored Folks Will Be Here on August 15 in Place of the 16th.

Rev. Carson, pastor of the First A. M. E. church of East Liverpool, today notified the News Review that the famous tenor, Geo. T. Simpson; the noted elocutionist, Hallie Z. Brown, and the brilliant pianist and organist, Wm. A. Calhoun, will appear at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Wednesday night, August 15, in place of Thursday night, August 16, as previously announced. Don't fail to hear these world-famous artists.

LOUIS KLOPSCH TELLS A STORY

That Is Unparalleled In Its Vivid Delineation of Misery and Death.

AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.
The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-templed, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.
We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sidewise we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

The Dark Side and the Bright.
In the following illustrations it will be noticed that the photographer has twice caught me while I happened to be holding a famine child in my arms. These pictures, if captioned with due regard for the respective babes would read: The dark and the bright sides of the India famine. For while the child lying gasping in my arms was doomed, the other little one, with the pretty, bright face was saved. One was a famine victim, the other a famine survivor. The one died soon after I laid her gently back on the ground which served for a cot; the other is still living, one of the fortunate orphans supported by the generous readers of this paper—doubtless a happy child who will grow up in the Christian faith to learn how a great paternal government had cared for millions of India's people in time of direst need, how she was rescued from starvation and death by the motherly Pundita Ramabai, and how she owes her very life and enlightenment and happiness to the Christian people of America who contributed money for her upbringing.

A Most Pathetic Incident.
Let me close this paper with a reference to the other illustration herewith, which shows a group of blind women—blindness caused in each case by acute starvation—representing mothers who have lost their children either by death or in the course of that aimless wandering common to a famine-stricken people. These poor, sightless orbs remind me of an incident attending a visit to a poor house. A girl of 13 or 14 prostrated herself, wailing and chattering, at the feet of the native official who was showing me through the camp.

"What does that poor child want?" was asked.
"She wants to leave the camp," replied the fat and sleek Hindu, with a grin. "She has strayed away from her mother, and she says she yearns to meet her once again on earth. But what can I do? If I allow her to leave here she will wander about the desert and starve to death."

Later in the day that poor girl took things in her own hands and crawled out under the matting which served as a fence to enclose the camp. Outside there, at the entrance gate she espied a group of women who were waiting to be admitted to the poor house—the place of last resort. One of these women, the one whose form was most emaciated, worn nearest of all to a skeleton, was stone blind. She was calling and repeating over and over again, in a faint voice, a certain name. The girl who had crawled out under the straw fence recognized the name as her own, but she did not immediately recognize the woman who called her name thus in such pitiable tones. After a closer inspection, however, she suddenly uttered a great cry of joy and flew to the blind and tottering woman and caught her in her own young but emaciated arms. "Mother, mother!" she sobbed.
"My child—my little dear at last!" moaned the poor mother. "Now I can die in peace."

And the silent hours of that night saw mother and daughter file with others into the poor house. Who can tell whether they will ever emerge again alive?

The testimony which follows will stand the test of closest investigation. Cross-examination of such evidence will only strengthen it. Read the experience given below. It may save you many hours of future trouble.
Mr. Charles Smith, of 198 Fourth street, letter carrier, says: "I contracted cold which settled in my kidneys and caused me such severe pains across the small of my back that I could scarcely get around my trip. I thought it would wear off, but as it did not, but got worse, I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and took them. The result was that the pain soon left me and I was all right again."

PLAY FAIR.

That is the Way Our City Legislators Should Act on Every Occasion.
[Communicated.]

We have special reference to the work done on the Tanyard run sewer. It was done, the portion we refer to, 30 feet across an alleyway, city property, at the command of our solons. In the interim between the order and the completion of the work designated, the price of brick advanced one hundred per cent. The gentleman doing the work sent in his bill on the basis of this advance, apparently a just and fair proposition, and council turned the same down in cold blood, and will not now even listen to an explanation. The outlook now is that our legislative body will not only cause the city to pay this bill, but a nice little bill of added costs. Certainly, if this statement be true, wisdom and common sense should control.

Temperance

Women hold up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription" as examples of what all medicines should be in absolute freedom from alcohol and narcotics. They are strictly temperance medicines. They contain no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. False formulas of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription" having been published by ignorant or unscrupulous persons, Dr. R. V. Pierce as president of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., the manufacturers of his remedies, offers one thousand dollars for any bottle of these medicines which on analysis shall show the presence either of alcohol or of opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic.

Suits against the originators and publishers of these false formulas have been instituted, and in order to effectually stop the publication of these malicious falsehoods, Dr. Pierce asks that his friends will send him copies of any circular, pamphlet, or other advertisement, in which the statement is made that "Golden Medical Discovery" or "Favorite Prescription" contains alcohol or opium or other narcotics. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TRADES COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

The Attendance Was Small but
Some Business Was Trans-
acted by the Council.

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE

Was Discussed and a Liberal Donation Voted to Be Sent to the Strikers.

NEW DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Trades council met last night in regular session and transacted some business, although the attendance was
small.

New delegates were seated from
the painters' and decorators' union in
the person of W. S. Sallade and E. M.
Crass; from kilnmen's local No. 9,
Claude Smith, and the plumbers' sent
Charles Zange.

Labor day committee reported progress, and under the head of reports of delegates George Hale, of the street
railway men's union, reported that the St. Louis strike was still on. The delegate stated that the St. Louis Transit company some time ago had agreed to settle with the men, granting all their demands, but no sooner
had the strike been declared off and
other union organizations been notified of the fact, than the company
refused to deal with the men under any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states
that the transit company, being aware
that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than
ever and would win.

After the report had been made the
council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

Editor of the News Review, East Liverpool, O.

Dear Sir—We are sending you new stories and cuts fresh from the India
famine field. They have been brought to us by the Christian Herald representative, Mr. Willetts, who accompanied Dr. Klopsch on his recent trip through that stricken land. Your readers can rely upon this report, which describes, so far as it is possible to do so by words and pictures, the awful
condition of suffering of those starving people.

When you have finished using the cuts you have had, will you kindly return the mto us?

May God speed your good work.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli
Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West
Thirty-fifth street and more than 200
men and women were taken prisoners.
It was one of the biggest raids ever
made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and
the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a
body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living
at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in
whose name the Tivoli's license stands,
and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them
if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit
Made to Him by Governor Nash
and Others.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President Mc-Kinley, accompanied by Secretary Cor-
telyou, departed for Washington in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman
Dick headed a delegation of 100 state
officials, congressmen and candidates
who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station
with a carriage and took them directly
to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social.
President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking
or introduction. Indeed introductions
were unnecessary, for he knew nearly
every one of the visitors personally.
The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors
then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by
an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections
are being held in this state today. Hon.
M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought
and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state.
The Aycock ticket will be elected and
the amendment be adopted by the largest majorities ever given in this state
since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part
of the Democrats toward the negro.
We simply want him to know, and indeed he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use
him to ride into office, would let him
alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question
in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Cas-
sar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which
several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Olsen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally
of the campaign was held, 12,000 peo-

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J.
Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic
clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tranger, of Columbus;
Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county;
and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be It Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled,
That we heartily reaffirm the platform of
principles adopted last month at Kansas
City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national
ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson,
and we unite in saying to the Kansas City
convention, "Well done, good and faithful
servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and
blessings of government in this republic
cannot reasonably object to bearing their
just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly
regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted
cession to Great Britain of about 2,000
square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land,
if any, has lately been given away to favored imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general
government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-
cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all
of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican
administration responsible for the cruel
war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of gallant soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure and untold murder,
misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands
of this administration.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—
Sensational Evidence by Golden's
Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former
Secretary of State Caleb Powers
concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor
Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination.

Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony
the defense hopes to contradict,
caused something of a sensation on
cross-examination by admitting that
he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000.
It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows
Any Blame for Delay of
the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member
of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the pro-
crastination of the powers in the selection
of a commander for the allied forces on
their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany
has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect
willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with
great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be
desired."

Eids Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary
of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers,
three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each,
and the other three not more than $4-2,000,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel,
with penalties of $300 per day for each
day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day.
For deficiency of speed not below 20
knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000
for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

LOUIS KLOPSCH TELLS A STORY

That Is Unparalleled In Its Vivid Delineation of Misery and Death.

AND NOW DO YOUR PART

One experience which stands out from all the others most distinctly in my mind, is our visit to Ahmedabad. We got there about 5:30 in the evening, and without waiting to visit the accommodations provided for our entertainment we hastened to the poor house.

On the shadeless plaza before the gate were nearly 250 reeking, filthy bundles of rags, containing as many human beings in various stages of emaciation, some standing, some squatting in Oriental fashion on the ground, others lying flat on their backs, and still others lying with their faces to the ground, in order to screen themselves from the burning rays of the evening sun. The thermometer ranged at about 110 degrees in the shade; not a breath of air was blowing, and the heat and stench contributed to make us physically as ill as the sad scenes of destitution, misery, pain and helplessness made us so mentally. It seemed impossible that any part of the great human family could reach such depth of misery as was everywhere visible.

On inquiring why these people were exposed to the relentless rays of the sun without shelter or shade, I was told they had been brought in from the neighboring villages on carts and were to remain under observation for 24 hours in order to determine whether symptoms of contagious disease developed. They had come in during the afternoon, they had lain there for three or four hours, they were to remain there all night and to stay there all the next forenoon. Possibly the evening of the next day they would be admitted to the inhospitable shelter of the Ahmedabad poor house. Myriads of flies were feasting on each individual bundle, and the eyelids, mouths, nostrils and ears were all besieged with battalions of flies gorging themselves on the helpless victims of the India famine.

The Suffering Children.

The most distressing phase of all this indescribable misery was the little children who seemed to be in constant agony, internal and external. They did not cry aloud, because they lacked the vital inner force for such effort; though their faces were constantly crying no sound was heard, and as we looked at these innocent, helpless little things—so emaciated, hollow-templed, sunken-eyed, the nape of the neck so sharply indented under the skull that the head looked abnormally large and ill-supported—the burden of sympathetic grief became almost unbearable. Some times tears rolled down their cheeks, and the mother sitting next to the child would wipe the tears away with a part of her dirty, filthy garment, and something like a sigh would escape to indicate the depth of sorrow that was laying hold upon her heart. As we stood there watching this motley crowd, overawed, as it seemed, by dozens of tall, skeletonized men with long beards and large, abnormally lustrous eyes peering out of depressed sockets, half inquisitive, half reflective, our attention was directed to two groups of burden bearers, each group bearing a cot; one set bound for the poor house, the other set coming from it. On the cot bound for the poor house was a man about 20 years of age, long and thin, sheltering with his hand his eyes from the sun. He was a fever patient, and was going in for treatment. On the other cot was a man who had received "treatment," and was now bound for the funeral pile, where 14 were to be burned that evening.

The Dead Beside the Living.

We went to the poor house where over a thousand people in various stages of nudity and emaciation were seated on the ground, waiting to be served. It was time for the evening meal. We left them for the time being, and taking a turn sideways we entered the hospital section, which was the worst, with one or two exceptions, that I had occasion to visit. We first went through the cholera wards, and there in every ward we found dead bodies on the cots or on the ground. Every fifth or sixth cot had a corpse on it. I asked why they were not removed, and an attendant replied that the victims had died after 12 o'clock noon, in which case there is no removal until the time for burning, which is 8 in the evening. It was a gruesome sight to see these dead men and women, with expressions of intensest agony on their faces, lying there; and the only comforting thought was that they were beyond suffering, and that the famine in India, with its plague, its cholera, its smallpox and its fever, could no longer affect them.

Down in a corner of one of the wards, in which we had found three dead bodies, lay a tall, broad shouldered man, stone dead. He had died during the afternoon. Back of him was his little 4-year-old girl, tenderly founding him and vainly endeavoring to attract his attention. Her face seemed to indicate that she was beginning to realize that something was amiss; and yet there was her father, and what she apprehended vaguely could not very well be, so long as he was there. We stood looking on, our hearts almost breaking and the tears coursing down our cheeks, when a little commotion at the entrance to the ward claimed our attention. They were bringing in the patient whom we had seen on the cot outside, and who required medical treatment. The attendant lifted him up and raised him on his feet, then supporting him on one side, the feeble patient staggering as best he could with the aid of this support, he walked him to the corner and placed him down on the ground, face to face with the dead man whose little child was fondling him. The thing took but a few moments, but the horror of the situation so appalled us that, for the moment, we were stupefied. It seemed impossible that any one could commit so unnatural an act. We called the attention of the man to what he was doing. We asked him why he did not make room elsewhere for the patient. He replied that within an hour the dead man would be removed and the patient then could have the whole corner to himself.

The Dark Side and the Bright.

In the following illustrations it will be noticed that the photographer has twice caught me while I happened to be holding a famine child in my arms. These pictures, if captioned with due regard for the respective babes would read: The dark and the bright sides of the India famine. For while the child lying gasping in my arms was doomed, the other little one, with the pretty, bright face was saved. One was a famine victim, the other a famine survivor. The one died soon after I laid her gently back on the ground which served for a cot; the other is still living, one of the fortunate orphans supported by the generous readers of this paper—doubtless a happy child who will grow up in the Christian faith to learn how a great paternal government had cared for millions of India's people in time of direst need, how she was rescued from starvation and death by the motherly Pundita Ramabai, and how she owes her very life and enlightenment and happiness to the Christian people of America who contributed money for her upbringing.

A Most Pathetic Incident.

Let me close this paper with a reference to the other illustration herewith, which shows a group of blind women—blindness caused in each case by acute starvation—representing mothers who have lost their children either by death or in the course of that aimless wandering common to a famine-stricken people. These poor, sightless orbs remind me of an incident attending a visit to a poor house. A girl of 13 or 14 prostrated herself, wailing and chattering, at the feet of the native official who was showing me through the camp.

"What does that poor child want?" was asked.

"She wants to leave the camp," replied the fat and sleek Hindu, with a grin. "She has strayed away from her mother, and she says she yearns to meet her once again on earth. But what can I do? If I allow her to leave here she will wander about the desert and starve to death."

Later in the day that poor girl took things in her own hands and crawled out under the matting which served as a fence to enclose the camp. Outside there, at the entrance gate she espied a group of women who were waiting to be admitted to the poor house—the place of last resort. One of these women, the one whose form was most emaciated, worn nearest of all to a skeleton, was stone blind. She was calling and repeating over and over again, in a faint voice, a certain name. The girl who had crawled out under the straw fence recognized the name as her own, but she did not immediately recognize the woman who called her name thus in such pitiable tones. After a closer inspection, however, she suddenly uttered a great cry of joy and flew to the blind and tottering woman and caught her in her own young but emaciated arms. "Mother, mother!" she sobbed.

"My child—my little dear at last!" moaned the poor mother. "Now I can die in peace."

And the silent hours of that night saw mother and daughter file with others into the poor house. Who can tell whether they will ever emerge again alive?

PLAY FAIR.

That is the Way Our City Legislators Should Act on Every Occasion.

[Communicated.]

We have special reference to the work done on the Tanyard run sewer. It was done, the portion we refer to, 30 feet across an alleyway, city property, at the command of our solons. In the interim between the order and the completion of the work designated, the price of brick advanced one hundred per cent. The gentleman doing the work sent in his bill on the basis of this advance, apparently a just and fair proposition, and council turned the same down in cold blood, and will not now even listen to an explanation. The outlook now is that our legislative body will not only cause the city to pay this bill, but a nice little bill of added costs. Certainly, if this statement be true, wisdom and common sense should control.

Temperance

Women hold up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription" as examples of what all medicines should be in absolute freedom from alcohol and narcotics. They are strictly temperance medicines. They contain no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. False formulas of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription" having been published by ignorant or unscrupulous persons, Dr. R. V. Pierce as president of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., the manufacturers of his remedies, offers one thousand dollars for any bottle of these medicines which on analysis shall show the presence either of alcohol or of opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic.

Suits against the originators and publishers of these false formulas have been instituted, and in order to effectually stop the publication of these malicious falsehoods, Dr. Pierce asks that his friends will send him copies of any circular, pamphlet, or other advertisement, in which the statement is made that "Golden Medical Discovery" or "Favorite Prescription" contains alcohol or opium or other narcotics. # TRADES COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

Some Business Was Transacted by the Council.

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE

Was Discussed and a Liberal Donation Voted to Be Sent to the Strikers.

NEW DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Trades council met last night in regular session and transacted some business, although the attendance was small.

New delegates were seated from the painters' and decorators' union in the person of W. S. Sallade and E. M. Crass; from kilnmen's local No. 9, Claude Smith, and the plumbers' sent Charles Zange.

Labor day committee reported progress, and under the head of reports of delegates George Hale, of the street railway men's union, reported that the St. Louis strike was still on. The delegate stated that the St. Louis Transit company some time ago had agreed to settle with the men, granting all their demands, but no sooner had the strike been declared off and other union organizations been notified of the fact, than the company refused to deal with the men under any circumstances. A circular received by the local division states that the transit company, being aware that financial aid was received by the St. Louis people from all over the country, hoped to have this discontinued, and for that reason agreed to settle, never intending to live up to the agreement. The circular says the strikers are more determined than ever and would win.

After the report had been made the council voted a liberal sum to the support of the St. Louis strikers, and it will be forwarded at once.

Editor of the News Review, East Liverpool, O.

Dear Sir—We are sending you new stories and cuts fresh from the India famine field. They have been brought to us by the Christian Herald representative, Mr. Willetts, who accompanied Dr. Klopsch on his recent trip through that stricken land. Your readers can rely upon this report, which describes, so far as it is possible to do so by words and pictures, the awful condition of suffering of those starving people.

When you have finished using the cuts you have had, will you kindly return the mto us?

May God speed your good work.

POLICE RAID IN GOTHAM.

More Than 200 Men and Women Gathered In At the Tivoli Garden.

New York, Aug. 2.—Police made a raid on the Tivoli concert hall in West Thirty-fifth street and more than 200 men and women were taken prisoners. It was one of the biggest raids ever made in New York.

Fifty policemen in plain clothes and the reserves from the Tenderloin precinct descended upon the dive in a body and closed every avenue of escape. Four patrol wagons were employed to cart the prisoners to the police stations.

Charles E. Ackroon, who for more than a year has run the Tivoli, was not caught. He is temporarily living at Seabright, N. J. Detective Sheehan, however, arrested John O'Connor, a brother of James O'Connor, in whose name the Tivoli's license stands, and who acts as its manager.

Fifty-four women and 154 men were taken to the police station. The women were locked up and the men were released after being warned by Captain Thomas that he would hold them if they were caught again.

PRESIDENT LEFT CANTON.

He Has Gone to Washington—A Visit Made to Him by Governor Nash and Others.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—President McKinley, accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, departed for Washington in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train.

Governor Nash and State Chairman Dick headed a delegation of 100 state officials, congressmen and candidates who visited the president before his departure. The citizens' reception committee met the party at the station with a carriage and took them directly to the McKinley home, so that the reception could be completed in time to allow the president to start for Washington as previously arranged. The visit was entirely informal and social. President McKinley received his visitors in the house without speechmaking or introduction. Indeed introductions were unnecessary, for he knew nearly every one of the visitors personally. The ladies of the party were received by Mrs. McKinley. The reception was over in less than an hour. The visitors then went to a hotel for lunch and until the time of departure were occupied by an informal reception in honor of Governor Nash and other officials.

ELECTIONS TODAY.

Democratic Chairman Says
Fight For White Supremacy.

BLOODY RIOT AT A MEETING.

A Republican Reported Fatally Wounded
and Another of That Party Was Being Pursued—Populist From Texas Had To
Be Taken From Crowd.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—Elections are being held in this state today. Hon. M. F. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said last night:

"The great battle for white supremacy in North Carolina has been fought and in less than 24 hours we shall know the result. We are ready for the ballots. The indications are that we will poll the biggest vote in the state. The Aycock ticket will be elected and the amendment be adopted by the largest majorities ever given in this state since the war, and we will have a large majority in both branches of the legislature.

"There is no animosity on the part of the Democrats toward the negro. We simply want him to know, and indeed he shall know his place. If his miserable white allies, who seek to use him to ride into office, would let him alone he and the white people would get along well enough together. Our majority will be such an overwhelming verdict of the white people of the state in favor of eliminating the ignorant and vicious negro vote of the state that this race question will hereafter be regarded as a settled question in North Carolina."

A Democratic rally was held at Caesar, in Cleveland county. At the close of the speaking a fight ensued in which several persons were wounded.

Bob Brackett, a Republican, was reported dying from wounds. Frank Ousen, another Republican who, it is alleged, fired on the crowd is being pursued. At Concord the largest rally of the campaign was held, 12,000 people being present.

Harry Lacey, a Populist speaker from Texas, tried to address a crowd of Populists but was yelled down by Democrats. Later a crowd gathered at his hotel. Rev. Lacy Moge, a Baptist minister, appealed for law and order. Mayor George W. Means personally escorted Lacey to Hoge's residence. Thence he was taken out of town about six miles, where he boarded a train.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

Speeches Made By Candidate McFadden.
Resolutions Adopted at
Toledo.

Toledo, O., Aug. 2.—Hon. W. J. Schriner, of Hilliards, vice president of the Ohio association of Democratic clubs, presided at a morning session of the committee here, and speeches were made by F. W. C. Wiechert, of the South Side Democratic club of Columbus; John L. Tramger, of Columbus; Hon. Reuben Turner, of Erie county; and Hon. L. H. Gibson, of Zanesville.

Judge Allen Smalley reports the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Be It Resolved, by the Ohio Association of Democratic Clubs in convention assembled, That we heartily reaffirm the platform of principles adopted last month at Kansas City by the Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled.

That we hail with delight our national ticket, headed by Bryan and Stevenson, and we unite in saying to the Kansas City convention, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

That citizens enjoying the protection and blessings of government in this republic cannot reasonably object to bearing their just proportion of the burdens of such government. And to this end we demand the enactment and enforcement of a properly regulated income tax.

That we demand an explanation from the national administration for the attempted cession to Great Britain of about 2,000 square miles of our national domain in Alaska, and to disclose how much land, if any, has lately been given away to favored imperial scions of royalty.

That we further demand of the general government an explanation of the recent purchase from Spain of two more slave-cursed islands in the Zulu group, after she had parted with her equity to us in all of that territory for $20,000,000.

That we demand a republican form of government for Porto Rico.

That we hold the present Republican administration responsible for the cruel war that is now being waged in the Philippines and the blood of thousands of gallant soldiers, the waste of hundreds of millions of treasure and untold murder, misery and suffering inflicted upon the liberty-loving Filipinos stain the greedy hands

of Governor Theodore Roosevelt, recently
delivered at St. Paul. Local discord has interfered with the success of the meeting
somewhat.

POWERS A GOOD WITNESS.

Prosecution Failed To Disconcert Him—
Sensational Evidence by Golden's
Brother-in-Law.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 2.—Former
Secretary of State Caleb Powers
concluded his testimony on his own behalf in his trial on the charge of complicity in the shooting of Governor
Goebel. The prosecution failed to disconcert him on cross-examination.

Rev. John Stamper, brother-in-law of Wharton Golden, and whose testimony
the defense hopes to contradict,
caused something of a sensation on
cross-examination by admitting that
he sought to get Golden to leave the state and indirectly offered him $5,000.

It was reported that ex-Governor Taylor is represented at the trial by counsel, who are keeping up with the evidence, as it bears on Taylor's case.

GERMANY WOULD HASTEN.

Member of Foreign Office Disavows
Any Blame for Delay of
the Allies.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A prominent member
of the foreign office expressed himself in a most frank and open manner to your correspondent to-day regarding the pro-
crastination of the powers in the selection
of a commander for the allied forces on
their march from Tien Tsin. "Germany
has no part," he said, "in this delay. The foreign office has declared its perfect
willingness to submit to the decision of the other powers in the matter, even to the point of going so far, though with
great reluctance, as to permit a German general to take the position, if that be
desired."

Fids Asked for Six Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The secretary
of the navy to-day issued to ship builders a circular calling for bids for the construction of six armored cruisers,
three to cost not more than $4,000,000 each,
and the other three not more than $4, 200,000. The maximum time allowed for completion is 36 months for each vessel,
with penalties of $500 per day for each
day in excess of that time for the first month and $600 for each subsequent day.
For deficiency of speed not below 26
knots, there will be a penalty of $50,000
for each quarter knot to 21½ knots, and $100,000 per quarter knot down to 20 knots.

ANARCHY.

The home of anarchy is in hades, and edicts of assassination are issued from that point.

NEW PAPER.

Rumor has it that a first-class daily paper will materialize in the city of Canton, Ohio, in a short time. The project is said to be backed by ample means, with clever and brainy journalists in control, men of honor, position and principle.

OHIO.

Ohio will roll up a good majority for McKinley, Republicanism, prosperity and patriotism.

BRYAN'S HOME.

And now it is asserted that McKinley will carry Bryan's own state. That would be the unkindest cut of all.

TO THE FRONT.

Improvement seems to be the order of the day in East Liverpool. Paving and macadamizing will be pushed to the limit and contractors will be kept busy.

PENNSYLVANIA.

It is anticipated that the Republican majority in Pennsylvania this fall will be so great that the Democratic leaders will agree to make the matter unanimous.

DO YOU?

Do you patronize the saloon. Don't answer hastily. You might make a mistake in a hasty decision. Consider the matter carefully and then answer and then act.

GOD HELP THEM.

Read Louis Klopsch's articles about India. The situation is an awful one. God will help them. And he will use human instrumentalities. Do you desire to be an instrument in the Master's hands for the accomplishment of His purposes? Now is your golden opportunity.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS.

The man who takes advantage of his position in council to advance his personal interest at the expense of his constituency is unfit for any office at the hands of the people, and simply takes rank with the man who slyly inserts his hand in your pocket and captures your wallet.

BE CAREFUL.

The very best citizens and most astute and brainy business men of East Liverpool should be in our city council. The era of improvement demands it. East Liverpool is destined to grow and expand. Every property holder and taxpayer is interested. Get on your thinking cap. Seek your men for the legislative body and insist that they shall serve.

THE RED CROSS.

If it be true that China has refused to recognize the Red Cross society, and that her officials purpose cutting loose from all rules which govern civilized warfare, then the Flowery Kingdom deserves all the bad fortune which may follow the invasion of her dominion by the allied forces, and the onward march of civilization and progress will result in stamping China as a back number.

VERY ROSEY.

Very rosy is the outlook for an overwhelming Republican success in the coming presidential contest. This is not merely visionary nor yet guess work, but is the result of a careful canvass of the situation by the best posted men politically in the country. The outlook is that Mr. Billie Jennings Bryan will disappear from political history immediately after the fall election returns have been bulletined.

COMRADE THOMAS LLOYD.

Comrade Thomas Lloyd has answered the last roll call on this earth and has reported to the Great Commander. God grant that he may have an inheritance in the land of the blessed, in "the house not made with hands." Those who knew Thomas Lloyd best, and who associated with him in camp and bivouac, state that he was a tried and true comrade and a gallant soldier. We had the honor of being associated with him in General Lyon Post of the G. A. R., and ever found him genial, courteous and companionable. East Liverpool has lost a good citizen. God comfort his loved ones.

OUR HOME MERCHANTS.

If you are anxious that East Liverpool shall bloom and blossom like the rose, then do your part in patronizing your home merchants and business men. We have splendid business houses of every character, with goods inferior to none and prices fair and reasonable. Patronize home merchants.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

When a man (?) subscribes a certain sum for church purposes, and then deliberately and premeditatedly fails to honor his signature, simply because he knows the head of that earthly church is a messenger of peace and will not resort to law to enforce the claim, the subscriber is just a little bit meaner than the boss of all evil expects him to be. Respectfully referred to the fellow who calls himself a newspaper man and a journalist.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

This connection with East End will make a delightful drive when the avenue is improved and a first-class roadway is constructed. Bike riders will also have cause for rejoicing, as they can then take a spin to our handsome suburb in safety, and take in the beauty of a rapid rush over Columbian park race course. The view from upper Pennsylvania avenue is a superb one, and delights every visitor to our city. Push Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.

The Saloon is Bearing a Rich Fruitage of Sin, Crime and Shame.

The other evening there was seen a sad sight on Franklin street—a poor, miserable drunken woman, seated in the gutter and making maudlin speeches for the edification of passers by.

Last night there came to East Liverpool on the 7:08 train from Pittsburgh, a respectably dressed woman of about 45 or 50 years of age. She was so drunk that the conductor was compelled; on several occasions, to awaken her and keep her in presentable condition, so that she might alight when reaching East Liverpool. Her whisky laden breath poisoned the atmosphere, disgusting sober and decent passengers. When the conductor would arouse her, she would curse herself roundly for being such a fool. When last seen she was making her way in the direction of the freight depot. Truly, East Liverpool is reaping a rare harvest from the seed planted in the open saloon.

COSY CASCADE PARK.

Here Speaks a Gentleman Who Has Taken in This Delightful Spot.

"Have I visited Cascade Park? Indeed I have. It is a delightful place, beautifully located and with first-class accommodations. The dancing platform is a daisy, the water the very best and the surroundings all that can be desired. Visitors receive the most courteous attention. I note that a grand jubilee is to be held there on Tuesday, August 14, and I intend taking the trip in, accompanied by a number of my friends and acquaintances. I understand that East Liverpool will be well represented, as an excursion train will be run, and the round trip will be quite reasonable."

TWO TIGHT CORNERS.

EXCITING CHAPTERS IN THE LIFE OF A POLICE CAPTAIN.

A Hard Struggle For Life With a Stalwart Murderer and a Narrow Escape From Death at the Hands of an Armed Maniac.

"Yes, we have to deal with some queer people and some dangerous people," said a police captain, "and I must say, but not boastfully, that we now and then have to use judgment that is at once quick and reliable. I remember several years ago we had a highwayman in the station house who had shot a man and robbed him. He was a dangerous criminal and a mighty powerful man, and he was in a good position to go down for life or be executed, for his victim was at the point of death. One night he asked that I be sent to his cell. I had arrested him and had tried to get a confession from him, but all my efforts had been vain. He had taken a violent dislike to me, and he had laughed at all my endeavors. The deduction I made when I heard he wished to see me was that he had changed his mind and intended to confess, so I went to the cellroom and talked with him.

"'Captain,' said he in a confiding way, 'I want you to come in here and sit down. This secret is making a wreck of me, and I want to tell you everything.'"

"He seemed quite penitent, and without any hesitation I opened the cell door and sat down on the bench beside him.

"'Is Mr. — going to die?' was his first question.

"'The doctor says he cannot live,' I replied.

"'Then the chances for my going to the chair are better than good?' asked he.

"I replied that they were. The prisoner lapsed apparently into deep meditation, and while the spell was upon him he paced up and down the cell. Suddenly he slammed the door of the cell, placed himself before me and said in a rather fearsome voice:

"'I've finished one, and if I do two I can get nothing worse than the chair.'"

"Saying which, he leaped at me, leading out a powerful blow as he did so. I was, of course, up and ready for him and had a billy in my hand. He had nothing but his big fists, feet and teeth, any of which he was ready and anxious to use, but he was twice a match for me even up. I don't know how I did it. If he had got the best of me just for a second, I would have been pounded to death; there is no doubt of that. I rapped him on the head time and time again with my billy, felt his blood flying over me, heard him snarl and also felt the imprint of his powerful fists. It took me five minutes to lay him out, and I must say that I never spent five busier minutes in my life. Oh, he's in prison now. He's doing 20 years.

"I remember another little experience I had that is not easy to forget. I was sitting in my private office one afternoon when a well built, stylishly clad young man entered, bowed pleasantly and sat down on the edge of the sofa.

"'I never was down in this part of the city before,' he said, 'and, being here, I thought I'd stop in and visit with you.'"

"'That's right,' I rejoined. 'I'm always glad to receive callers.'"

"I looked closely at the man. I couldn't place him at all. It seemed that I had seen him some place too. He was about 30 years old, was stalwart and had an attractive face that bore slight traces of dissipation.

"'Beg pardon,' my friend,' said I, 'but I don't seem to just place you. I know we've met, but where?'"

"'No, we haven't met before. I never saw you before today in my life. I'm from Baltimore. I've heard of you a lot of times.'"

"The dialogue lagged for a few moments and in that time I scrutinized the stranger. He mystified me in a small degree, and I was interested in him. He broke the silence:

"'Say, captain, I've got something very important to see you about. I'll just close this door, and it's just as well that no one knows what we do or say. Now, I wish first to impress you with the importance of this meeting. It is the most momentous occasion of my life, and on its success or failure depends my future. Captain (the stranger leaned over and whispered in my ear), I'm going to cut your throat!'"

stranger, and he was leaning toward me. Casting my eyes sidewise, I saw that he held an opened razor in his right hand. I did not move immediately.

"'So you're going to cut my throat?' I said, quietly turning part way around.

"'Yes, captain. I have been commanded by God to do so. I'm sorry, but it must be done. Get ready.'"

"'That's all right, my friend. I'm perfectly willing you shall carry out your mission; but, to tell the truth, I hate to get blood all over my furniture here. It wouldn't be nice to dirty up the office, would it? Suppose we go in the back room?'"

"'That'll do. Come on,' rejoined the maniac quickly.

"I got up. The maniac's back was toward me. With one bound I had my arms about his waist and his arms pinned to his side. I then called for help, and two officers rushed into my office. It took four big men to put that maniac in a cell. He's in an asylum now."—Buffalo Express.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM.

This Man Knew a Steamboat When He Saw One.

The agent of one of the ocean steamship lines, says the Chicago Tribune, told the following story of a St. Louis man who got into New York the day after the maiden arrival of a great liner:

After gazing at the vessel from the pier the St. Louisan said to the man at the gangplank:

"'Purty good sized steamboat.'"

"'She's a liner, ocean liner,' 'was the lofty reply.

"'She's purty high up, ain't she?'"

"'Ocean liners have to be. But when she is under way she doesn't look so high.'"

"'Her chimneys ain't very high, though.'"

"'You mean her funnels. No; they never make them high for liners.'"

"'Hinges on 'em?'"

"'Never heard of hinges on a funnel.'"

"'How does she get under the bridge?'"

"'What bridge?'"

"'Why, any bridge. Steamboats out our way have hinges on their chimneys, and when they come to the bridges over the river they lower the chimneys, and she scoots under like she was greased.'"

The man at the gangplank observed the St. Louis man with lofty indifference.

"'She ain't got any wheelhouses on her sides nor none at her stern,' remarked the St. Louis man after he had made further inspection.

"'Liners have propellers,' said the man at the gangplank, and his nose turned up visibly.

"'Well, I'll bet she can't run. It takes two wheels and a bow like an arrow-head and a scant hold to give a steamboat speed, sonny, and don't you forget it. If this steamboat was to get into the Mississippi, she'd go hard aground first clip.'"

"'I have told you this is not a steamboat.'"

"'Shucks! You can't gimme that. I saw a picture of her in one of our newspapers before I left home, and the printin under it said 'steamboat.' Do you think a St. Louis editor don't know a steamboat when he sees one? You're not on to your job yet.'"

THE JIGGERMEN HAVE DECIDED

That They Will Not Be Shoved
Back Into the Brotherhood
of Operative Potters.

STATE OF AFFAIRS AT TRENTON

President Hughes and Secretary
Duffy Refusing to Talk on
the Probability of

ENFORCING SCALE IN TRENTON

The Trenton True American of yesterday has the following to say of the pottery situation in that city:

"The resolution adopted at the meeting of the Manufacturing Potters' association held Monday afternoon, giving the executive board of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters permission to measure kilns in the local plant, providing they can give assurance that the wage scale adopted at the Pittsburgh conference shall be put in effect here, has had the effect of a bomb shell on the plans of the executive committee.

"It was their intention, first to settle the differences existing between the kilnmen and the manufacturers, before taking up the scale problem.

"The clause set forth in the resolution respecting the installation of the new scale here is looked upon as an almost impossible task.

"In order to do this it will be necessary for the Brotherhood to get the belligerent jiggermen into line, and as they have broken away from the union and formed a branch of their own, it seems that the task set out by the manufacturers is almost an impossible one.

"It is said that if the executive board could only prevail upon the potters to accept the scale it would make a uniform rate of wages for all.

"The board has as yet done nothing toward taking any action on the subject.

"President Hughes when seen by a True American reported yesterday afternoon declined to talk on the subject. He said: 'I have nothing whatever to say regarding the action of the manufacturers, and I will not express my views until the executive board has a meeting.

"No official call has yet been issued, but I think a meeting will probably be held some time tomorrow, when we will know better how we stand.'

"Secretary Duffy was also seen, but he, too, declined to talk on the subject.

"Messrs. Hughes and Duffy spent yesterday visiting a number of the potteries about the city.

"The jiggermen are as determined as ever not to accept the new scale, and they say that nothing can induce them to go back into the ranks of the Brotherhood.

"One prominent member of the jiggermen was seen yesterday afternoon, and he was very emphatic in his denunciation of the action of the manufacturers in trying to enforce the new scale on the local jiggermen.

"He said: 'When we accepted the scale adopted by the Pittsburgh conference we did it with all fairness, and as we believed it would greatly improve the pottery condition in this city.

"The prices set forth in the new scale looked very bright on paper, but when we put the scale into operation we found that instead of bettering our condition it only made it worse.

"According to the price list in the new scale we cup makers would receive a reduction of 27 1-3 per cent, and the plate and saucer makers would be reduced from 12 1/2 to 17 per cent on plain edged ware.

"The turners are the only hands which would receive an increase and they would only receive from one-half to three-quarter per cent on the dozen.

"The potters in the west were very much surprised when they heard of this reduction, as it had greatly increased the wages there.

"The cause of this reduction can only be attributed to our facilities which are inferior to theirs.

"If we had their facilities then it would improve our condition, as it did theirs.

"As soon as we found out that the new price list was not benefiting us we discarded it.

"When we made known this fact to the Brotherhood, instead of investigating the matter, they denounced us and upheld the potters in the west.

"We withdrew from the Brotherhood and set up an independent organization of our own, and it is my belief that under no condition will the members return.

"The resolution of the manufacturers compelling the executive board to enforce the scale on the local jiggermen is absurd.

"We are not going to accept a scale that is not to our benefit.

"The manufacturers are the ones responsible for all the trouble.

"They know that their facilities here are inferior to those of the west, and should we accept the scale under those conditions the manufacturers would be the persons to benefit by it.

"As soon as the Trenton manufacturers install in their plants facilities equal to those in the west they will experience no difficulty in having us accept the new scale."

LAMB KIDNEYS EN BROCHETTE.—Cut half a dozen kidneys lengthwise through the center, remove the white veins and fat and wash in plenty of cold water. Place in boiling water and let stand five minutes. Cut one pound of bacon into slices and shape like the kidneys. Wipe the kidneys, place one on the skewer, then a piece of bacon, then kidney, and so on, allowing three pieces of bacon and two pieces of kidney to each skewer. Baste with butter and broil over a clear fire about five minutes. Dust with salt and pepper and serve on the skewers.

TRAINING WATCHDOGS.

Although it is generally believed that watchdogs are "to the manner born," it seems that a certain amount of training helps very much to turn out a really good one. This system of training has developed into a regular business in Berlin, where one Herr Straus has an academy from which watchdogs are turned out by the hundred every year.

His system is educational and is applied to almost every kind of dog. He first teaches the animal obedience by training it to perform certain "tricks" at command and then trains it to distinguish between a visitor and a burglar and what part of a man's body should be attacked to render the man helpless.

Outside of the gate the trainer places a dummy representing the burglar, and to the latch is attached a string. By means of the string the gate is opened slowly, until the head of the dummy becomes visible, when the dog is taught to fly at its throat. Herr Straus is very particular about this. He makes his dogs attack the throat or the upper part of the body always. Sometimes a real man well padded takes the place of the dummy, and of course he is well paid for his services.

All dogs, it seems, may be made good watchdogs, but the St. Bernards and the Russian wolfhounds are the best where property of great value is to be guarded. For dogs not so fierce as they are a different system of training is used. They soon learn to guard anything committed to their care, but are not so quick to attack an intruder as the fiercer dogs are.—Philadelphia Times.

IN THE STORM.

My child, your hero may not be,
In truth, a hero all the time;
Remember, it must chance that he
Shall still have rugged steep to climb.
Don't place him on too high a plane
In fancy; then he will not fall
In your esteem and may attain
To something noble after all.

My boy, don't think your sweetheart bears
A halo on her golden hair;
A crown of purity she wears,
And you must help to keep it there.
But she will have her trying moods
And be not always kind and sweet;
These are life's nervy interludes—
Sad pitfalls for unwary feet.

You both are far from perfect yet,
And quarrels will, unhappily, come;
Both may be wrong; so don't forget,
In anger's blind delirium,
That sweet concessions each must make
And tender promises renew
Or else a loving heart may break
And sorrow come to dwell with you.
—Pearson's Weekly.

TRICK OF A WOMAN SHARPER

She Found a Lace Handkerchief and Quickly Turned It Into Cash.

"I lost a $3 lace handkerchief today, but I learned one of the tricks of the light fingered people in Chicago," remarked a North Side woman as she came back from a shopping excursion.

"Was it worth $3?" asked her husband.

"Hardly, but it's interesting. I bought a lace handkerchief, and as I walked to the car I stopped to buy a newspaper. I had my purse in my hand and a number of things, of course, and I laid the parcel containing the handkerchief and the check for it down on the corner of a fruit stand near by. After I got to the car I thought of my package. I hurried back, and the package wasn't there.

"Where is the little package I left here?" I asked the Italian vender.

"Zatta litt' pape?"

"Yes."

"Other lady took it."

"I wanted that handkerchief especially to give to a friend for a birthday present. I went to the store again and picked out another handkerchief.

"I am sorry the first one didn't suit you," the clerk said.

"Why, I lost it!" I replied in astonishment.

"You don't say so!" said the clerk. "Why, about ten minutes ago a nice looking woman came in here with that handkerchief, and we took it back and refunded the money. She said that you were her niece and that you were out shopping together. You decided the handkerchief was not just what you wanted, and she came back to return it. We gave her a ticket for the $3, and she cashed it."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

QUEER EFFECTS OF WHIMS.

Men Who Could Dress Well on Money Wasted For Cigars.

"It's a curious thing how some people will sacrifice themselves to their whims," said a man who prides himself upon his study of human nature. "I don't mean wealthy people, for they can usually afford to do as they like. I am speaking now of people in moderate or less than moderate circumstances. I have in mind a young man whose tastes run to expensive neckwear. He wouldn't think of wearing a tie that costs less than $2, and he has stacks of them. Now, he can't afford this luxury, so he has to stint himself by wearing $3 shoes and $15 ready made suits. He doesn't realize the incongruity of his attire and is perfectly happy if his tie is all right.

"Another chap I know doesn't pay the slightest attention to his personal appearance and is usually rather frayed looking. That's because he spends his money on expensive cigarettes. He smokes only the highest priced imported Egyptian brand, and they cost him 4 cents apiece. He is a fiend and smokes probably 40 a day. You could not hire him to smoke a domestic cigarette which costs half a cent, yet if he did, he could afford to dress himself as he should. I could cite numerous instances of this tendency to one extravagance which have come under my personal observation. I can only explain it as a lack of mental balance."—Philadelphia Record.

Benny's Status.

"Papa," said Benny Bloobumper, "I saw two bad boys flipping cents, and after awhile they went away, and when they had gone I found a penny."

"Did you play yourself, Benny?" asked Mr. Bloobumper.

"No, papa."

"Then you were an in-a-cent bystander."—Harper's Bazar.

OHIO IN CONGRESS FROM 1803 TO 1901.

WILLIAM MEDILL.

William Medill was born in the state of Delaware about the year 1800, and located and began the practice of the law at Lancaster, Ohio, in 1832, and was soon recognized as one of the Democratic leaders of the state. He died at Lancaster in 1865. He represented Fairfield county in the lower house of the legislature from 1835 to 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Ninth district, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan and Hocking counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the same district in 1840. For a number of years he was Indian agent at Washington, and introduced many humane reforms into that department.

He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1857 and largely shaped the second constitution. He was chosen lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, along with Reuben Wood, governor, at the October election, 1851, and in July, 1853, when Governor Wood resigned to become consul to Valaparaíso, Chili, became acting governor. In 1853 he was elected governor over Nelson Barrere, Whig, by a vote of 147,663 to 132,523, and in 1855 was defeated for the same office by Salmon P. Chase, by a vote of 146,770 to 131,019. He was appointed first comptroller of the United States treasury in 1860 by President James Buchanan.

JOHN HASTINGS

Was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress in 1838 from the Seventeenth district, Columbiana county, and re-elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840 from the same district. He was an attorney and business man of prominence, and returned to the pursuits of private life after his services in congress. Born in 1788. Died in Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 29, 1854.

DAVID A. STARKWEATHER.

David A. Starkweather represented Stark county in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies, as a member of the senate in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth, beginning his legislative services in 1832, and ending them in 1837.

In 1838 he was elected to the Twenty-sixth congress from the Eighteenth district, comprising Stark and Wayne counties, and was re-elected to the Twenty-seventh from the same district in 1840. He was a Democrat, and a leading attorney at the Stark county bar, and enjoyed the confidence of the community to the fullest degree. He was a minister to Chili from 1854 to 1857. He was born in Connecticut in 1790, and died about 1864.

NATHANIEL GREENE PENDLETON

Nathaniel G. Pendleton was the son of a prominent Revolutionary officer on the staff of General Nathaniel Greene, and was named in honor of that distinguished Revolutionary hero. Unlike his distinguished son, George Hunt Pendleton, he was not given to politics. He served a single term in congress, being elected to the Twenty-seventh in 1840, from the First district, Hamilton county. He was born in Savannah, Georgia, his father, Colonel Pendleton, being a Virginian, Aug. 24, 1793, and emigrated to Ohio when a young man, locating in Cincinnati, where he died June 15, 1861.

BENJAMIN S. COWEN.

Benjamin S. Cowen represented Belmont county in the lower house of the legislature from 1844 to 1847, having previously been elected in 1840 from the Eleventh district, Guernsey and Belmont counties, to the Twenty-seventh congress.

He was born in Washington county, New York, Sept. 27, 1792. He studied law and was admitted to the bar. He came to Ohio when a young man, and was for some years prosecuting attorney of Monroe county. Later he located at St. Clairsville, where he died Sept. 27, 1869. He was a Whig and afterward a Republican.

JOSHUA MATHIOT

Of Licking county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Twelfth district, embracing Licking and Muskingum counties. Mr. Mathiot had few, if any, political ambitions, and his election to congress was in the nature of a compliment to his sterling virtues as a citizen. He was among the early pioneer settlers of Licking county. He was born in Ohio in 1790, and died in Newark July 30, 1849.

JAMES MATTHEWS

Was a highly respected citizen of Coshocton county, who served his people acceptably in both branches of the legislature and in congress. He served two terms in the house from 1831 to 1833, and from 1837 to 1840; he served in the senate during the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth sessions of the general assembly. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Thirteenth district, containing the counties of Coshocton, Knox, Tuscarawas and Holmes. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth, in 1842, from the same district. He was one of the pioneers of Coshocton county, and did much toward promoting the interests of the community in which he resided. He was born in Ohio in 1800.

SHERLOCK J. ANDREWS

Of Cuyahoga county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1840 from the Fifteenth district, comprising the counties of Cuyahoga, Lorain, Portage and Medina. He was born in Wallingford, Connecticut, Nov. 17, 1801, and graduated from Union college in 1821. In 1825 he migrated to Cleveland, where he rose to distinction in the legal profession. He was elected judge of the superior court of that city in 1848 by the legislature, and was elected judge of the court of common pleas, under the second constitution, in 1857, and continued to hold that office until 1873, and was noted for the force and clearness of his judicial decisions. He came within four votes of being elected United States senator in the heated contest of 1851, which finally terminated in the election of Benjamin F. Wade.

EZRA DEAN.

Ezra Dean of Wayne county, a leading lawyer in the northern part of the state, was elected president judge of the Eleventh circuit by the legislature in 1834, and served until 1841.

In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Eighth district, comprising Wayne and Stark counties. He was re-elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the same district.

Judge Dean was born in Hillsdale, New York, April 9, 1795. He was a soldier in the War of 1812. He located at Wooster in 1822. He was one of the president judges of the court of common pleas under the first constitution. He died in Wooster Jan. 25, 1872. In his political affiliations he was a Democrat.

SAMUEL STOKELY

General Samuel Stokely, a citizen of Jefferson county, enjoying local prominence, represented the voters of that constituency in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh general assemblies as a member of the senate. In 1840 he was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress from the Nineteenth district, Jefferson and Harrison counties. He was a major general of militia, took part in the War of 1812, being one of the pioneer settlers in eastern Ohio. He was a lawyer of much prominence and had a wide practice, and to this he devoted his best energies.

ROBERT C. SCHENCK.

Robert Cumming Schenck was of Dutch descent. His father, Roeloff Martenese Schenck, a native of Holland, served on the staff of General Harrison, and died in 1821. Robert became the ward of General James Findlay and was graduated from the Miami university, at Oxford, in 1827, and remained as a tutor in that institution until 1830, when he was admitted to the bar and began the practice at Dayton. He was an ardent advocate of the doctrines and principles of the Whig party, and became a Republican when that party was organized.

He entered public life in 1841, when he became a member of the Ohio house of representatives and served two terms. In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Third district, composed of the counties of Montgomery, Warren, Clinton and Greene, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth in 1844, to the Thirtieth in 1846, and the Thirty-first in 1848, from the same district.

In 1851, upon the expiration of his fourth term in congress, President Millard Fillmore appointed him as minister to Brazil, where he represented the United States government to the satisfaction of both, and largely contributed to the negotiation of a treaty of peace and amity between the republics of Paraguay, Uruguay and Argentine. He returned to the United States in 1853, and for several years took but little part in politics.

At the outbreak of the Civil war he entered the service as a brigadier general, and served in the West Virginia campaign under Generals Rosecrans and McDowell. He commanded a division at the second battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded in the right arm, that member becoming useless during the rest of his life. Though dangerously wounded, he refused to be removed from the field until his sword, which had been lost when he fell, was found and restored to him, and he carried it from the field. He was invalided until December, 1862, when he was promoted to major general and took command of the Middle division of the Eighth corps, with headquarters at Baltimore. As a soldier he was courageous, brilliant and dashing.

In 1862 he was elected to the Thirty-seventh congress from the Third district, Montgomery, Preble, Butler and Warren counties, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth in 1864, the Fortieth in 1866, from the same district, and the Forty-first in 1868. In congress he was a conspicuous figure, and James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years in Congress," said of him: "Robert C. Schenck was an invaluable addition to the house. He was at once placed at the head of the committee on military affairs, then of superlative importance, and subsequently made chairman of ways and means, succeeding Mr. Stevens in the undoubted leadership of the house. He was admirably fitted for the arduous and difficult duty. His perceptions were keen, his analysis was extraordinarily rapid, his power of expression remarkable. On his feet, as the phrase went, he had no equal in the house. In five minutes' discussion in committee of the whole he was an intellectual marvel. The compactness and clearness of his statement, the facts and arguments which he could marshal in that brief time were a constant surprise and delight to his hearers. No man in congress during the present generation has rivaled his singular power in this respect."

"He was able in every form of discussion, but his peculiar gift was in leading and controlling the committee of the whole."

In 1871 General Schenck was appointed by General Grant minister to Great Britain, in which capacity he served with distinction until 1876. It was during this period that he was appointed a member on behalf of the United States of the celebrated joint high commission, which assembled at Washington and effected a treaty providing for the Geneva conference, a measure which, by the substitution of arbitration for war in the settlement of a serious controversy between two powerful and warlike nations, marked an era in the development of the spirit of a true Christian civilization.

He took but little part in politics after his return from England, but devoted his attention to the practice of the law in Washington, D. C. He was born in Franklin, Warren county, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1809, and died at Washington, D. C., March 23, 1890.

EMORY D. POTTER.

For more than half a century Emory D. Potter of Lucas county was one of the most prominent Democratic citizens and lawyers in the northwestern part of the state. In 1838 he was elected president judge of the Thirteenth circuit, and he held that office until he entered congress.

In 1842 he was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress from the Fifth district, embracing the counties of Lucas, Mercer, Van Wert, Paulding, Williams, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Shelby and Hardin.

He did not seek a re-election, and in 1847 was sent as a representative to the Fifty-sixth general assembly of Ohio. In 1848 he was elected to the Thirty-first congress from the Fifth district as above. In 1873 he was elected to the Ohio senate of the Sixty-first general assembly from the Thirty-third district, composed of Hancock, Wood, Lucas, Fulton, Henry and Putnam counties. During the last 30 years of his life he served on the various boards of trustees of the different public institutions of the state. He was born in Providence, Rhode Island, in 1804, and settled at Toledo early in the century.

HENRY ST. JOHN

Henry St. John of Seneca county was elected to the Twenty-seventh congress in 1842 from the Sixth district, composed of the counties of Seneca, Wood, Hancock, Crawford, Sandusky and Ottawa, and was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth congress from the same district.

JOSEPH J. McDOWELL.

General Joseph J. McDowell was born in North Carolina Nov. 13, 1800, and came to Ohio when a young man, locating at Hillsboro, in Highland county, where he entered upon the practice of the law. For nearly 40 years he was one of the prominent Democratic leaders in the state, whose counsel was eagerly sought by his political associates. He died in Hillsboro, Jan. 17, 1877.

His father, a Virginian, was an officer in the War of the Revolution, and the younger man imbibed the military spirit from him. He was active in the organization of the military forces of the state, saw service in the War of 1812, and became a major general in the state military establishment.

He represented Highland county in the house in the Thirty-first general assembly in 1832-1833, and in the senate in 1833-1834-1835. He was elected to the Twenty-eighth congress in 1842 from the Seventh district, Highland, Clermont and Brown, and was re-elected from the same district in 1844 to the Twenty-ninth congress.

The picnic held by the coopers at Fredericktown yesterday was very successful, about 50 persons were present.

A base ball team composed of members of the Y. M. C. A. will play ball this evening with the camp ground club.

The game of base ball between the Delmonico and Phoenix clubs, scheduled for tomorrow evening, has been declared off.

William Rankin left today for his home in Jackson, Mich. He was accompanied by Ralph Mackintosh, who will remain several weeks visiting relatives.

Peter Cannon left at noon today for New York, where he is to be an important witness in a damage suit against the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company.

Harry France was a common drunk and disorderly that was arrested in the East End at noon today. He was given a cell in city jail and will get a hearing when he sobers up.

The supposed air tight wagon of the Sanitary Reduction company is being used regularly now, and the stench is something awful. The matter will be brought up at the next meeting of council.

The monthly report of the postoffice department is as follows: Envelopes, $931 73; stamps, $1,309 88; postal cards, $266 12; total, $2,507 73. This is an increase of almost $100 over last month.

One of the colored lady picnickers lost her hat in the Diamond at noon and about half a hundred colored people aided in a fruitless search for the missing headgear. She was finally compelled to buy a new hat.

The Elks' picnic held yesterday at Rock Springs was one of the most pleasant social events of the season. C. L. Brock, of Toledo, sent to the committee 200 Lotus buds, which were presented to the lady guests. The ball game between the married and single men was declared off.

Shortly after noon the colored people who are picnicking on the other side of the river today became tired of the peaceful condition of things and relieved the monotony with a general fight, which took place near the Virginia end of the bridge, in which men and women alike participated.

Indian Compositions.

New "composition" stories are furnished by two young Indians whose efforts in this difficult line are reported by The Southern Workman.

The subject assigned to the first boy was the life of General Armstrong. Referring to the general's boyhood among the idolatrous, ancestor worshipping natives of the Hawaiian Islands, he wrote as follows:

"The people of the Sandwich Islands worshiped the idols of their aunts' sisters."

The second boy, a member of the same class, writing upon a different phase of the same subject, got the city of Washington confused with the man for whom the city was named. Referring to the retirement of General Armstrong from the service after the war, he said:

"When General Armstrong finished the war, he wrote to Washington and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him."

Remembered the One at Home.

A Lebanon man tells the following for a fact: One day a Linn county farmer bought a banana at his store, the first one he had ever eaten. After finishing it he threw the peel on the floor. After gazing at it a moment he picked it up and wrapped it in a piece of paper and remarked:

"Guess I'll take that home to my wife and let her see what a banana looks like. She never seed one."

And the man had an income of several thousand dollars a year.—Portland Oregonian.

Speculation Held Back By Doubts as To the Money Future, Etc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—There was little speculation Wednesday that conditions will change in the stock market for some time. The world of capital awaits the solution of the problem in China and the resulting requirements on the world's money markets; the ultimate fate of the crops in the United States, the settlement of the basis on which future business in the iron and steel industry is to be done, and the settling down of political conditions. The future of the money market is especially confusing and complex, and expert opinions differ widely as to the course to be expected. The imminence of European war loans prompts one set of prophets to argue a drain and resulting stringency, while another schools urges that the creation of credits and their prompt outlay will be a relief rather than a detriment to the business and financial world. The expected drain of gold from the United States is halting, and it is not expected now that gold will go out this week. Sterling exchange and London discounts failed to advance, and London exchange in Paris jumped a full centime. The bank of England also reduced its price for American eagles 1/4 penny. Whether this policy indicates a confidence on the part of the English institution that it will secure gold ultimately without offering special inducements remains to be seen. The benefit which the money market has had from the government deficit for July cannot be expected to continue in August. Even for July the $4,000,000 deficit was only about half that for July of last year. The redemption of the old 2 per cents, interest on which ceases on August 18, will be a feature of the month. But of the $19,000,000 of these outstanding, over $13,000,000 are on deposit in Washington to secure circulation and government deposits. In order to avoid a contraction in circulation and withdrawal of deposits in the banks, these bonds must therefore be replaced by other government bonds for deposit. The net result to the money market will therefore be small. The generally firm undertone of the stock market Wednesday was in sympathy with strength in special stocks. Tuesday's dividend action in Union Pacific and in the expectation of a dividend declaration today on Baltimore and Ohio helped these stocks. The early bears in

sugar became skeptical of the alleged renewal of the trade war and covered their sales.

The Republic steel stocks and steel hoop declined on stories of pending labor troubles, but the other steel stocks were rather firm. Other stocks played unimportant parts in the trading.

The bond market continued dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $657,000.

U. S. ref 2s when issued declined 1/2 and the old 3s and 5s 1/4 on the last call.

TYPHOID AND PNEUMONIA.

Both Were Reported Prevalent At Cape Nome—Smallpox Was Under Control.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Special agent Dunham, in charge of the census of Alaska, in a letter received by Director Merriam, says regarding the conditions of Cape Nome:

"St. Michaels is still quarantined against Nome, and there is no travel between the two points. Six vessels are now in quarantine at Egg Island. The latest reports from Nome indicate that the smallpox is under control. Typhoid fever and pneumonia are prevalent and it is feared that many deaths will occur during the summer as a result of the epidemic."

Periodical Famines Expected.

Since the first great famine of which there are records devastated the land in 1770, when 10,000,000 perished in Bengal alone, India has scarcely passed a decade free from scarcity of grain in one district or another. The British government expects a drought about twice in every nine years, a famine once in every 11 or 12 years and a great famine about twice in a century.—Review of Reviews.

Tobacco.

Numerous observations prove that the use of tobacco is a potent cause of disease of the eye. Total blindness from degeneration of the optic nerve has been traced to this cause. Recent observations point to tobacco and alcohol as the great causes of color blindness, and this accounts for the fact that it is much more common in men than in women.—Health Culture.
